Former Page of House Testifies at Lobby Inquiry—Tells of Move to Defeat Loan Shark Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—I. H. Mcmichael, former chief page of the house, continued his recital today before the house lobby committee of his relations with Martin M. Mulhall, onetime lobby worker for the national association of manufacturers, and with Representative T. J. McDermott.

McMichael's sensational testimony which accused McDermott of having received some $7000 of a corruption fund raised by local pawnbrokers to defeat a federal loan shark law already has resulted in the subpoenae of four capitol pawnbrokers and the com-

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF WOMAN

NORWOOD, Mass., Aug. 16.—District Attorney Barker of Plymouth county today instituted a personal inquiry into the death of Mrs. Marie B. Lemaire, the manicurist, whose body was found in her apartments yesterday under circumstances which indicated that she did not die of natural causes.

The matter had not been called to Mr. Barker's attention but after reading the newspaper reports he stated that he was going to "dig into the case and see what there is to it."

The viscera of the woman is in the hands of Prof. Whitney of the Harvard medical school for examination and a report is expected next week. The police continued their investigation.

FUNERAL OF GEN. JONES

Military Services at Binghamton, N.Y.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Extreme simplicity characterized the private services of General Edward F. Jones, at the home here today, preceding the military funeral to be held at the state armory at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Francis Yarnall, assisted by Rev. A. R. B. Hegeman, conducted the service at the house. The Scottish rite funeral service was read from the Masonic ritual by H. C. Walker in the presence of only the assembled Masons of the 33rd degree.

Hundreds of people viewed the body as it lay in state at the armory between noon and 4 o'clock, the time of the public funeral.

Body of Man Found With Bullet in Head

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 16.—Ninety thousand dollars accident insurance money is involved in the death of John McAlpine, Duluth millionaire lumber man, whose body was found yesterday in the basement of his home here with a bullet wound in the head.

Chief of Police Troyer leans strongly to the theory of murder, as does a private detective, while the family declare that Mr. McAlpine was accidentally shot when he fell over a pipe with an automatic pistol in his hand, and if not that, that a burglar did the killing. A window in the basement, open enough to permit a human body to sqeeze through, lends strength to the latter supposition. An inquest will be held late today.

WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Dunstable Man Thrown From Wagon

Harold Clark, 35 years of age, narrowly escaped death this noon, when the wagon he was driving was struck by a shifter of the Boston & Maine railroad in the lumber yard of William P. Proctor & Co. in North Chelmsford. The man is now confined to the Lowell hospital, where the attending physicians fear he may not recover.

The accident occurred shortly before noon. Clark who was employed by W. P. Proctor & Co., lumber dealers, as a teamster, was driving his horse in the yard of the company in North Chelmsford, when suddenly the shifter struck the rear of the wagon, throwing the driver on the tracks. Clark received a compound fracture of the left leg, and a fracture of the right leg. The upper bone of this leg was also fractured, and the man received severe bruises about the body. Dr. Varney and Dr. F. L. Gage were summoned in haste, and after giving first aid, had their patient removed to the Lowell hospital.

The wagon was badly damaged and the horse narrowly escaped injury. Clark resides in Dunstable.

FIND LOST TREASURER

R. E. Smith of Failed Bank Located

NEWARK, N. J., Aug 16.—Raymond E. Smith, the missing treasurer of the failed Roseville Trust Company has been found in the vicinity of New York according to detectives employed by a surety company which furnished Smith's bond. They declined today to reveal his hiding place but said he could be "apprehended at any time." Their information was said to have been obtained from a woman.

Bank examiners engaged in investigating the $300,000 shortage in the accounts of the institution had not completed their work today and until the exact manner in which the funds were appropriated is determined no arrests are expected.

The directors today announced that they hoped to issue after the bank examiners had reported, a statement which they "had every reason to believe will be reassuring."

"WOMEN IN THE CASE" IN SULZER IMPEACHMENT.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—All negotiations toward having the courts decide who is the governor of New York were declared off today. For the third consecutive day William Sulzer, the impeached governor, and Martin H. Glynn, who was elected lieutenant governor, occupied offices in the capitol, each claiming to be the chief executive.

Indications were that the deadlock would last till the meeting of the legislature next Tuesday, if not longer.

Neither claimant endeavored to interfere in any way with the other.

Each seemed to be marking time, waiting for the other to take the offensive.

A reply from Governor Sulzer to Lieutenant Governor Glynn's letter of last night refusing to arbitrate in the courts, was expected this afternoon.

INCREASES IN PRICE OF BEEF

Expected to Follow the Drouth that is Scorching Western States

Cattle Growing States Suffer from Hot Wave Still Unbroken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Sharp increases in the prices of beef are expected to follow the drouth that is scorching the cattle growing states of Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Oklahoma and officials of the department of agriculture are not concealing their anxiety over their outlook. Their apprehension is increased by unfavorable reports said to have been received from agents now in South America concerning the condition of the cattle there.

In anticipation of the increased meat imports that would follow the passage of the new tariff measure, Dr. A. D. Melvin was sent by the department to South America to observe the manner in which cattle were slaughtered and meat packed in those countries. He is said to have reported that a serious hoof and mouth epidemic is raging in Argentina, the principal meat growing country of South America and this necessarily would bar the entrance of such meat to the United States. Australia in the event of serious shortage is expected to furnish much of the meat consumed by Americans in the immediate future. This supply may be limited, however, because of Great Britain's demands if Argentina fails her market.

Nothing Like It

If you are a lawyer, physician or dentist why "hide your light under a bushel," so to speak, in a dark, gloomy antiquated office while the New Sun building affords such splendid accommodations at about the same cost.

SEARCHING FOR 2 MURDERERS

Crimes Within 24 Hours Have Aroused Residents of Pittsburgh

Girl Assaulted and Thrown Into River—Man Shot to Death

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 16.—County detectives and the police of Pittsburgh are searching for two murderers whose crimes within the past 24 hours have aroused the community.

The first came to light when the body of Miss Pauline Loos, a young school teacher of Crafton, Pa., was found floating in the Alleghany river near Verona. An autopsy revealed that she had been assaulted and thrown into the river while unconscious.

The other crime was the shooting to death of Nicholas Ritorti, who was talking with a party of friends in Washington street not far from a busy business district. Persons who were taken to headquarters declared a man ran into the crowd, fired four shots into Ritorti's body and escaped.

MURDERED IN CELLAR

Authorities Investigate Mysterious Death

WOODSTOCK, Conn., Aug. 16.—Circumstances which led to the belief that Jonas Lawson, who was found dead in his barn yesterday, was murdered, were discovered by State Coroner J. W. Bill and Medical Examiner J. D. Spaulding today.

A visit to the cellar of the Lawson house disclosed a pool of blood, nearby which was a large club stained with blood. A trail of blood led from the cellar to the barn and a bloodstained handkerchief was picked up in the yard. The authorities believe that Lawson was attacked by persons whom he surprised in his cellar and that the body was dragged to the barn and a horse released to give the impression that the man had been kicked to death by the animal. Fifty dollars which Mrs. Lawson says her husband had in his clothes when he went to the cellar, was missing.

Coroner Bill and Dr. Spaulding said that two persons were under suspicion. Mrs. Lawson stated that her husband was in the habit of going to the cellar just before retiring each evening to see that everything was secure.

SUITS OF $1,000,000

Filed Against Heinze, Copper Magnate

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Edwin Gould and William Nelson Cromwell started separate suits in the supreme court today against F. WORK ALL NIGHT

Moonlight Threshing Was the Rule at Big Farms About La Crosse, Wis., on Account of Intense Heat

LA CROSSE, Wis., Aug. 16.—Moonlight threshing was the rule on the big farms about La Crosse both on the Wisconsin and Minnesota sides of the river last nigth. Threshing crews were unable to work in the daytime since Wednesday on account of the intense heat, and so men and teams slept during the day and early last evening when the moon came out and a cooling breeze swept the farms, the forces resumed work and continued throughout the night.

Clothier Defeated Touchard

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 16.—William J. Clothier, former national tennis champion, defeated Gustave F. Touchard, middle states champion, in the cup final of the singles on the courts of the Meadow club here today. The score was 6-2; 6-1; 6-3.

The Pacific coast doubles champions, John S. Strachan and Clarence Griffin, won their places in the final round of the doubles by defeating Thomas C. Bundy, the partner of McLoughlin, in the national doubles, and William M. Johnston, also of California, 6-3, 6-4.

Allen Tobey, former Princeton player, won the consolation final, beating Dr. Ewing Taylor, 8-6; 5-7; 6-2; 6-2.

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—George W. Wickersham of New York, formerly attorney general of the United States and Mrs. Wickersham, arived here today from Russia by way of Scandinavia.

A doctor's patients are usually too weak to climb even a single flight of stairs. Doctors who have in mind the interest of their patients should provide an office for them where they won't have to climb, but are carried right up to the door. Doctors who do this show thoughtfulness which is surely appreciated by the patient. Offices in the new Sun building have this advantage.

BIG PIAZZA COLLAPSED

Under Weight of 150 Persons

LYNNFIELD, Mass., Aug. 16—A piazza of the Sauntaug Inn collapsed today under the weight of 150 persons who were attending the picnic of the Essex County Republican club. The drop was only three feet and no one was seriously injured, although several lost pieces of their clothing, and all were somewhat jarred. Col. Everett C. Benton, candidate for the republican nomination for governor, was one of those who were on the piazza.

120 SWIMMERS

Including Six Women Start in Annua Swimming Race of the Missouri Canoe Club

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 16.—One hundred and twenty swimmers, including six women were ready for the start this afternoon of the annual swimming contest conducted by the Missouri Canoe Club of this city. The course is in the Missouri river from the Kansas City wharf to the mouth of the Blue river—12 miles. A fleet of motor boats carrying club members and life savers, a steam barge for spectators and scores of canoes and other small craft will accompany the swimmers, who are scheduled to take the water at 1.30.

COMFORT STATION

In Paige Street Was Opened This Morning—It Is One of the Best Sanitary Stations in the Country

The comfort station in Paige street was thrown open to the public this morning at 8 o'clock. Mayor O'Donnell, who is in charge of the station said it would take a few days before all the small details are looked after, but nevertheless the place as it is is in good condition, and those who have had charge of the construction are to be complimented for their fine work.

Joseph M. Hunt, 125 Stackpole street, who was appointed from the civil service list by Mayor O'Donnell, as one of the caretakers of the station, declined the job, and this morning the mayor appointed from the same list, Frank J. Flanagan of 22 Westford street, subject to confirmation by the civil service commission. The place will be kept open day and night and those employed there are to receive $3 a day for their services.

HEAVY SHOWERS BRING RELIEF

In Drouth—Stricken Regions of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma —Crops May be Total Loss

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 16.—Heavy showers last night and early today relieved conditions in the drouth-stricken regions of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, but the rains were far from general and in most instances [illegible].

Temperatures, that for 12 days have hovered above the 100 mark, fell today in southern Kansas and northern Oklahoma because of showers and clouds, but according to the United States weather bureau here there were evidences of a 13th day of extreme heat generally over Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. Hutchinson, Kan., reported rain amounting to nearly an inch.

In northern Oklahoma showers began yesterday afternoon and continued today. Light showers fell in this city yesterday.

Drouth in northern and eastern Kansas and most of Missouri continued unabated. Springfield, Mo., which has had less than half its normal rainfall since April 1, faced a possibility of a failure of its water supply. In practically all the Springfield churches prayers for rain will be offered late this afternoon.

In southeastern Kansas and southwestern Missouri many mining towns are suffering from want of water.

St. Joseph, Mo., reported increasing damage from drouth. Fruit growers of that district who had expected a heavy crop of apples, say the fruit is dropping from the trees immature and that the late crop may be a total loss.

Topeka is sending a trainload of water daily to supply the railway shops in Horton, Kansas. Rain was reported in Kingman and Harper counties, Kansas, last night. An inch of rain fell at Wellington; half an inch at Sedgwick and a shower in Butler county.

Hand-picked catfish are being enjoyed by persons in eastern Jackson county, as a by-product of the drouth. Most of the streams have shrunk to standing pools and the fish have been driven into clusters.

TWO REVOLVERS

Stolen by Burglar Who Entered House in Highlands—Snatch Thieves Take Woman's Purse

It was the house of George A. Scribner at 135 Westford street that was entered by a burglar on Thursday evening while the proprietor and his family were at the beach. The place was ransacked from top to bottom, and despite the fact that there were numerous articles of value in the house, only two revolvers were reported as missing. The police are working hard to bring the culprit to justice, but so far their efforts have failed.

The residents of the Highlands are somewhat alarmed with the recent doings of thieves in that district, for one of the most daring holdups was reported a few days ago, when the police were told of a highway robbery committed at a well lighted spot, the corner of Ware and Chelmsford streets. It is stated that an elderly woman was returning to her home in the evening, when two young men stopped her at the above place, and snatching her purse away from her, made good their escape. The police were notified of this theft, but the thieves are still at large.

mittee intends to follow the lead.

McDermott's attorney had opportunity to cross examine McMichael when the committee met today.

$7500 to Defeat Bill

McMichael testified today that the pawnbrokers raised $7500 to defeat the bill and McDermott was to get $6000. He swore that the conference at which that was arranged took place in April, 1911. Attorney Smith for McDermott brought out that the loan shark bill was not introduced until May and at that time did not include pawnbrokers.

"When did McDermott tell you about getting money for the loan shark bill?" asked Smith.

"Shortly after it became a law. I said to him 'Mac, on the level, what did you get out of the loan shark bill?' He said 'I got mine—well, it was about $7500.'"

Pressed to fix a date for that conversation, McMichael declined to be more specific. He testified he knew McDermott had invested $6000 in an airship company.

The attorney wanted details about the money McMichael swore he was getting from Mulhall and dividing with McDermott, but the witness insisted there had been so many checks he was not clear about any particular transaction.

"McDermott went to Col. Mulhall one day and said 'Colonel, you ought to have Mac's salary raised to $100 a month, then I could get $50 of it,'" said McMichael.

Attorney Smith led McMichael back to certain dinners in Washington and asked him about McDermott's share in them.

"He seldom blew 'hisn'," said McMichael. "He bought drinks, yes sir, but I think the gentleman himself will admit he didn't pay for them."

OLD ROOKERIES

demned an old wooden building located at 53 Hampshire street, and ordered the same to be torn down and removed at once. The owner of the property, Mrs. Emily A. Emond, appealed the decision and according to the building ordinance, she appointed an arbitrator, who with the city's arbitrator appointed a third one. The three men inspected the said building, and their report is as follows:

The Committee's Report

Lowell, Aug. 15, 1913.

We, the undersigned members of a committee appointed in the manner provided by ordinance to arbitrate the question of safety of the building located at number 53 Hampshire street and owned by Emily Emond, report as follows:

We find the inspector of buildings justified in condemning the building, but, as the owner proposes to make thorough repairs to the structure by building new floor on the first story, studding up side walls where needed, putting in new sills and repairing, clapboarding and painting the entire building, we would therefore recommend, that, if she agrees in writing to make the repairs as above described, that, permission be given to repair the structure, otherwise we feel that it should be removed at once.

Respectfully submitted.
Arthur F. Rabeour,
John J. O'Connor,
James Whittet.

Right to Appeal

Commissioner Carmichael, who is in charge of the public building department in conversation with the writer said this is the second appeal taken from the inspector's decision since he had been in office, and he wants every citizen to understand that he has a right to appeal to the decision of the inspector of public buildings at any time, and accordingly he quoted the following which is section 15 of the building ordinance:

In cases where power to estimate the damage to buildings and their roofs is given to the inspector, as also in question relating to the security or insecurity of buildings or parts thereof, and in all cases where powers are by this ordinance given to the inspector, an appeal to arbitration shall be allowed to parties believing themselves to be injured or wronged by the decisions of the inspector, as follows, to wit:

The person wishing to make such appeal shall do so within forty-eight hours after written notice of the decision or order of the inspector has been given them. An appeal made later than forty-eight hours after serving of the notice of the inspector shall not entitle the appellant to arbitration.

The request for arbitration shall be in writing and shall state the name of persons who are to represent the appellant in said arbitration. The inspector shall thereupon state to the appellant the probable cost of such arbitration, and such appellant shall, within twenty-four hours from the time of filing the original request for arbitration, deposit with the inspector a proper bond, or sum of money, sufficient for the payment of costs of such arbitration.

As soon as such bond or sum of money shall have been deposited, the inspector shall appoint an arbitrator to represent the city, and the two arbitrators thus appointed shall select a third, and these three arbitrators shall, after investigating the matter in question, make a decision with regard to the same, which shall be final and [illegible] on the appellant as well as on the city.

The arbitrators shall be [illegible] that they will faithfully discharge the duties of their position.

They shall have power to call witnesses and place them under oath, and their decision or award shall be rendered in writing, both to the inspector and the appellant.

The [illegible] to be allowed to each arbitrator [illegible] per hour. The cost of said arbitration are to be paid by the city if the appeal is sustained, by the appellant if it is not sustained.

Persons desiring to introduce materials, appliances and processes of building, the use of which is not recognized in this ordinance, or improvements in the use of materials and processes or appliances mentioned herein, shall also have the right to cause their demands to be referred to arbitration under the same terms as those hereinbefore provided.

Permit for Alterations

Mrs. Emond agreed to do as suggested by the board of arbitrators, and the building which has been jacked up will be repaired in accordance with the recommendations of the board, and a permit was granted this morning for the following alterations: New floor on first story, studding up side walls where needed, new sills, repair clapboard and entire building to be painted, the approximate cost to be $125.

Where's That Report?

Commissioner Brown of the finance department is patiently awaiting the report of Chief Gettemy of the state bureau of labor and statistics, on the city's financial condition, but the report seems to have been sidetracked. According to Mr. Brown the report should have been received at his office sometime ago, but for some reason or other there is a delay. Mr. Brown wrote a letter to the chief asking about the said report, but as yet no reply has been received.

These Sewer Outlets

The city engineers are very busy preparing plans for the extension of the Alder street sewer outlet just below the mouth of the Concord river near Stackpole street. People in that vicinity have complained of the condition at this outlet and the department will endeavor to remedy the defect as soon as the plans are completed at which time work will be started on the extension of the outlet to the middle stream, and rushed along.

Tomorrow evening, it is expected the extension of the West street sewer outlet will be finished, and that will mean a considerable improvement in the vicinity of Front street, as already the outlets of the Fulton and Coburn streets sewers have been remedied, and a change in conditions is already noticeable.

The Street Department

Plans have been made by the Bay State St. Ry. company to lay new and heavier rails across the Moody street river bridge, and work was to be started Monday morning, but on account of the fair at Rockingham park next week, the officials of the company have deemed it advisable to postpone the work a week, on account of the heavy traffic expected on that car line. The street department was also ready to start repairing and repaving the bridge, but these plans have also been changed.

Work on the Bowers street macadamizing job was started Thursday and is being rushed along. The Rogers street job is also progressing, although the heavy shower last Thursday afternoon interfered some with the workmen. On the Gorham street job the men are making good headway and Commissioner Donnelly stated this morning that the entrance to the Edson cemetery on the Gorham street side will be open tomorrow.

Bids For Roofing

The bids for roofing the new stable at the Chelmsford street hospital with slate, were opened at 11 o'clock this morning in the office of the commissioner of public buildings, but the contract will not be awarded until Monday morning. The bids as received were as follows:

Thomas F. Burns, No. 1 Monson, Me., $600; No. 1, Virginia, $500; J. L. Douglas & Co., No. 1 Monson, Me., $526; James Mooney, No. 1 Monson, Me., $549.

Called on the Mayor

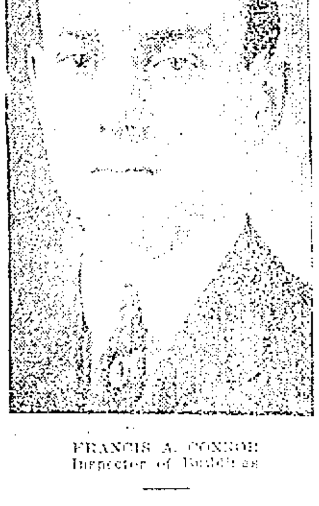
Dennis Sullivan, a former Lowell boy and now a resident of Manchester, N. H., was a caller at the mayor's office this morning, and the young man who is in the employ of Colonel Marcotte, proprietor of a large clothing and shoe store, related important facts concerning the Queen city. He said there is no civil service commission in the state of New Hampshire, and most of the jobs in Manchester are obtained through political influence. He said the chief of police has full swing over the entire department and it is up to him whether this or that patrolman will work tomorrow, or be laid off indefinitely. "A pretty funny sight," said Mr. Sullivan, "is to see the police officers patrolling their beats with their lunch baskets under their arm for there are only two shifts of patrolmen, and the night men carry their supper with them and when they want to make an arrest, they tenderly lay their lunch basket in a hallway and proceed to enforce the law."

However Mr. Sullivan avers Manchester is a great place to live and says the merchants are wise enough to think of some schemes with the members of the chamber of commerce to get the trade of the suburban towns as far as Laconia, several miles away. He also says a good portion of the Nashua people do their shopping in Manchester.

The Weekly Payroll

The weekly payroll at city hall this week is $20,728.55.

The employes of the water works department are enjoying their annual outing at Whelton Grove, Dracut, today. They left early this morning and will return late this evening, after spending a most delightful day.



FRANCIS A. CONNOR

Crowned Fenders

An advanced feature of automobile construction sure to manifest itself in 1914 models is the crowned fender. Three or four manufacturers have already announced this feature. Others admit that they are now negotiating with manufacturers of pressed steel specialties with a view to installing crowned fenders if they can be assured of deliveries.

The crowned fender is a characteristic American adaptation of a foreign idea. It presents a gracefully curved concave section, following the contour of the tire. Its shape permits it to be mounted much closer to the wheel than was the case with the concave and flat type. Both shape and position greatly add to the efficiency of the crowned fender, protecting the body of the car and its occupants from splashes of water and mud.

The European body-builder hammered his crowned fenders into shape by hand. This method was out of the question for standardized American cars. But a domestic fender designer declared a year ago that dies could be devised which would make the work possible by big presses. The task was entrusted to the executive staff of the corporation's plant. For more than a year the original set of dies then designed, has been turning flat sheets of cold steel into crowned fenders for the company's 1914 models.

In the time that a squad of European workmen would hammer out one set of fenders, this press will turn out 100. And the fenders are absolutely identical and true to design, requiring no supplementary fitting. Even the riveting which fastens the fender to its supports is now concealed by the latest process, the result being an unbroken surface of glossy enamel.

The Truck's Efficiency

Volumes have been written, tending to show the desirability, from the viewpoints of efficiency and economy, of the motor truck over horse-and-wagon systems of delivery. Truck manufacturers have spent small fortunes in having traffic and delivery experts investigate the economic features of both systems. Long tables of figures have been prepared, dealing with such items as horse cost, feed, maintenance and depreciation as against the same items in motor truck upkeep. These investigations have proved that, under nearly every condition of service, the truck is much more economical than the horse. There is one phase of the question, however, which had not been touched on until, in a recent discussion when a prominent manufacturer pointed out an important saving in the time of drivers.

He makes the statement that the driver of a light motor truck can do from three to four times as much work in a given time as the driver of a horse-and-wagon outfit, declaring that the time saved triples and sometimes quadruples his capacity.

"This interesting discovery was made," he says, "in a recent investigation we conducted as to the practicability of our truck. Most of our findings contained nothing that we did not know before; namely, that in the matter of maintenance and operation costs and economy of time, the truck was vastly superior to the horse. We did learn that this saving in time was largely due to the increased efficiency of the operator of the power vehicle, a point that we had not before taken into consideration.

"Day after day, during our tests, our drivers did from three to four times as much work as could be done by the men in charge of horse-and-wagon outfits, solely because they could save time both in travel and in making deliveries. The saving in time through the elimination of the necessity for tying the horses while the driver carried a package to a home or business place furnished some interesting figures. We found that the truck operator could stop his vehicle, select the parcel, make the delivery and return to the car in just about the time it required for the horse driver to assure himself that his vehicle would be where he left it on his return.

"In other words, where the truck driver could shut off his power, select his parcel and dismount almost before the truck had come to a full stop, the horse driver wasted precious minutes stopping his team, dismounting with the hitching weight or to loop a tie-strap about a hitching post and returning again to the wagon to reach for the parcel. Often, too, unless he had made the selection before dismounting, the horse driver had to climb into his wagon again to get the package he was after. With 50 or 60 stops per day, the loss of time charged against the horse driver reached a large total. All of this is saved by the truck."

The Ideal Car

"I have," said Mrs. Malaprop, "a beautiful car, with crinoline body, dispatchible denounceable rims, epileptic springs, electic starter, internal expending brakes, autocratic wind-shield, black untrammeled headlights, interval power plant, flash jubilation, three-point indention; three speeds, horrid and one perverse, amateur on the dash-board, aggravated ebony rim on the steering-wheel, copellerator, throttle peddler, sanitary transition, jump-spark, intuition, limpsey bearings, a set of lean gas-primers, and all other excessories."—Sacred Heart Review.

FIND TWO BODIES IN WATER

NORTH LIMINGTON, Maine, Aug. 16.—Lying close together in about four feet of water in Webster's Mill Pond, the bodies of Willie Taylor, aged 13, son of Walter Taylor of Steep Falls, and Harry Miller, 10, son of Maynard Miller of Limington, were found early today. The boys were last seen alive at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and at that time were going toward the pond. When they did not return home in the evening a search was begun and the only boat used on the pond was found to have been unfastened and drifted to the other side. The Miller boy was a cripple and judging from the position of the bodies his companion had tried to save him when the boat was upset. It is thought that the two had rowed out to gather pond lilies.

TO NAME ADDITIONAL RECEIVER

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—The matter of appointing an additional receiver for the Walpole Tire and Rubber company, of Walpole, was put over for one week by Judge Dodge in the federal court today. Robert G. Fischer of New York is now in charge of the property as receiver, but the minority creditors have suggested that a second man, preferably one living in Boston, be named.

In delaying action Judge Dodge said that he would name another receiver provided the stockholders and the minority creditors could agree on a man.

CUSTOM OFFICERS HOLD UP DAVIS CUP

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Through some technicality the custom authorities have impounded the Davis international tennis cup, brought over recently after the victory of the American team in England. The cup was originally taken from this country and is not dutiable returning, but for some reason unexplained the customs house refused to permit its entrance until an inquiry had been made.

Robert D. Wrenn, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association, has taken the matter up with Collector Mitchell and it is believed the cup will be released on Monday. From here it will be taken to Newport for exhibition during the all-comers national tournament.

OUT OF THE FAR NORTHWEST

Comes a Wail for Wives—Popular Song About Beautiful Girls on Old Saskatchewan a Delusion

Out of the far Canadian northwest comes the plaintive wail—"Wives Wanted." Away up in Saskatchewan, which lies on the edge of the wilderness that stretches off over thousands of miles to the gold fields of Alaska, there is a town with only three marriageable young women and they are all engaged. And there are hundreds of bachelors eager to win mates to share with them their frontier homes.

According to a statement by an editor in that land of the golden wheat, the bachelors eager to marry have a predilection for Boston girls and if that is true, then it is because they have never met and perhaps never heard of our charming, winsome gracious, true-blue Lowell girls, whose word is their bond and whose "yes" to a proposal means to live happy ever after.

One might be pardoned, too, for suggesting to the suffragets that the cry from the west offers them wonderful opportunity. From advices at hand, if a small band of young women who feel that they have not sufficient recognition of their rights at home chooses to emigrate to Saskatchewan, they can run things as they wish. They can take their pick of husbands among several hundred candidates, and their husbands will give them all the privileges they ask for.

Boston Girls Have Call

The need of wives is so great in that town that the young men have gotten together and formed an organization for matrimonial purposes. They have chipped in some of their earnings from their wheat fields and ranches and are writing east for girls who will come out and share their life. What a chance for girls to go west and grow up with the country! And perhaps in a few years return home the wives of Canadian millionaires.

Boston girls, as already mentioned, seem to be favored. Perhaps there are former Boston men in Saskatchewan; possibly the men of Saskatchewan have been reading so-called humorous papers and have formed the idea that the cold Boston girl will best become acclimated to the northern latitude of their province, where in winter the mercury goes down almost out of sight in the thermometers that have longer tubes than those around here. Writes the editor of the Viceroy Citizen, who appears to have been appointed matrimonial agent of the bachelor population of Viceroy, Saskatchewan: "Imagine if you can a town of 400 with only three marriageable young women in town, and them all engaged. Such is the sad state of affairs in Viceroy, Sask. The serious condition has caused the young men to form an organization for matrimonial purposes." They want to reach "young women willing to share the frontier life with these young men, and help them to build up happy homes in the growing western Canada country."

Want An Editor?

The girls who will take advantage of this opportunity for a man and a home and to grow up with the country can have the editor of the local paper if she wants him, for he is on the list of marriageable young men that has been forwarded to tempt Boston young women. He writes a good legible hand and is perfectly frank in the need of a wife to look after his home while he is influencing the thought of Viceroy through his editorials, and booming the country in his news columns. That he's a good newspaper man is evident from the fact that he believes in advertising—even for a wife.

The girl who works in a shop or a store, lives in a hall bedroom and pines for a life in the open can have all outdoors to live in if she will go to Saskatchewan. For there are ranchers who are anxious to install wives in their home to keep things tidy and cook for them. They can have horses to ride and perhaps automobiles—for motors are by no means unknown in the far northwest. Then there are engineers who may become great men in the new country. A lumberman who operates in the big woods wants a wife, so does a local hardware merchant.

Hotel Life—Yes?

If a young woman wants to be in the midst of affairs in Viceroy, what better place could she pick out than the town hotel. The proprietor feels the need of a wife to help him conduct his hostelry. It may not be a Touraine or a Copley-Plaza, but it's surely the centre of life in the Saskatchewan community. The choice of husbands also includes a salesmen, secretaries and a carpenter, and probably others who are not enumerated in the specimen list that has been forwarded to tempt girls.

A popular song tells about girls on the Saskatchewan. But it's evident that the writer of the words liked the mouthful of Saskatchewan and didn't look up the facts, for the editor of the Viceroy Citizen tells a pathetic tale of the lack of girls on the Saskatchewan.

SEVEN CASES OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

HARDWICH, Vt., Aug. 16.—Seven cases of infantile paralysis with several other suspected cases have caused considerable alarm in this town. Two new cases of the disease were reported today. The other five patients are recovering.

The town also faces a serious water shortage. There is practically no water in the reservoir and to conserve the supply the water is turned off every night and on again in the morning.

17 SETS OF FALSE TEETH

Found in Camp—Bills for Blue and Gray Reunion

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 16.—Accounts for the transportation of veterans to and from the Gettysburg reunion of the "Blue" and the "Gray" in July are rapidly being audited and paid by Col. Lewis E. Beitler, the secretary of the Pennsylvania commission, and some odd things are turning up. In all the state had contracts for transportation of veterans with 77 railroads. Two of these companies rendered bills for 40 cents each, that being all the business they had of that character, while another rendered a bill for 80 cents, another for 90 cents and one for $1.20. The bills of 10 other railroads aggregated $16,000, and 28 others $2600. The Pennsylvania, Reading and other companies have not yet filed their accounts. Every ticket is accounted for and the checks are drawn up on presentation of the vouchers.

The commission has secured from the railroads redemption of a number of railroad tickets found on the battlefield. These tickets turned up at the "lost and found" place, along with one wooden leg, several dozen keys, a revolver, numerous articles of apparel and 17 sets of false teeth.

FELL IN FRONT OF CAR

Everett Boy Was Stealing a Ride

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—While stealing a ride on an outbound Broadway-Ferry street electric car in Everett yesterday, Walter Edmunds, 6 years old, of 118 Florence street, Everett, hopped off and fell directly in the path of an inbound semi-convertible car. The boy was picked up by the fender and cast to the side of the track, badly bruised, but otherwise unhurt.

The accident happened at the corner of Chestnut street and Broadway, Everett. There is a small decline, and the cars proceeded fairly fast. The boy had been stealing rides all the forenoon with several older companions. Edmunds had secured a grip on the back of the car, which started to make the hill at a good clip. When he attempted to hop off he was hurled from his feet.

FOR WILSON AND FOSS CUPS

Nine Aspirants for Three Places On American Sonder Yacht Team

Winners Will Meet the German Racers—First Trial Today

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 16.—Nine aspirants for the three places on the American Sonder yacht team, which next month will meet the German racers for the President Wilson and Governor Foss cups, sailed out of this harbor today for the first of the series of trial races held by the Eastern Yacht club.

The yachts, their owners and designers are as follows:

Badger; B. B. Crowninshield, Burgess.

Cima; Guy Lowell, Mower.

Dorina; G. L. Batchelder, Boardman.

Ellen; C. P. Curtis; Burgess.

Harpoon; C. F. Adams, 2nd, Purden.

Otter, C. H. W. Foster and J. Crane, Boardman.

Sprig; J. L. Saltonstall, Boardman.

Tern; H. M. Sears, Burgess.

The three German challengers, Angela, Serum and Wittlesbach, were in the harbor, all rigged, as the American left for the start.

In order to give the committee on selection plenty of opportunity to judge of the relative merits of the yachts as well as to enable the yachts plenty of room to show off such merits, the fleet was divided into two divisions, the first starting five minutes in advance of the second.

Originated In Germany

The Sonder yacht is a type of small boat, originated in Germany where it has become very popular, and is supposed to bring out the best qualities in yacht design under certain or special restrictions, Sonder meaning special in German.

A Sonder yacht is limited to 550 square feet on sail area, must not weigh less than 4,170 pounds nor carry more than three men, while the total of its water line length, breadth and draught must not exceed 32 feet. The cost of the boat in this country is also limited to $2400, while there are other important rules governing the materials used in construction.

The American Sonder yachtsmen engaged in six international contests, four with the Germans in 1906 and 1909 at Marblehead and 1907 and 1911 at Kiel, and two with the Spaniards in 1907 at San Sebastian and in 1910 at Marblehead. The American yachts won three out of the four races with the Germans and split even with the Spaniards.

In the trial races today, the courses were only six miles, alternating between windward and leeward, and triangular, the former being three miles out and back, and the latter two miles on a side.

The committee planned to sail at least two and possibly three races each day, and to begin the eliminations after the fourth race.

The trials will continue next week, and it is expected that the American team will be selected by Wednesday.

The first race will be held on Labor day.

BRIDGE KILLS FIREMAN

Body Found on the Coal Tender of Engine

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Leslie Baxter, 24, of 54 Monument street, Charlestown, a fireman on the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad was struck and instantly killed yesterday afternoon as his train passed under some bridge between the North station and Union square, Somerville.

Suddenly realizing that he had not seen his fireman for several minutes, F. R. Temple, engineer of the 4 o'clock western express train, No. 3, brought his train to a sudden stop at Cambridge yesterday afternoon and notified Conductor Arthur Cannier.

S. E. Whitland of 23 Linden avenue, Somerville, who happened to be on the street level when the train stopped in the cut by the Cambridge station saw the body of Baxter lying in a crumpled heap behind the pile of coal and near the water tank.

Baxter had been a fireman for the B. & M. since February, 1912.

Griffith Goes to Braves

LAWRENCE, Aug. 16.—Outfielder Griffith of the New Bedford New England league team was sold to the Boston Nationals yesterday. The price was not announced.

Griffith was formerly a pitcher but was shifted to the outfield when his arm failed him. He will report to the Braves immediately.

REPORT GREAT ENGINEERING FEAT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—An engineering feat that has called for special commendation from Chief Forester Graves was reported today to the forest service from the Sitgreaves National Forest in Arizona. A lookout tower, built entirely of logs and thrusting its bulk 115 feet into the air, was constructed by forest rangers without the aid of hoisting apparatus. The work was accomplished entirely by unassisted man-muscle and pure strength.

"Talk of the wonders worked by the ancient Egyptians in their pyramid construction," said a forest service official, "Pharaoh's artisans didn't have very much not possessed by the forest riders of your Uncle Sam."

The timber for the construction of the tower was procured on the spot. The tower will be used in watching for the outbreak of forest fires.

Next Saturday Will Be Another Premium Red Letter Day

ONE THOUSAND VOTES FOR A DOLLAR

WITH BUT SIXTEEN DAYS REMAINING, CONTESTANTS ARE STRAINING ALONG EVERY POINT

Next Saturday will be another premium red letter day, when voters are entitled to one thousand votes with a dollar, ten thousand votes with a ten dollar purchase, or the equivalent number of votes for a purchase larger or smaller. You have plenty of time to plan your purchases for this day and who knows but it may seal the fate of some contestant. The time grows short and strenuous work will be necessary if you entertain hopes of winning.

There are about 16 working days remaining in the library contest, today being the 16th of August, and the contest closes the 4th of September. Workers seem to be fully conscious of this judging from the campaign that is on for the merchant vote and the Sun coupons. Voters should take warning that the balance of power lurks with certainty in this special coupon feature and if you could see the perfect stacks of these which have come in in other cities and if you realized that this coupon vote numerous times has represented the winners' majority, you would get busy right away.

You simply cannot afford to evade the ponderous weight of the vote to be obtained by trading in the contest stores. The hundreds of thousands so easily obtained through labels and Sun coupons are equally important, and at the 11th hour hundreds are fully conscious of the fact that they must spare no efforts in either direction, judging from the way they came rolling into the office of the contest man last week.

The large reports that come regularly from Macartney's Apparel shop demonstrates this special medium of advertising for the up to date clothing house. Men anxious to vote for the numerous contestants, conscious of the fact that no better values are to be obtained or better to be found, have resorted to this big store. Still there is even more that can be accomplished in this direction and Macartney's Apparel shop is the place to go.

It is impossible to stand in front of the customary window exhibit of fine merchandise at A. E. O'Heir & Co.'s without being impressed with the general excellence of this store.

The St. Patrick's and St. Michael's schools reveal a strong hand in the final moments. Heavy returns are coming for the above contestants from every source the past two weeks, and with a little "ginger" added to the recent efforts, who knows but that the last in the list among these will prove to be the unexpected.

Plan well, for Saturday next—Premium Red Letter Day—as the time grows short.

I.W.W. MEMBERS LEAVE

The Police Raid Strikers Camps at Minot, N. D.

MINOT, N. D., Aug. 16.—A general exodus of Industrial Workers of the World has begun and officials today believe there will be no further serious trouble in connection with the activities of the workers whose attempts to hold street meetings have resulted in serious rioting and 145 arrests.

Several hundred members of the organization are said to have left town during the last 36 hours. Police continue to raid the so-called "jungle camps" and order the occupants out of town. Only one attempt was made last night to hold a street meeting. Six arrests resulted.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

The Kasino

The charming young woman of your choice will surely appreciate a couple of hours up on Kasino hill, where tuneful music and ideal scenic conditions contribute to the pleasures of the terpsichore. Situated on an elevation, the Kasino is also in a wealth of greenery, and all of the advantages of the country are thus to be had. Every night and on Saturday afternoon, the Kasino is open.

Merrimack Square Theatre Players

Although the first week of the Merrimack Square Theatre Players will not be rounded out until tonight's performance, the fact that Manager Carroll had brought together a company which bids fair to be the most popular Lowell ever had is now apparent.

The bill presented this week has attracted some of the largest crowds attending this theatre for some time. It was powerful and proved most popular, but in Bronson Howard's famous play of society, "Aristocracy," to be given next week, patrons will find an attraction entirely out of the ordinary. Few plays possess such unusually charming features as this one which is remarkable for its fine character delineation and for the intrinsic beauty of the story itself. It was first produced at Palmer's theatre, New York city, and there scored a pronounced hit. In it Blanche Walsh, Wilton Lackaye, Viola Allan, William Faversham and other artists, now stars, portrayed the roles in which Miss Grace Young, Walter Scott Weeks, John Charles, Margaret Moore and other popular favorites of the company will be seen. The title derives its name from the action of the piece, which has to do with the difference and feeling felt by the three factions of the aristocracy, the new rich, the snobs and the real rich. The situations also contain an interesting combination of comedy and dramatic element that cannot fail to win the approbation of all.

Naturally in a play of this kind the scenic embellishments and costuming will be elaborate. Miss Grace Young, famous for her wonderful gowns has selected six of her handsomest which she will wear, while the other members of the company will be seen to a like advantage. A complete new set of motion pictures is also shown which are changed every Sunday, Monday and Thursday.

For the Sunday concerts to be given tomorrow an entire new vaudeville and photo-play program has been arranged.

Owing to a persistent rumor concerning the week prices special attention is again called to them. Reserved seats for the evening performances (except Saturdays) at 10, 15 and Balcony, 10, 15 and 25 cents. Patrons wishing to order seats may do so at any of the above prices. The matinee admission is 10 cents, reserved seats 20 cents, box seats 35c. Reserved seats for the matinee performances also may be phoned for. Seats on sale one week in advance.

TANNING FIRM ASSIGNS

Big Lynn Company Files Papers

LYNN, Aug. 16.—After a struggle of more than two years to overcome embarrassing financial troubles, Thomas A. Kelley & Co., one of the largest tanning concerns in the country, yesterday admitted inability to meet financial obligations, when an assignment to Judge James H. Sisk was filed at the office of City Clerk Attwill. No statement of the approximate liabilities of the firm could be obtained last night.

Persons who presumed to know stated last night that they will be greatly surprised if the liabilities exceed $100,000 and a man, who has been closely connected with Mr. Kelley placed the extent of the failure at $250,000. The factories employ more than 800 persons.

The direct cause of the failure is the action of the big Boston banking institutions which withdrew credit from the firm last October. At that time, the outstanding notes held by the Boston banks amounted to $500,000. Those obligations were met and immediately notice was served upon the firm that no further credit would be extended. Running the big plant at 627-647 Summer street, greatly below its capacity, with tremendous overhead charges having to be met, is assigned as one of the contributory causes of the failure.

DIGGS IN MORE TROUBLE

Free for All Fight Outside of Court House

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—After court had adjourned yesterday with the government resting in the case of Maury I. Diggs, charged with F. Drew Caminetti with violation of the Mann act, in transporting Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris from Sacramento to Reno for immoral purposes unlawfully, Diggs got into fresh trouble. Leaving the federal building by a side entrance to shield his wife, his mother and his father from public curiosity, he was ambushed by a squad of newspaper photographers. The women tried to run, but the photographers kept pace with them, snapping their cameras as they gave chase.

Somebody snatched at a camera, somebody punched a photographer in the face, bystanders joined in, and in an instant there was a free for all fight at the centre of a swirling crowd. Drew Caminetti was swept into the vortex, and began to struggle with the rest. It became so complicated that the squad of police who came running to the spot bundled the whole party of principals into a patrol wagon and took them to the nearest station.

There it developed that one photographer had been hammered on the head with something hard, what or by whom he could not be sure. A reporter said that the photographer had been smashed in the face with his own camera. As the upshot of the affair, Diggs was released and a friend of his, a law clerk, was charged with assault and battery.

MESSAGE TO HUERTA

May be Presented by Lind Monday

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16.—President Wilson's message to President Huerta is now in the possession of the government, which may be expected to reject it or to return some answer shortly. Foreign Minister Gambea, in the two conferences he has had with John Lind, President Wilson's special representative in Mexico, came to the conclusion, with the consent of President uerts, that the simplest way in the end was to accept the document for President uerta and his cabinet and study it.

It would appear now that as the message has been in the possession of the government since Thursday night, and no action concerning it has yet been announced, the government is not disposed summarily to reject it.

Mr. Lind yesterday afternoon, with the consent of Senor Gamboa, admitted for the first time to the American newspaper correspondents that he had held conferences with the Mexican minister for foreign affairs, adding that they had been cordial in character. While neither of the principals will admit the fact, information has been obtained that the object of Mr. Lind's visit to Senor Gamboa was to deliver President Wilson's note.

The formal communication Mr. Lind bears, however, will not be handed to Mexico before Monday, at least, when it will be transmitted to diplomatic representatives of foreign powers in Washington.

FATHER EXONERATED

Killed Man Acquitted of Attacking Girl

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—An enraged father who took the law in his own hands and killed the man the courts had acquitted of the charge of attacking his 13-year-old daughter was exonerated yesterday by a coroner's jury.

The verdict said that Edward J. Duprey was "laboring under a great mental strain on account of injury believed done to his daughters by the deceased," when he shot and killed Herny Gronimus, a photographer.

Duprey was released from custody. His two daughters, one 11, the other 23, were the only witnesses before the coroner's jury. They testified that they had been attacked by Gronimus in his studio. Duprey, a tailor, killed Gronimus in front of his home just after the latter had been freed on the charge of assaulting the elder daughter, Stella. After the shooting Duprey disappeared, but gave himself up to the police yesterday.

"I knew they couldn't do anything to you, papa," exclaimed the elder girl as she embraced her father after announcement of the verdict.

IN OLD MADRID

Beautiful Daughter of Bank Defaulter Still to be Rescued—Ancient Swindle Lives

In spite of the fact that the police of Madrid, Spain, asserted last February that they had broken up the gang of swindlers responsible for the "Spanish prisoner letters, and had taken possession of the gang's headquarters, the letters still continue to arrive in this country and it was only a few days ago that a man turned over a missive to the local police which he had just received from Madrid.

In the old familiar tone it coaxed him to cable Pedro Ramos at22 Ababa street, Madrid, that he was willing to rescue the beautiful daughter of a bank defaulter and pay the cost of the bank defaulter's trial in return for large sums of money to be lifted later from a secret cache.

The raid of the Madrid police upon the gang disclosed the manner in which the swindle was operated. It was found that the cable address given was invariably a fraud, but that the messenger boys of the telegraph company were in the pay of the swindlers and received rewards for delivering the messages at addresses privately agreed upon between the swindlers and the messenger boys.

The version of the gang's capture cabled to this country was to the effect that Madrid policemen trailed the messenger boys to the home of Eustebio Rico at 18 Luchano street, Madrid, where they found hundreds of cablegrams from all parts of the world and several large rooms given up to the the work of mailing out answers to the cables. Besides Rico, the chief swindler, the police arrested Rico's father-in-law and his secretary. It was then announced authoritatively that the world had nothing more to fear from the Spanish prisoner swindler, as eight years of searching for the headquarters of the gang had resulted in its location and destruction.

MRS. PANKHURST LEAVES ENGLAND

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst left England for France last night, traveling across the channel by way of Southampton and Havre. She had been out on "license" under the "cat and mouse act" for some time and it was reported that the police authorities at the various channel ports had recently received from headquarters orders not to arrest her if she were seen going on board a steamer for the purpose of leaving England.

Mrs. Pankhurst was sentenced to a term of three years penal servitude on a charge of conspiracy at the London sessions on April 3 this year. In a speech in the court she declared she would fight to the end and since her condemnation she has compelled the authorities to release her on a number of occasions owing to fear that she would die from the effects of "hunger and thirst strikes."

Christabel Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, and chief organizer of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffragette organization, has been living in Paris for some months. She directs from there the campaign of the militant women in England.

LOWELL WOMAN WAS STABBED

Husband, it is Alleged, Attacked Wife With a Jackknife

Couple Were Living in Manchester and Quarrelled Over Money

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug 15.—Patrick McCue, 65 years old, of Franklin, N. H., last night, it is alleged, stabbed his wife, Mrs. Mary McCue, 55 years old, of this city, in the neck with his jackknife, and then, having vainly tried to escape, severed the arteries of his own throat.

Mrs. McCue, who, before her marriage to McCue at Pittsfield, N. H., in 1891, was Miss Mary Prentiss of Lowell, Mass., left McCue two years ago because of his habits. She took lodgings in the Cilley building, corner of Congress and Elm streets.

It is understood that McCue came to Manchester early in the week and visited his wife. They agreed to live together again, it is said. Last night he called at the Cilley building for Mrs. McCue. He met her in the hallway and asked her for 10 cents. She replied that she had no change and that all she had was a $5 and a $10 bill.

McCue, enraged, pulled his jackknife from his pocket and, it is charged, stabbed her in the neck. Thinking that he had killed her, McCue rushed down the hallway. He met Dr. Frank J. Ferson, and asked him the way out. The doctor directed him to the closed end of the hall and summoned the janitor.

McCue, realizing that he was about to be caught, brought his knife into use again, this time on himself. He cut two arteries in his throat, barely missing the jugular vein.

At the Sacred Heart hospital it is reported Mrs. McCue will recover. McCue is on the dangerous list. From a letter found in his pocket after being taken to the hospital, it is thought that he came to Manchester bent on murdering his wife.

JUSTICE GERARD HOME

Ambassador to Germany in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Supreme Justice James W. Gerard, who has been in Berlin getting a rest preliminary to resuming his post as ambassador to Germany, returned today on the steamship Amerika. The yacht will take part in the races off Marblehead, Mass., in September.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

37 Buildings Wrecked—Worst Storm in Years

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 15.—Ten buildings were struck by the lightning in less than two hours' when the worst storm of the year swept over the eastern portion of Wisconsin today. While no loss of life has been reported the loss will reach thousands of dollars.

Telephone and telegraph communication with cities in the interior of the state is gone

TOOK $879 IN DAYLIGHT

Man Walked into Bank and Grabbed Roll

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 15.—A stranger walked into the New York State National bank about noon today, thrust his arms through one on the paying teller's windows, grabbed bills aggregating $879 and rushed out into crowded State street, where he was lost to view before the astonished teller could give an alarm.

A young woman who was transacting business at another window witnessed the robbery.

Automobile Burned

About 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, an alarm from box 215 summoned a portion of the fire department to the junction of Rogers and Nesmith streets, where an automobile was afire. Fortunately the firefighters arrived in the nick of time and thus prevented the complete destruction of the auto.

The machine is a six-passenger Lozier car and is the property of W. F. Baker of Boston. The damage was confined to the front part.

NEEDS ATTENTION

Paige Street Playground and Surroundings Should Be Looked After By the Proper Authorities

The Paige street playgrounds, where between 50 and 75 children gather daily for recreation and play, are in a very unpleasant condition at the present time and there is a good opportunity for both the park department and the board of health to relieve these conditions.

The grounds, which are situated near a congested tenement district of the city, are partly covered with papers and garbage nearly all the time and it is impossible for the supervisor to keep the grounds in good condition. Several kitchen doors open into the grounds and the sweepings from these are often piled up in the centre of the grounds when the supervisor arrives in the morning. A stable is located but a few feet from the spot and all kinds of debris is often found on the grounds.

The park department does not look after the grounds and it is necessary for the supervisor and her assistants to pick up papers and refuse every morning and sometimes after the noon hour. Several donations have been sent into the park department to be used on these grounds and it seems that they should be put in proper condition at least each morning so that the supervisor could begin her work of teaching the children immediately upon reaching the grounds.

PERRY'S OLD FLAGSHIP, NIAGARA, VISITED BY THOUSANDS IN ROUND OF GREAT LAKE CITIES

BUFFALO, Aug. 16.—Wherever Perry's famous old flagship, the Niagara, put into port during her round of the great lake cities she was visited by curious crowds. Raised from the bottom of Lake Erie, where she had lain for 100 years after she was sunk in the battle at Put-in-Bay, the old hulk was made the nucleus for a reconstructed ship, an exact duplicate as far as possible, being built of the original flagship. It was arranged to exhibit the vessel here during Perry week, Sept. 2-6.

HYDRO-AEROPLANE TOUR

For Prize of $25,000 Started Today

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 16.—A hydro-aeroplane tour round the coasts of England and Scotland for a prize of $25,000 was started this afternoon from Southampton water with only one participant, Harry G. Hawker, the winner of the Michelin prize in 1912, accompanied by a passenger.

His water plane is a double decker fitted with 100 horsepower motor and with the propeller at the front of the machine.

The shore was black with spectators, who gave Hawker a great send off, on his 1600 mile flight, which must be completed within 72 hours. Descents may be made upon the waters only at the control stations at Ramsgate, Yarmouth South, Scarboro, Aberdeen, Cromarty, Oban, Dublin, Falmouth and the finishing point at Netley.

The fact that there is only a single competitor for the big prize, open to all British machines, is commented on by the newspapers, which say it seems to prove the contention that Great Britain is still dependent on foreign engineers for flying motive power.

No Comparison

The light, airy, sanitary offices of the New Sun building compared with those of any other office building in Lowell are so much more up to date that not only the occupants but their patrons are delighted with them.

TAX LIMIT QUESTION

To be Discussed at Hearing Before Council

A public hearing as prescribed for under the new legislative act authorizing and directing municipalities to fix their own tax limit, will be held at city hall some time next week. Mayor O'Donnell said today that he is going over the matter at the present time with the city clerk. It is believed that the tax limit will be allowed to remain at $12 the same as it has existed in past years.

The law regarding municipal finances was changed at the last session of the legislature.

For a long period what is known as the $12 tax limit has been the law as applied to cities. Under the law municipalities were allowed to raise $12 on each $1000 property valuation of on the previous year for ordinary expenses such as the state and county tax, interest and the redemption of bonds. The law was changed this year whereby municipalities were authorized and directed to fix their own limit with the additional provisions that the limit must be based upon the average valuation for the three years previous rather than upon the one preceding year. The law farther provides that the limit must be fixed only after a public hearing has been afforded and it cannot be changed within the year or thereafter only upon condition that a public hearing has been held.

WOMEN JURORS MORE DELIBERATE THAN MEN

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Women as jurors are more deliberate than men, County Judge Owen announced today, in explaining a change in the hearing of insanity cases. For two successive weeks Judge Owen has named women on a jury to consider the cases of women and children and several complaints that the women have been too slow have reached him. The men jurors, who decide all other cases, assert they were kept waiting too long.

Judge Owen altered the system, permitting the women to sit last and insisted that the change must not be construed as a reflection upon woman's competency as a juror.

"It is just the reverse," asserted the court. "It demonstrates that women are giving the thought needed in judging insane cases. The change will expedite the business of the court."

FALL RIVER WINS IN THE NINTH

Lowell Beaten 3-2—Dee's Error Was Largely Responsible—Daly Makes a Home Run

Lowell lost yesterday's game to Fall River in a very unsatisfactory manner in the ninth inning when Dee's wild heave to Halstein started the visitors on a streak which netted them three runs and the game 3 to 2. Reiger also relaxed in this inning although the error undoubtedly was responsible for the defeat. Barron, a Lowell outcast, pitched good ball for Fall River.

Cargo started the first inning by grounding out to Dee. Campbell filed out to Clemens. Devine was the victim of Miller and Halstein.

Clemens walked and stole second, but Miller hit into a double play when he lined to Devine, Clemens going out, Devine to Cargo. DeGroff struck out.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Magee made a long running catch of Patterson's fly to left in the second. Howard and McGovern both fell before Reiger's spitter.

Two hits were made in Lowell's half of the second. Magee opened with a single to centre, but was forced out at second when Halstein hit to Barron. Halstein was caught off first base, Barron to McGovern. Daly singled to centre, but Aubrey was thrown out at first by Barron.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Robison opened the third with a single to right. Weeden sent him to second with a sacrifice. Baron struck out and Cargo went out, Reiger to Halstein.

Barron had two strikeouts in Lowell's half. Dee lined to Campbell and Reiger and Clemens fanned.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Fall River got a man on in the fourth but could not bring him home. Campbell was out on his grounder to Dee. Devine singled to left but was forced out at second when Catterson hit to Aubrey. Howard filed out to Clemens.

Miller doubled to the left field fence. DeGroff sacrificed him to third. On a squeeze play Magee sacrificed Miller home. Halstein filed out to Campbell in short right.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

Reiger pulled down McGovern's bounding grounder in the fifth and threw him out at first. Robinson was easy for Miller and Halstein. Halstein made a put-out of Weeden's grounder unassisted.

Daly grounded out. Aubrey filed out at Catterson. Dee singled to centre, but was forced at second when Reiger grounded to Cargo.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

Barron started the sixth with a grounder to Reiger and was out at first. Dee made a nice one-handed stop of Cargo's hard grounder and "Chic" was out at first. Campbell filed out to DeGroff.

Clemens grounded to McGovern and beat the ball to first. Clemens moved to second on Miller's sacrifice. De Groff hit a hard one to Cargo and was safe at first, Clemens going to third. DeGroff went to second on the first ball pitched. Magee lined one to Cargo and Clemens was doubled at third.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

After Devine had grounded out to Aubrey and Miller had snapped up Catterson's creeper in the seventh. Howard smashed the ball to the left field fence for two bases. Reiger passed McGovern on four pitched balls and Robinson went out, Aubrey to Halstein.

"TOM" DALY,
Whose Home Run Featured

Halstein banged a hot one to Barron which the latter knocked down and threw him out at first. Daly singled but was forced out at second, after Aubrey popped out to McGovern, when Dee grounded to Devine.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

Fall River was a cinch in the eighth. Weeden fell a victim to Reiger's "spitter," Barron filed out to Clemens and Cargo was thrown out by Aubrey.

Reiger was safe when Barron booted his grounder. Clemens fanned. Reiger was forced out at second when Miller hit to Cargo. Miller went to third when Barron threw the ball into center field in an attempt to catch him going to second. DeGroff closed the session by flying out to Howard.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

Fall River had a great inning in the ninth. Campbell struck out. Then came the turning point. Dee made a miserable attempt to stifle Devine's grounder and then threw over Halstein's head while the runner went to second. Catterson singled and Devine came across. Catterson took third when Clemens allowed the ball to go by him. Howard punched the ball over the fence for a homer scoring Catterson ahead of him. McGovern then singled but was forced at second by Robinson. Clemens dropped Weeden's fly and McGovern went to third on the misplay but Barron obligingly grounded out to Aubrey.

Magee, after fouling for five minutes, fied to Catterson. Halstein was easy for Campbell and McGovern. Daly slammed one to left which dropped just before reaching Robinson. Robinson, however, could not get his hands on the ball and Daly had completed the circuit before the ball was returned to the plate. Aubrey filed out to Robinson. The score:

DIAMOND DAZZLES

It's pretty tough lines to lose a game on errors at this stage of the race. Dee started the whole upheaval with his miserable work on Devine's grounder. No matter how brilliant an infielder may be on certain occasions the player who plays the steady consistent game is the man to be depended upon by his manager. There is never any certainty about what will happen when a ball is knocked down the third base lines. Dee will nail some of the hardest hit ball and will also throw the easiest brand of grounders over Halstein's head.

The band from the Middlesex school was a treat to the fans yesterday. The youngsters were royally entertained by the Lowell management during the game and gave three rousing cheers for Jimmy Gray and his players after the contest.

Lowell will journey to Portland next week and play on the Maine diamond the first three days. This series will have a very strong bearing on the league pennant winners for if Lowell goes out to the front at this stage of the race the other clubs will have a hard job pulling the lead away. The Brockton game scheduled to be played in Brockton next Friday has been transfered here and the double header with New Bedford will also take place at Spaulding park.

Those two double plays yesterday were a salvation for the visitors. The liners that Devine and Cargo stabbed at and made surprised themselves as much as the crowd.

Lowell's first run came as the result of as pretty a squeeze play as was ever pulled off. With Miller racing in from third Magee laid down a beautiful bunt which went as a sacrifice when he was thrown out at first by Barran.

Woodbury, the Portland pitcher who replaced Mayberry, won the game for Duffy in the eighth inning of yesterday's game with his clout for two bases which drove in Meehan. Duffy has several pitchers who are liable to break up games in a pinch.

IS TY COBB WORTH $100,000 AS A PLAYER?

GRIFFITH SAYS "YES," NAVIN REMARKS "BUNK!"

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 16.—Well, well, well! Talk about your high cost of baseball! What do you know about this? They're going to buy the famous Ty Cobb for $100,000! Or is it $1,000,000? Manager Clark Griffith of the Washingtons has got the dough salted away in a private gold mine, and he's going to make President Navin come to time and sell Tyrus the Great or bust in the attempt. Griff is going to make Frank Chance and other baseball money changers look like a sun baked jelly fish. Marty O'Toole a $22,500 beauty? Pshaw! Of course Navin says the $100,000 offer which Griff has up his sleeve is all "bunk," but you never can tell. Baseball bric-a-brac comes high nowadays. At any rate, with all nonsense aside, the Griffith story serves to hammer home the point that Cobb still remains the most valuable player in the world today.

ALL COMERS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16.—Many aspirants for national lawn tennis championship honors in singles arrived in this city today for the all-comers tournament which begins on the Casino courts on Monday. The tournament will be the 33rd in the history of the United States National Lawn Tennis association and it is expected that Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco, the present title holder, will be one of the contenders. Under the recent rules of the association former champions are compelled to play through the tournament, there being no challenge match.

Mr. McLoughlin will make his first appearance since the Davis cup matches on the Casino courts on Monday when with T. C. Bundy, also of California, a defence of the national doubles championship title will be made against John Strachan and Clarence Griffin, two more Pacific coast players, and the winners in the preliminary tournament at Chicago last week.

This match will be the only doubles event played at Newport and will be fought out on the new championship court in the Casino enclosure. The drawings for the all-comers tournament will be held this afternoon.

SEEK N. E. RELATIVES

No Claimants for Estate of $15,000

BEAUMONT, Calif., Aug. 16.—Mystery surrounds the identity of Edgar Allen Sloane, a man of wealth, killed in this city by a Southern Pacific train last Thursday night.

No trace has been found of any relatives or friends, although there was found in his effects securities to the value of about $15,000 and this is believed to be only a small part of the property he possessed.

A will made by Sloane was also discovered. It named a sister and two cousins in the New England states as beneficiaries. Telegrams were sent to these persons, but no reply was received, nor can any trace be found of them.

The will, made in June, 1906, asks that his body be buried at Lisbon, N. D. Messages received from the Odd Fellows and Masonic lodges, as well as from the postmaster at Lisbon, state that Sloane is not known there.

Lodge receipts show Sloane was a member of a Masonic lodge in Nashua, N. H.; of the Knights Templar in Brockville, Ont.; of the Shrine in Montreal, and of the Odd Fellows in Burlington, Vt.

Name On Nashua Rolls

NASHUA, Aug. 16.—George E. Danforth, a past master of Rising Sun Lodge of Masons, says there is on the rolls an Edgar A. Sloane, who joined in 1886 and whose last known address was Mt. Clemens, Mich. He knows nothing further of Mr. Sloane.

SWIM TO BOSTON LIGHT

Maloney Will Attempt to Break Record

Tim Maloney, Lowell's champion long distance swimmer, and Frank Murphy, the man responsible for the former taking up the sport, will leave here on the 7.21 train tomorrow for Boston where both will again tackle the swim to the Boston light. Maloney has accomplished the feat, but Murphy has yet to reach the goal. The latter is confident that this time he will be successful.

Maloney will also attempt to beat the record held by Sam Richards, who reached the light and swam back to the spindle, remaining in the water 5 hours and 13 minutes.

The Lowell swimmers will be accompanied by John W. Daly, Dr. McCann, Henry Garrity and many others, who will cover the course in boats and coach the local "fins" on to victory.

The start will be made from the Charlestown bridge at 10 o'clock.

BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

The Blue Ribbon Meeting Closes at Detroit

DETROIT, Aug. 16.—The blue ribbon meeting came to a close yesterday afternoon with a new world's record. Dudie Archdale beat Anvil in the free-for-all trot.

The stallion had won the first heat, but after that the little black mare had it on him. The old record for three divided heats was made when Billy Burk beat Spanish Queen, after the latter had won the first heat in Syracuse, in 2.04 1-4, 2.04 1-4 and 2.04 3-4; yesterday's improvement is a quarter of a second in the third heat.

The outcome of the free-for-all race was a surprise, as Anvil was picked by the talent. However, F. G. Jones had bet about 100 hats that he would beat "Pop" and now he has a fair start for a hat store.

The summary:

TRIED TO SAVE BOY

SALISBURY, N. H., Aug. 16.—Although not a good swimmer, Ernest Lindsey, aged 22 years, made a plucky effort to pull Linus Elliott, aged 19, out of an old swimming hole in Black Water river yesterday and lost his life in the death clutch of his friend, who could not swim.

Edward Elliott, a frail boy of 15, and a brother of Linus, swam out to the aid of the larger boys, but did not have the strength to save them. He helped to recover both bodies later. Lindsey was the only child of a widowed mother.

WHERE LIES THE BLAME?

It has been said that $19.40 is an extortionate tax rate for the citizens of Lowell to pay considering what they get in return, and the blame is generally laid at the door of the city council. The exact degree of their collective responsibility is problematical, but in the last analysis of the question, the blame can be laid directly where it rightfully belongs—not so much on the government as on the electorate. The people get what they vote for and they vote for what they want and the majority does not want either economy or efficiency in the city departments. Commissioner Cummings once said, and he was not contradicted, that in his opinion, the municipal council was not elected because of any especial brilliancy in its individual members. Yet we presume they were elected because the people wanted them, and the more they tap the city treasury for the benefit of bums, heelers and loafers, the more popular will they be with the gang that has the votes or can control the votes. This leads us naturally to ask: "Do the people want a good, economical and efficient government?" We are forced to admit reluctantly that the majority wants nothing of the kind.

At the present time, the public official in Lowell who caters to the dominant element of loafers, grafters, incompetents and other undesirables at the highest possible wages is the most popular man. He cannot hope for election unless aided by their shady and insidious influence; if elected, he cannot hope to stay long in office unless his official actions are on the verge of dishonesty or incipient robbery. From this statement we do not wish it to be inferred that we believe all the members of the present city council to be either incompetent or dishonest. With some notable exceptions they are capable and public spirited and they desire to give the city of their best. But they are confronted with the disheartening conviction that they were supported by many who had unworthy and selfish motives in voting for them. It does not conduce to an efficient and economical government when the men responsible for that government are convinced that their popularity depends on the degree to which they are willing to soak the city and indirectly rob all its citizens. Is it strange that we sometimes hear from city hall: "Is it worth while?"

While this condition of things continues it is difficult, nay almost impossible, to get capable, honest and efficient men to administer municipal affairs on the lines of strict economy and for the sole benefit of the taxpayers. Those whom we do elect cannot always do what their best judgment tells them is for the best interests of the city. The responsibility and finally the liability is with the voter. No matter how freely the money of the city flows or how joyful is the heart of the grafter, every taxpayer pays the bill eventually. Last year we paid some of it; we are now about to pay some more. But it is not primarily a question of $16.40 or $19.40. Are we getting our money's worth? At the risk of repetition we say emphatically: We are not, and we believe the majority of our voters are determined that we shall not.

The business of the city is the business of every taxpayer, the business of every voter. It is all important that this business be conducted economically and efficiently. If it was so conducted we would be immeasurably the gainers. With a highly efficient government we would have all the privileges we now enjoy but we would have far more. We would have good service in all municipal departments—good streets, roads and bridges, good police, fire, and water departments, beautiful parks, public baths, and all the advantages and privileges of a first class municipality. We might possibly lose some of the spectacular features of our present political vaudeville, but we could reconcile ourselves to that loss considering the gain in service.

How are we to get this economical and efficient city government? To what shall we look for relief? We shall get it by education. We shall get it by elevating the standard of civic pride and civic interest. The average voter must be brought to a sense of responsibility, a realization of the nobility of his electoral duty and the ultimate gravity of a misuse of it. The entire city must be plainly shown that after a period of extravagance, waste, graft and incompetence, the people will have to pay the bills. All who are actuated by a desire for genuine public service must aid in this campaign of education, that our present political standard may be raised and that the city governments of the future may be as remarkable for ability, honesty, economy and efficiency as they are at present notable for an absence of some of these rare and necessary qualities. When a majority of our voters show that they want efficiency and economy at city hall, and that they will back up the commissioners in doing their full duty, we will have a city government that will give us our money's worth regardless of what the tax rate may be, and not before.

AMBASSADOR WILSON CENSURED

Every time that Henry Lane Wilson rushes into print, he convinces the people of this country more and more that his resignation was the wisest of his official acts. He is absolutely devoid of a proper sense of the responsibility of his position, and he seems to be ignorant of the fact that as ambassador he was, and still is, a representative of this government in the delicate ways of diplomacy. His personal views on international subjects, whether good or bad in themselves should never have been aired when they were liable to be taken as the views of the administration, and the more his Mexican record is examined the greater will be the sense of relief that he did not get this country into an awkward place. He is not without admirers and apologists, but all people whose patriotism is not of the rabid party brand will admit that he did very wrong when, as American ambassador, he made statements recently for which the president afterwards apologized to the English government.

Under the circumstances the administration acted with rare toleration in not accepting his resignation, to take effect immediately. He should have learned prudence from former indiscretions of speech but evidently he is of the type which does not or will not learn readily. He ought now, however, reserve his vitriolic criticisms on this and other governments until a certain date in October removes the sting from his speech. He has humiliated the chief executive and ought to feel satisfied with his achievement. Incidentally he has vindicated the administration still more for its action in ignoring him. That part of the press which is not condemning him is giving him the charity of its silence.

MEDICAL INSPECTION

"No educational movement in modern times has had more vital relations to the children, to the homes they represent, and to the nation, than medical supervision of school children and the general hygienic movement it typifies," says Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, in a bulletin on medical inspection just issued for free distribution by the bureau.

The bulletin is an "annotated bibliography" of medical inspection literature during the past four years. It was compiled in the division of school hygiene and sanitation. It shows health conditions among school children in a number of different localities, thus making it possible for one community to find out readily what another community similarly situated has accomplished in solving health problems in the schools. The most significant reports that have been presented for various typical localities are summarized for reference.

MISUNDERSTOOD

When the government recently sent inspectors to study meat conditions in South America and Australia, it was quite generally reported in the press that the object of their mission was to encourage the importation of foreign meat under the provisions of the pending tariff bill. This inducing of competition was not the primary object of the investigation. The government wished to get data for the purpose of keeping out of the country all meats produced from diseased cattle, slaughtered in unsanitary establishments or improperly refrigerated. Since 1906, the total production of cattle has been 30 per cent. less than the demand, so that tariff or no tariff, the demand here will cause foreign producers to seek a market in the United States. The department of agriculture therefore wishes to be ready so that the people may be protected from the importation of unwholesome and undesirable meat.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Hits Home

Lawrence Eagle: Aside from the general interest in Lowell affairs as above stated there is also the very important consideration of the extent to which similar conditions prevail in Lawrence. We are frank to say that we think Lawrence is better governed than Lowell. From the financial side it is to be noted that the tax rate although high is considerably lower than in the up-river city. The only question that arises is whether Lawrence is today receiving the return for the money expended that it should. In the past the answer was unquestionably in the negative. Conditions under the commission form of government have been better. Has the maximum efficiency been reached even yet? We think not. It is some gain, however, to be able to note a slight progress. Probably by keeping everlastingly at it and insisting that only competent men be elected to municipal office still better results can be obtained.

New Movies

Christian Science Monitor: A number of American municipalities are talking of making use of motion pictures for the purpose of enlightening the public with regard to public improvements, etc. The idea is a good one, and it will be all the better if the pictures are shown in the open air as a summer evening playground attraction.

Sulzer's Impeachment

Nashua Telegraph: Governor Sulzer may be well content to submit his defences to this tribunal, for the opinions of the associate judges will carry great weight with the members of the senate and assure an impartiality of reasoning and determination which did not exist in the assembly. It is further certain that the offense must indeed be grave and the misconduct proven beyond a reasonable doubt before a two-thirds vote can be obtained for the crushing condemnation of removal and disqualification for public office.

Monroe Doctrine

Brockton Times: A contemporary finds that a great many men who talk glibly about the Monroe doctrine would be in trouble if called upon to explain it. This probably is meant to apply to members of congress, where much of the glib talking is being done lately, but why not apply it to everybody. The Monroe doctrine's possibilities are still subject of dispute among very wise men.

False Alarm

Newport News: It is announced from London that there is no foundation whatever for the story that Great Britain is to build a "big" naval base at Bermuda, or that the re-construction of the British West Atlantic squadron is in any way prejudicial to American interests. On the contrary, it is said, if what is about to be done by Great Britain be regarded without bias, it will be realized that the intention is conceived in a spirit entirely friendly to the United States.

The Burden

Boston Post: In a statement expressing his very natural chagrin at the late entrance of Augustus P. Gardner as a contestant for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Col. Benton says: "I became a candidate for this office at a time when no one else showed any willingness to undertake the burden."

Big Crops

Boston Herald: It is going to be another great year in the big staple crops of the west and south, the crops that figure most prominently in the exports of the country, in the prosperity of its many and varied industries, and in its transportation and its banking interests. The earlier forecasts of the government experts are sustained by the judgment of those who study the situation now that the summer is drawing to a close.

Ambassador Wilson

Lewiston Sun: President Wilson cannot be blamed if he removes Ambassador Wilson at once. He has long ago talked too much. Whatever is to be said in favor of his official conduct before his return, he has talked so too much since he landed in New York that his removal would have been warranted at any time.

Juvenile Hoodlums

Salem News: It is time for mollycoddling with juvenile hoodlums to cease. Our police and district courts are encouraging hoodlumism by their namby-pamby treatment of these cases. Worse than that, they are breeding in the communities professional criminals. Again and again has the fact been demonstrated in our superior courts that the lack of a salutary parental check or a want of some punishment by the lower courts has led young men on to a criminal life.

MISSIONARY MURDERED

Slain by Brigands in Asiatic Turkey

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—The Rev. Charles H. Holbrook of Lynn, a missionary to Asiatic Turkey, was shot and killed by brigands, according to a cablegram received last night by the Rev. Dr. James L. Barton, secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

The cablegram corroborated a despatch received earlier in the night from Constantinople.

While the details of the shooting have not been fully learned, it was stated that the missionary was shot down without the slightest provocation. The brigands escaped to the mountains.

Suffered Eczema 50 Years—Now Well

Seems a long time to endure the awful burning, itching, smarting, skin-disease known as "tetter"—another name for eczema. Seems good to realize, also, that Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment has proven a perfect cure. Mrs. D. L. DENIES HE KILLED WIFE

Charlton Says He's Innocent of Crime

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—"I did not kill my wife. I will come back a free man."

This is the last statement of Porter D. Charlton, self-confessed wife-murderer, made to a reporter yesterday before he left for Italy to be tried for killing his wife.

This assertion on the part of Charlton came as a startling revelation. The Italian government has full stenographic reports of his confession made on June 23, 1910, while under arrest in New York.

Charlton confessed that he killed his wife and gave the full details. Charlton said in his confession that he and his wife had been having supper together at their villa on Lake Como, and that they had engaged in a violent quarrel. Charlton said that his wife, who was one of the best women in the world, but had an ungovernable temper, called him some vile names and that finally when he could stand it no longer he had struck her on the head with a wooden mallet.

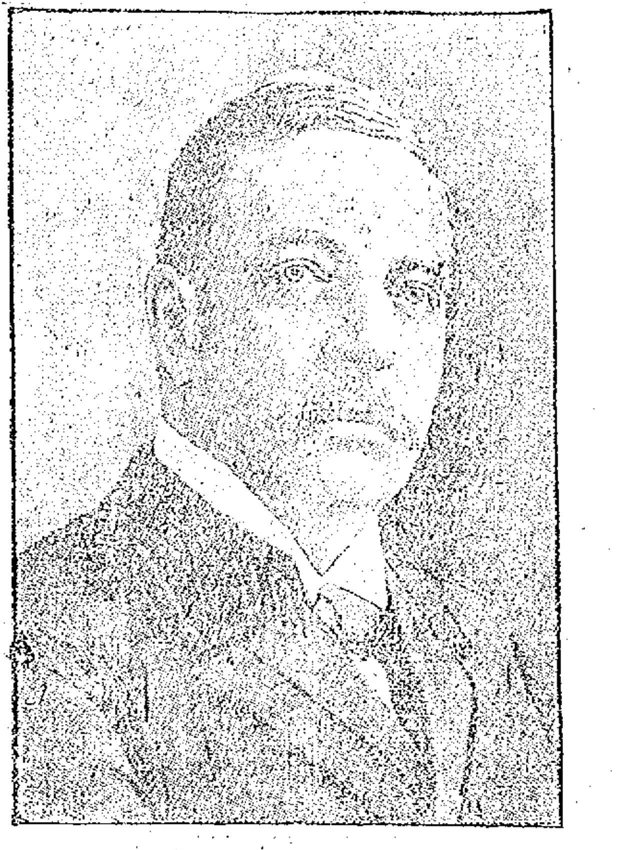
CURTIS GUILD SIGNALLY HONORED BY CZAR NICHOLAS OF RUSSIA



FORMER GOVERNOR CURTIS GUILD

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Former Ambassador of the United States to Russia Curtis Guild, has been signally honored by Czar Nicholas.

The decoration of St. Alexander, the second highest honor within the gift of the Russian emperor, has been conferred upon Mr. Guild, an honor which not only brings glory to the recipient, but to the country which he so ably represented on many occasions.

The order of St. Alexander is second only to that of St. Peter, and the conferring of the great honor by Czar Nicholas on Mr. Guild indicates the high esteem in which he was held by the emperor.

The announcement of the conferring of the honor was made last night at the Russian embassy at Newport, R. I., by Russian Ambassador to the United States George Bakhmeteff. It followed the receipt of a cable from the Russian department of state.

Ambassador Bakhmeteff said that the former ambassador to his country from the United States had received notification of the honor several days ago, and that he had complimented him upon it during a visit with Mrs. Bakhmeteff to the Guild summer home at Nahant.

Former Ambassador Guild was at the Hotel Touraine late last night, but had retired when a reporter called.

WOMAN COULD NOT WALK

She Was So Ill—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pentwater, Mich.—"A year ago I was very weak and the doctor said I had a serious displacement. I had backache and bearing down pains so bad that I could not sit in a chair or walk across the floor and I was in severe pain all the time. I felt discouraged as I had taken everything I could think of and was no better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am strong and healthy."—Mrs. ALICE DARLING, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 77, Pentwater, Mich.

Read What Another Woman says:

Peoria, Ill.—"I had such backaches that I could hardly stand on my feet. I would feel like crying out lots of times, and had such a heavy feeling in my right side. I had such terrible dull headaches every day and they would make me feel so drowsy and sleepy all the time, yet I could not sleep at night.

"After I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a week I began to improve. My backache was less and that heavy feeling in my side went away. I continued to take the Compound and am cured.

"You may publish this if you wish."—Miss CLARA L. GAUWITZ, R.R. No. 4, Box 62, Peoria, Ill.

Such letters prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for woman's ills. Why don't you try it?

EDUCATION IN SOUTH

Development of County Life Great Problem

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Development of country life in the United States is the greatest problem facing the nation today in the opinion of Walter H. Page, American ambassador to Great Britain. The ambassador's views are set forth in a bulletin on "Education in the South" issued today by the United States Bureau of Education.

"We have just passed through a period of organization of the machinery of the modern world," he declared, "making the city and the railroad, but the country has been left out. Now we must build it up. We all know that in the coming centuries as in the past, the character and virtues of American life will come from the soil."

The ambassador refers enthusiastically to the effects of the educational propaganda in the southern states and to the influence of the conference for education in the south.

"We began with the school and the child and we close with them, of course" he set forth, in alluding to the educational campaign in Dixie land, "but every step has been toward a widening democratic ideal, to see how we could help one another and we have come to have a broadening sense of all that cooperation means."

Decisions Rendered

Judge Enright rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff for $100 and costs in the case of Joseph J. Rayball vs. Charles L. Marren in yesterday's civil session of the local police court. It was alleged that the plaintiff was injured while on the defendant's premises. William H. Bent appeared for the plaintiff and Edward I. Taylor for the defendant.

In the case of Whoscesk Jonokski vs. Deputy Sheriff Edward W. Clark, Judge Enright found for the defendant. This case was also an action of tort in which the plaintiff alleged that the defendant had sold certain goods upon which he, the plaintiff carried a mortgage.

TWO CHAPEL STREET GIRLS MISSING

Two little girls, Gertrude Kane of 107 Chapel street and Molly Harrington also of Chapel street, mysteriously disappeared yesterday afternoon and have not been heard of since. The last time either of them was seen was about three o'clock in the afternoon. The children are aged seven and ten years, respectively. The police have been notified and are on the watch for the two missing girls. The children live directly opposite each other and are playmates, so that in all probability they are together.

CAVANAGH NOT IN IT

Is Not a Candidate for Lieutenant Governor

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Two contests for positions on the republican state ticket were eliminated yesterday when James F. Cavanagh of Everett withdrew as candidate for lieutenant governor, and A. P. Langtry of Springfield announced that he would not run for the nomination for secretary of state.

This leaves second place clear for Col. August A. Goetting of Springfield and William S. Kinney of Boston is unopposed for the secretary of state nomination.

Cavanagh in his statement said he withdrew because of the belief that his candidacy will handicap Col. Benton. He was Benton's campaign manager before the primaries last year.

Mr. Langtry announced that he has accepted the tender by Gov. Foss of the position of chairman of the state house extension commission, and will devote his entire time to the work of enlarging the state house.

A statement by Congressman Gardner was given out last night telling his plans for the immediate future. He expects to begin his speaking campaign in earnest Sept. 7.

This afternoon Gardner, Gov. Foss and Col. Benton will meet at the Essex County Republican club's outing at Lynnfield. The governor said last evening that he had not prepared any speech.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A meeting of the Passaconaway tribe, 32, Red Men was held in their wigwam in Odd Fellows building last night with Sachem Daniel E. Starkey on the stump. It was reported that a number of applications for membership had been received and a large initiation is planned. A communication was received from G. C. of R. Alexander Gilmore of Boston, giving a good account of the great council's affairs for the past six months. Remarks on the progress of the tribe were made by the sachem and Brothers G. A. Frost, William H. Martin, E. Crompton and Degree Master J. H. Hickey.

Stationary Firemen

At the meeting of local 14, International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, held in Cotton Spinners hall, the matter of taking part in the Labor day parade was taken up and it was voted to turn out in full force. It was also voted to wear a large badge while parading. A committee was appointed to serve refreshments after the parade. Joseph Spillane was elected to act as chief marshal.

HOTEL WIPED OUT BY FIRE

Entire Town of Hampton, N.H., Threatened

BRAVERY OF HELLO GIRL SAVES MANY BUILDINGS

Woman an Invalid, Owes Her Escape From Hotel to the Work of Two Young Men

HAMPTON, N. H., Aug. 16.—A fire, starting in a defective flue in the northeast corner of the Hotel Echo, yesterday afternoon reduced the hotel to ashes, destroyed the parsonage of the First Baptist church, considerably damaged the Hampton telephone exchange, and threatened to wipe out the entire section of the town.

One woman, an invalid, owes her escape from the hotel to the work of two Hampton young men. The damage done is estimated at $30,000 and before the blaze finally was extinguished the entire local fire department and a number of pieces of apparatus from Portsmouth and Exeter were at work.

That the assistance of the out of town apparatus was gained, was due much to the daring of Miss Alzita Hanson, an operator in the telephone exchange, who despite the fact that the exchange was aflame stuck to her post and observing the spreading of the fire sent in calls to the fire headquarters of all the neighboring towns and cities.

Forty guests were at the hotel when the fire first was noticed. Several of the more daring rushed to their rooms and secured their clothing and valuables. However, much personal property was consumed, including $3000 worth of jewels, the property of Mrs. Eliza Hubbard of St. Louis.

Dry as tinder, the wooden hotel was devoured by the flames within half an hour. Flames were shooting from the three floors when it became known that Miss Maria Gardner still was within the building. Fred Therreault and Albert W. Weeks were among the first to learn of this. They rushed to the woman's room through smoke-filled and blazing corridors, finally succeeding in locating her and at desperate risk carried her to the street below.

Scarcely had the blaze spread through the hotel when flying sparks set fire to the adjoining parsonage, occupied by the Rev. C. M. Phillips and his family. Prior to the catching fire of his home the preacher had gathered together his family and taken them to the home of a neighbor.

He then returned and with the assistance of firemen and bystanders succeeded in rescuing the greater part of his valuables and several costly pieces of furniture.

In the meantime, the flames had spread to the telephone exchange. The operator, Miss Hanson, was besought to leave the building, but she bravely refused and her work in summoning assistance from Portsmouth and Exeter largely was responsible for the early checking of the flames.

CLOSING EXERCISES

Greek Summer School in Market Street Closed Yesterday—Day and Evening Classes Well Attended

The pupils of the Greek summer school held their closing exercises yesterday at the school, 367 Market street. The affair was public and largely attended, and the exercises which were under the direction of the principal, Miss Vasilike Valtses, assisted by Misses Florence Pitcher and Reba Eaton, teachers, were very pleasing.

The program consisted of prayers, songs and a calisthenic drill, this being followed by an exhibition of the different work performed by the little ones during their class term. At the close of the exercises the principal addressed the gathering, thanking the public in general for the support of the school, and she told several interesting facts concerning the school.

The number of registered pupils at the evening class was 100, while during the day the young women had between 35 and 40 boys and girls in their care.

BATTLE WITH ARMED ROBBER

Boston Merchant Keeps Fighting in Spite of Revolver

Pretended Customer Attacks Proprietor But Forced to Flee

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Morris Segal beat off a robber who seized him by the throat and threatened him with a revolver in his store at 298 Tremont street yesterday afternoon, and fought until the intruder, driven toward the door was glad to seek safety in flight.

Though stinging from a farewell blow, Segal dashed out of the door in pursuit, but the robber ran too swiftly for him.

When the young man entered the store and asked to see some shirts Segal noticed nothing particular about him. The proprietor led the young man to the rear and took down several boxes of shirts. As he turned the pretended customer seized him by the throat.

Unable to make any outcry, Segal nevertheless, put up a game fight. They struggled all around the rear of the store. The young man got Segal down and held him while he drew a revolver from his hip pocket.

He pointed the weapon at the proprietor and commanded him to stand up, shut up and lead the way to the cash drawer. Segal stood up, but instead of following the young man's instructions he gave a shout and made a lunge at the stranger.

The man put his hand over Segal's mouth, but the latter kept fighting. The struggle brought them close to the door and the robber gave Segal a parting blow and fled. Segal saw him running quickly through Castle square and down Castle street.

The storekeeper told the police his assailant is about 22 years old and of light complexion, and wore a blue serge suit and soft collar and shirt. The only other clew to his identity is his cap, which he left where it fell during the fight.

STATES PRAY FOR RAIN

Kansas and Missouri Drouth Unbroken

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 16.—Prayers for rain were asked in Kansas and Missouri yesterday by citizens and clergymen, who believe sporadic prayers are not sufficient to end the drouth that has beset the southwest for more than three weeks.

In Kansas hundreds of persons wrote to Gov. Hodges asking him to issue a proclamation calling for a day of public prayer. The governor declined.

"I believe in the efficacy of prayer," said the governor, "but not in the case of flood or drouths."

Bishop J. J. Hennessy of the Roman Catholic diocese of Wichita, Kan., issued an order that on next Sunday an hour should be given in each church in the diocese for special devotions and "fervent prayer to Our Blessed Lord to terminate the present unusually protracted dry spell."

At Springfield, Mo., Rev. J. F. McDonald, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, announced public services would be held tomorrow to offer prayers for rain. The region around Springfield is experiencing one of the most serious drouths ever known.

The letters to Gov. Hodges were from all parts of the state. Some urged the governor to ask that every resident attend church Sunday morning and that everyone make a prayer of his own. Others urged that the proclamation simply ask each citizen to offer a prayer at his home or at church.

Heat continued unabated yesterday throughout Kansas. There was no precipitation to speak of and last night the situation was the worst since the dry period began.

In Kansas City yesterday two persons died of heat and a dozen prostrations were reported.

PRESIDENT FIRES CANNON

Wilson Touches Button to Open Celebration

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—By touching an electric button in the White House, President Wilson will fire a cannon here this afternoon which is to announce the beginning of the centennial celebration of Perry's victory on Lake Erie and of Chicago's second annual water carnival.

Shortly afterward the Niagara, Commodore Perry's restored flagship, will sail into the harbor off Grant park with a consort of the eight vessels which compose the federal government's Great Lakes fleet. Following the exchange of official courtesies nine wooden war vessels—four bearing the American colors and five flying the Union Jack—replicas of the ships with which the Battle of Lake Erie was fought, took their positions and began a historical reproduction of this fight. The nine ships were built in Chicago and equipped with trick masts and rigging. They were manned by 400 actors, 50 negroes and Indians and 45 sailors, who rehearsed their parts for two weeks.

The battle will be a part of the program every day next week.

The comfort and pleasure of having a clean, light, airy, sanitary office for your patrons as well as yourself, makes work easy in the new Sun building.

MAN WHO BROUGHT OUT CORBETT DEAD

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 16.—P. A. "Bud" Renaud, aged 60, well known in sporting circles for many years, died here last night of cirrhosis of the liver. Renaud was one of the backers of the Sullivan-Kilrain bare knuckle fight in Mississippi in 1889. He also backed James J. Corbett in a fight with Kilrain here in 1891 and is credited with having much to do with bringing out Corbett.

INQUIRY INTO DEATH

Body of Woman Was Found in Room

NORWOOD, Aug. 16.—Town and country officers are investigating the death of Mrs. Marie Lemaire, whose body was found on a couch in her apartment early yesterday morning. While it is commonly believed the woman took poison, nothing definite will be known until a chemical examination is completed.

The body was not found until about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, although it is said last night that remarks were made on the streets Thursday evening that the woman was dead. This was several hours before the police entered the room of the manicure and found her body.

This fact may be explained by the interest taken in the dead woman by her physician, Dr. Thomas F. Carroll. The latter was instrumental in finding the body, reporting to the police that he feared something had happened to her because of her absence from business since early Wednesday morning. He had repeatedly telephoned to her house and had called there and received no response to his knocks on the door.

LAWRENCE TAX LIMIT

Remains at $12 Per Thousand

LAWRENCE, Aug. 16.—The city council yesterday voted not to change the tax rate of $12 per $1000 for current expenses after a hearing in accordance with the recent legislation by which municipalities are permitted to establish their own rates. Hon. Frederick N. Chandler, John F. Hogan, Dr. M. F. Sullivan and others opposed any increase.

Counsel appeared before the board in behalf of Acting City Marshal Sullivan and Patrolmen James A. Sullivan and Nicholas Fortune against whom a verdict had been rendered for alleged false arrest of Harvey Brisson of Haverhill. The policemen desired that the city should pay the verdict of $783. Action was deferred until the next meeting.

Mayor Scanlon said relative to his proposed plan of an evening industrial school that the state board of education would not meet to pass upon it until Sept. 12.

PIMPLES COVERED ENTIRE BODY

Spread to Head and Formed Thick Crust. Burning Itching As If On Fire. Scratched Day and Night. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Two Months

20 Grace St., Springfield, Mass.—"When my little boy was born he had a clean and clear skin, but at the end of a month I perceived that he was breaking out on the forehead and left arm with a quantity of red pimples which discharged and spread until they covered his entire body. It spread rapidly to his head and formed a thick crust which discharged. This trouble caused him a burning itching as if he were on fire. He began to scratch until the blood flowed in abundance; he scratched day and night without being able to sleep. I kept his hands, arms and legs bandaged for a year. You can imagine what a grieved mother I was.

"I tried three treatments which did not afford him any relief. He scratched himself until he was three years old. It was then I commenced to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. At the first application I perceived that the itching was not so intense so I continued with assurance. At the end of two months my child was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Ulderic Auclair, Mar. 31, 1913.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

An Evening Gown that has Many Practical Qualities

The Business Woman finds the Shirtwaist her Best Stand-By

Keeping Up With Oriental Modes On $12 a Week—Where a Dollar Does the Work of Two—Extreme Styles Must Be Passed By—Special Sales vs. Bargain Counters.

ONLY the woman who has tried it, realizes the disheartening features of endeavoring to be modish on what is left from board and keep. The balance between the necessities of living and the desirabilities of adornment is so distressingly uneven; one eats so much; yet good, nourishing food is imperative if satisfactory work is to be turned out each day. Distances are so far, if one lives in a locality where rents are reasonable; yet carfares must be paid twice daily. Bed and board, carfare and laundry—the eternal must-haves of daily existence—on even a minimum basis cost quite as much whether one is earning ten dollars a week or twenty; the difference has to be made in one's clothes, and as every business woman knows well, a ten-dollar-a-week difference in dress is immeasurable as far as outward appearance and inward satisfaction are concerned.

It is a wise business girl who looks conditions squarely in the face, sets her soul sternly against the enticements of longed-for-pretty things in dress, and with pen and paper in hand, decides just what shall be spent for needed wearables—and just what wearables may be afforded. This list should be planned on the basis of the year's salary; the total amount apportioned for dress being divided into weekly sums; these sums to be set aside religiously—even if one has to race home on Saturday afternoons in order to resist the temptations of small bargains in the shops. All the department stores make a specialty of "bargains" that will appeal to low wage-earners on the half holiday; and aisle-counters teem with "special values" in neckwear, shirtwaists, near-silk stockings, embroidery, petticoats, imitation shell pins for the hair, trinkets and jewelry.

Keep Away From Bargain Counters.

All of these things, desirable as they seem when the eye—hungry for pretty things—lights on them in the shop, could be very easily done without, as one usually discovers when the packages come home; and several dollars may have been frittered away when new boots or warm underwear are really needed, and when an imminent change of seasons demands the closest economy because of necessary new raiment soon to be purchased.

There is a vast difference between the Special Sale and the Bargain Counter. The former is the business woman's best friend while the latter is her Waterloo. At the Special Sale really excellent merchandise is advertised, and sold, at lower prices than it is worth to attract custom, and very often rare values are to be picked up at such sales, especially in the mid-season weeks when exclusive models have been marked down for quick dispersal. The bargain counter, on the other hand, is the merchant's device for getting rid of unsaleable goods. Out of date blouses, misfits, failures and other hopeless items of his stock are thus shuffled off at attractively marked prices before it is too late for him to dispose of them at all. And, if one stops to think, the marked down price is really not so far below the ordinary, reasonable price of an article of the same class, sold in the ordinary way.

The Wisdom Of Buying At Special Sales.

On the other hand, the special sale advertisements should be religiously conned in the Sunday newspapers and their opportunities compared with the twin lists which the canny business girl keeps on hand. One of these lists contains the must-haves and the other the may-haves-if-they-are-cheap-enough. The must-haves of course come up for first consideration. They include, also of course, all the uninteresting items of dress, like winter underwear, rubber overshoes, hairpins and bodice-shields. These must be provided, willy-nilly and if the offerings of the special sale will help, so much the better. The may-haves include the dear desirable things that make other women look so attractive and that are really not so very expensive—only just beyond one's reach.

It is exactly here that the inestimable aid of the special sale comes in. Against the shirtwaist tabulated in the must-have list, the maximum possibility of cost—say $2—has been set down, this cost coming within the apportioned allowance for dress. Now if a perfectly good shirtwaist of the sort needed is obtainable through the special sale, for $1.50, there is the amount of fifty cents which may be turned into the may-have account with celerity. Thus does the able little financier on ten or twelve dollars a week, juggle her accounts quite pardonably and achieve by means of shrewdness and the beneficent special sale, an appearance that would be absolutely impossible if on the half-holiday afternoons she meandered aimlessly through the shopping district, squandering on alluring bargains of Saturday leftovers, the pennies that might go so much farther if well spent.

What The Business Woman Should Wear.

There is no hard and fast rule for business dressing—with the exception of the two adamantine requirements; neatness and inconspicuousness. As a business woman's salary increases she finds that her requirements in dress increase in proportion. So long as the little stenographer at eight dollars a week is exquisitely neat, no one will criticize her simple ten dollar suit or her ninety-eight cent shirtwaist—and she may do her fluffy hair as becomingly and pretty as she chooses, to distract attention from her humdrum raiment.

But more is expected of the high-salaried woman behind a roll top desk. The cheap suit and shirtwaist can do her real harm and she must—so to speak—"dress up to her job"; that is, her clothes must be, while quiet in tone and unostentatious in style, well made and of handsome materials. Good taste will always preclude the wearing of satins, velvets and ostrich plumes in a business office, and extreme fashions will also be sedulously avoided; but the high-salaried business woman is fastidiously particular about the cut of her tailored wear, the trimness of her blouses, the smartness of hat, boots and gloves, and the exquisite grooming of coiffure and hands.

One-Piece Frocks For Business Wear.

The walking coat accompanies a trotteur frock of dark blue serge, the ideal wool fabric for office wear since it sheds dust so easily, and is easy to keep clean. Mohair fulfills the same conditions and is excellent for cool, lightweight trotteur—or rather office—frocks. It must seem rather ironical to the business girl, to call the costume in which she sits tied to a desk all day, her "trotabout frock!" Drapery is not for a dusty office and such a frock should be simply made with flat braid trimmings, folds or pipings on the skirt and a long sleeved bodice brightened with a little Oriental embroidery, buttons and the pipings so high in favor now. A plain, dark colored frock of this character, relieved by white collar and cuffs is in the best taste for office wear; but the collar and cuffs should not be of lace. Fine linen lawn, hemstitched and edged with a little machine embroidery makes dainty belongings of this sort; or one may buy machine embroidered sets of this kind which have real distinction, at very modest prices.

The useful walking coat may also be worn over the occasional festive frock which must travel to the half-holiday festivity by way of the office through the morning hours. Every business woman requires such a frock—indubitably lifted above the humdrum raiment of "every day," yet not so gay or conspicuous in its style that it will be distinctly out of place in the office. This frock, for the summer season, may be a simple, draped model of silk, eponge, ratine or other thin, fine cotton material, with not too elaborate trimmings in the way of machine embroidery and cluny or filet lace. The typical lingerie frock of semi-transparent character should not be worn in the busy downtown office atmosphere but charming frocks of cotton voile or crepe trimmed with embroidered banding or allover embroidery may be picked up—if one is the happy possessor of a stock figure—that is, so proportioned that one can step into a No. 36 or 38 model without the necessity of a great deal of alteration. Summer frocks are marked down for quick dispersal soon after the middle of June and by July fifteenth rare bargains are often obtainable. The admirable little frock pictured, is of cream white silk poplin with a smart bolero bodice opening over a blouse of creamy batiste allover. The waistcoat of pale blue moire silk trimmed with pearl buttons and the sleeve frills of shadow lace add smartness to the frock. The hat of white straw with a band of white satin and a pink rose, is also simple while charmingly pretty.

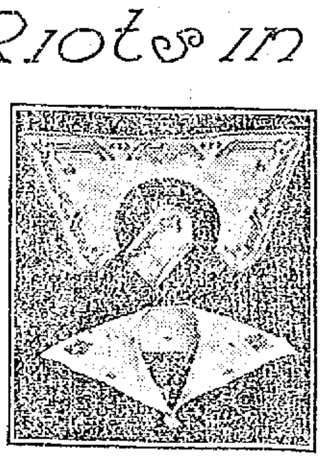
The Tailored Suit Should Be Modish But Not Extremely So.

Now is the time to be on the lookout for a smart coat and skirt suit which will answer for wear all through the autumn until the heavy winter coat is donned. Dozens of such models are being offered at special sales every day, and more will be added to the list as the weather grows warmer. The wise business woman, in selecting a tailored suit, makes sure that the color is a safe one, that the material and workmanship are good and that the style of the garment is not too pronounced to endure through two seasons. The coat and skirt suit pictured has the hall marks of newness—the gathered, belted back, the cutaway line and the draped skirt, yet none of these features are extreme.

The blouse pictured is a new Bulgarian model of tucked white crepe with pipings of Nell rose and a Bulgarian printed cotton collar in tones of rose and green.

The business woman's evening gown is most serviceable when the skirt, at least, is made of dark or medium-dark material that may appear in the street under the walking coat, along with buttoned walking boots; for opera wraps and satin slippers are not for the ordinary business woman. In this day when the light bodice and dark skirt make a fashionable combination, the problem is easily solved. The theatre and evening gown pictured is an excellent model. The skirt, with its oriental drapery and slight train, is of black lansdowne, a silk and worsted fabric that drapes most gracefully. Over a bodice of shirred lace pass shoulder straps of embroidered white chiffon. The wide sleeve is lined with pink silk and the sash and bow are of pink velvet. Various bodices of lace and net, some high-necked, some decollete in style, would make this costume suitable for many different occasions.

New Neckwear Riots in Color



New Shoulder-Point Collars with Bulgarian Embroideries.

ONE grows almost as weary of the term "Bulgarian" applied to collar-wear, as one did of the overworked "Robespierre" of last winter. Everything that owns to a blush or a gleam of color is now called Bulgarian by the enterprising but unimaginative shop-keeper who hangs on to a profitable idea as does a cat to a mouse—and worries it to death, too.

Color is undoubtedly the keynote of new neckwear and it is interesting to note the many original and clever ways the designers have found for introducing color. Most exclusive of course are the Oriental embroideries and many a woman who has cherished for years some rare bit of Chinese altar cloth or mandarin robe, centuries old and richly gorgeous in even its faded coloring, is now ruthlessly slashing it up to make a modish set of collar and cuffs. After a while she will regret the vandalism but now the color craze has become an obsession and everybody has fallen into line.

Several imitation Chinese embroidered effects are illustrated. These imitations are wonderfully clever, and produce with surprising fidelity the motifs and colors of the Chinese handwork but they are only distant cousins of the genuine Chinese embroideries whose beauty must be seen to be appreciated. The collar at the upper left hand corner of the illustration is in shades of dull, stone blue, pale yellow and apricot, with dashes of terra cotta in the T-shaped devices scattered here and there. To the right of this collar is one in shaded blues—the wonderful deep blues of Chinese embroidery combined with cloudy whites. Below this blue collar is a dainty model in shades of blue and shrimp pink. These three collars fit closely around the neck and are intended for wear with trotteur frocks of dark serge or mohair, or summer frocks of linen in tailored style. The handsome collar with cuffs to match, shown at the lower left hand corner, are designed for coat wear, the collar being shaped so that it opens at either side of a coat front. If desired the cuffs may be used as a little vest with a fastening effected by small buttons and cord loops at the center. This collar and cuff set is not Chinese, but Persian, in design and a jewel motif is incorporated into the intricate floral and leaf pattern. The colors include Persian blues, soft, dull pinks, brown and citron green. A set of this sort was used with charming effect on a citron green lansdowne gown, made up recently for an April wedding. Lansdowne is a silky worsted and silk weave which drapes to perfection and the gown boasted one of the most distinguished draped skirts of the spring season. The bodice was extremely plain and had the loose, graceful lines that Mme. Nazimova affects—and the wearer of the gown, incidentally, had the long, graceful, sinuous lines which, only, would make a Nazimova type of costume possible. To go back to the lansdowne bodice; it fastens down one side of the front with big buttons of dull gold in an Oriental filagree effect and is girdled at the padded waistline by a wide, soft sash of satin in the citron shade of the gown. What is a padded waistline? The very latest caprice of fashion for achieving the natural, peasant which is just now the ideal. Paris and New York dressmakers are now laying a thin layer of cotton wadding over the dress lining just at the waistline, to prevent anything like an inward curve at this point, for the straighter the figure from shoulder to hip, the happier the result—from fashion's standpoint.

To return again to the citron colored lansdowne gown, the rich, subdued color effect and exaggerated simplicity of line was offset brilliantly by the deep collar and cuffs of blue and dull pink Persian embroidery, and the hat—a small model of olive green milan had a sweeping plume in the dull blue shade, a pink rose nestling at the front of the brim. This enchanting costume was completed by gloves in the faintest tint of buff and buttoned boots with tops of citron green suede.

Much simpler in type, but fashionably Bulgarian in character, are the collars shown in the smaller illustration. Both of these collars are in the new shoulder-point effect, with long points extending out toward the side while the depth at the back is scarcely anything at all. This is a collar-shape of great popularity and even lace and machine embroidery collars made from wide bandings, are mitred and seamed to produce the shoulder-point effect. Seams in a collar, by the way, are no disgrace now and are apt to appear anywhere—up the centre back, obliquely, from tip of points to neck, or slanting across the collar in any other direction that seems to have come handy to scissors or needle. A year ago the seam in a collar would have been avoided at any price—even if one had to purchase a whole half yard extra of expensive material; now the seam is quite the usual thing and, if anything, adds to the smartness of the collar.

The collar and cuff set at the top of the illustration shows Bulgarian embroidery—or what by courtesy is dubbed Bulgarian embroidery—on a ground of pale blue ratine. The colors of the embroidery are terra cotta, brick red, orange and dull green. The second collar is of white linen with embroidery in two-tone effect in shades of blue. Bulgarian bows set against a background of looped velvet in vivid color contrast, are shown for wear with these colored collars and also with pure white collars in Appenzello embroidered effects. The close imitations of hand embroidery is one of the triumphs of the St. Gall mills this season. Most extraordinary effects have been produced in machine embroideries and the dainty pieces of neck and cuff wear are no small part of these effects.

Some of the gay Bulgarian patterns have been produced by stenciling linen in color and putting an outline of embroidery floss around the stenciled design. An interesting development along this line is the Cubist neckwear, made of string colored linen with stenciled and embroidered designs showing almost grotesque, angular shapes and motifs in most charming color combinations. Nobody can tell what the motifs are intended to represent, which is of course quite in line with the Cubist idea and one may contend that one's shirtwaist collar typifies an elephant descending a scenic railway or a group of infant alligators at play, with perfect propriety.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Middlesex, ss.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners for the County of Middlesex, at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, to wit, by adjournment at said Cambridge on the fifteenth day of July, A. D. 1913.

On the foregoing petition ordered, that the Sheriff of said County, or his Deputy, give notice to all persons and corporations interested therein, that said Commissioners will meet for the purpose of viewing the premises and hearing the parties at the Selectmen's Room, Billerica, September 5, 1913, at 9.30 o'clock a. m., by serving the Clerk of the Town of Billerica with a copy of said petition and of this order thereon, thirty days at least before said view, and by publishing the same in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper printed at Lowell, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and also by posting the same in two public places in the said Town of Billerica, fourteen days before said view; and that he make return of his doings herein, to said Commissioners, at the time and place fixed for said view and hearing.

FREDERIC L. PUTNAM, Asst. Clerk.
Copy of petition and order thereon,
Attest,
FREDERIC L. PUTNAM, Asst. Clerk.
A true copy, attest,
EDWARD W. CLARK,
Deputy Sheriff.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Middlesex, ss.

Whereas, at a meeting of the County Commissioners for said County, at Cambridge, on the first Tuesday of June, A.D. 1913.

On the petition of the inhabitants of Dunstable for the relocation of High street from its junction with Main street, near the Town Hall, northerly, about 1500 feet to land of Byron H. Brown, and also, a certain public way, beginning at Main street, a short distance easterly of the Town Hall, and running northerly about 480 feet to its intersection with High street; and for the relocation of Main street from its junction with the east side of High street (near the Town Hall) westerly about thirty-four (3400) feet to a stone about one hundred (100) feet east of where Salmon Brook crosses said street, and Pleasant street from its junction with Main street for a distance of one hundred (100) feet southerly of said Main street, it was adjudged that said relocations are of common convenience and necessity:

Said Commissioners therefore give notice that they will meet at the Town Hall, in said Dunstable, on the twelfth day of September next, at 10.15 of the clock in the forenoon, to locate accordingly.

WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.
A true copy, attest,
ALBERT A. FILLEBROWN,
Deputy Sheriff.

EXPECT HUERTA TO ACT NEXT

Report That Views of U. S. are Being Considered by Huerta Government

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—Administration officials here expect the next move in the Mexican situation to come from the Huerta government. Official advices that the views of the United States as set forth in a formal note had been delivered to the Mexican government and were under consideration by Provisional President Huerta and his cabinet were received here today, with the additional information that the views of the United States had been transmitted at the same time to diplomatic representatives of foreign governments in Mexico City, according to President Wilson's original plan.

Secretary Bryan preserved silence today, even declining to say whether the note had been presented. President Wilson, after going over the situation, left for the golf links. The Mexican embassy here had no advices whatever of Mr. Lind's note; it had not been advised of its contents by the state department here and embassy officials expected to receive it, if at all, from Minister Gamboa in Mexico City.

Publication of this government's views as set out in the note is being withheld for the present at the request of the Huerta government, that it be first permitted to go over the communication. Secretary Bryan's plan is to publish the contents simultaneously in Washington and Mexico City later and probably with the acquiescence of Huerta.

The senate foreign relations committee again today discussed phases of the Mexican situation and the scope of the report by the special investigating committee of which Senator Smith of Michigan was chairman.

The committee directed that this report and an individual report by Senator Fall should be laid before the entire foreign relations committee, probably next week, for decision whether they shall be submitted to the senate. None of the pending resolutions on Mexican affairs was acted upon.

THREE SQUARE MILES OF TIMBER ON FIRE

LEWISTON, Maine, Aug. 16.—Three square miles of timber land are in the grasp of a forest fire today on the Bradbury road in the outskirts of this city.

Starting yesterday at noon, the fire has raged continuously since, destroying more than 500,000 feet of standing lumber owned by the Webster woolen mills of Sabattus. A shift in the wind would threaten several farm houses.

SULZER AND GLYNN

shortly before 11 o'clock. He declined to comment on the situation beyond saying that he expected to see Mr. Herrick during the day.

Mr. Glynn reached the capitol shortly after Mr. Sulzer and went directly to the lieutenant governor's office.

"The conference between my lawyers and Judge Herrick yesterday afternoon was mainly a courtesy toward Judge Herrick," he said. "I did not entirely approve of it and my counsel acted on their own initiative. They did not feel disposed to turn down any proposals without knowing what those proposals were. When we learned what they were we found it would be impossible to agree to them."

Mr. Glynn declined to say whether he would send a message or communication to the legislature when it meets next Tuesday.

Prepare Case for Trial

The breach between Sulzer and Glynn is complete and there will be no further conferences between their counsel, so far as now known, on the question of submitting the controversy to the courts. D-Cady Herrick, Sulzer's chief counsel, in so announcing today, said that he did not expect to make public any plans of lawyers for the impeached executive.

"We are preparing our case for trial," Mr. Herrick said. "I do not expect to see Gov. Sulzer today, but will close my office at noon and do not expect to come back to it until Monday."

"Do you expect to confer further with Mr. Glynn's lawyers?" he was asked.

"How can we?" he replied. "Negotiations have been refused. The only thing now is to prepare for trial, and that we are doing. And, of course, we don't intend to confide our plans to the newspapers."

WORDS "PHYSICAL FORCE" WERE BROUGHT INTO CONTROVERSY FOR GOVERNOR

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—New York's two governors, after the epistolary clash of yesterday, continued today with increased bitterness their contest for possession of the chief executive's chair and functions.

The proposal of William Sulzer, the impeached governor that he and his rival lay their respective claims before the courts for speedy settlement came to grief last night. Lieutenant Governor Glynn, who claims that he is acting governor by virtue of Sulzer's impeachment, notified Mr. Sulzer that he had no intention of asking any court save the court for the trial of impeachment to decide the question.

Glynn Attacks Sulzer

"It is beyond my power to barter away any of the functions attached to the office in which I am placed by your impeachment," reads Mr. Glynn's reply to Mr. Sulzer's suggestion. "Any attempt on my part to do so or to stipulate a method by which it might be done would properly place me in the position you now occupy—that of being impeached for malfeasance in office. I cannot and will not attempt to do it.

"I hold myself in readiness to perform and shall perform every function of the office of governor except insofar as I am restrained by your illegal action or by physical force."

No one was willing to forecast this morning what the day would bring forth. Among the reports current was one that Mr. Glynn expected to go in person to the executive chamber and attempt to perform the duties of the governor. Mr. Sulzer asserted that he had no intention to relinquish any of the rights of the governorship.

The words "physical force" were brought into the controversy for the first time by Mr. Glynn's letter.

LAST NIGHT WORST PASSED BY MRS. SULZER SINCE BECOMING ILL—BETTER TODAY

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Last night was the worst passed by Mrs. Sulzer since she became ill of a nervous disorder several days ago, but her condition this morning was not alarming, according to bulletins issued by Dr. Robert Abrahams, who was summoned by telephone to return to Albany from New York when Mrs. Sulzer took a turn for the worse yesterday.

"Mrs. Sulzer's condition is not alarming but requires quiet" reads the bulletin issued at 8 o'clock this morning. "The suggestion that she leave town for a few days has been abandoned, as rest in bed is preferable."

During the night Mrs. Sulzer complained of headache and mental depression and had two fainting spells. She slept restlessly, with the aid of sedatives.

WILLIAM WALMSLEY

Severs His Connection With Merrimack Mill and His Employes Present Him a Purse

William E. Walmsley, for a number of years second hand in weave room No. 5 of the Merrimack mill, severed his connection with that department this noon, and his many employes did not want to let the occasion go by without showing him their esteem, and accordingly, presented him a substantial purse.

The young man, although taken entirely by surprise, responded in a fitting manner and assured his friends he would always remember them. Mr. Walmsley has accepted a position of overseer at the Massachusetts mill, and will enter upon his new duties Monday.

DRACUT MILK DEALERS

Arraigned in Judge Enright's Court Today

In police court today Bert A. Cluff of Dracut was found not guilty of keeping milk for sale which was below the standard prescribed by law. Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the defendant and racked the milk inspector and his assistant with a merciless cross-examination. At the conclusion of the government's case Judge Enright allowed the attorney's motion that the case be dismissed on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

John J. Fox of the same town did not escape so lightly when his case for the same offence came to trial. The prosecution here showed that the milk had been taken from a team and not from the barn, as in the case of Cluff. The court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $50. He appealed and was held in the sum of $200 for the superior court.

The Drunken Offenders

George E. Scully only made a short stay in the court room this morning as he was in a very unsanitary condition. He was sent to jail for the next ten days for drunkenness. Philip Nevin was fined $6 for drunkenness. Authur G. Coram, whom Officer Garland of Dracut brought into court, received a fine of $15 upon his promise to leave liquor alone in the future.

For Stealing Apples

A boy was arraigned and fined $10 for entering the orchard adjoining the rectory of St. Anne's church and stealing therefrom, or rather attempting to steal, several apples. Superintendent Welch, in his arraignment of the defendant, informed the court that the police department is trying to stop this nefarious practice and asked that a sufficient penalty be inflicted to deter others from stealing fruit. The boy was very penitent and said he would never do so again.

PARCEL POST RATES IN EFFECT

Weight Limit Increased From Eleven to Twenty Pounds

Box of Georgia Peaches For President Woodrow Wilson

The increased weight limit and reduced rates at which parcel post packages may be sent within the second zone went into effect yesterday. Any distance within 150 miles of a given place is known as within the second zone.

Previous to yesterday the limit of weight did not exceed 11 pounds. Beginning yesterday they have increased the weight within the second zone from 15 to 20 pounds. That is, a package weighing 20 pounds or less may be sent at the regular parcel post rates to any point within 150 miles of the postoffice from which it is sent. The rates are five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional or fraction of a pound up to 20 pounds. The rate for local delivery is five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional two pounds. A small fraction will be charged as if a full pound.

The order as sent out is as follows:

"On and after August 15, 1913, the limit of weight of parcels of fourth-class mail for delivery within the first and second zone shall be increased from 11 pounds to 20 pounds.

"The rate of postage on parcels exceeding four ounces in weight shall be five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional two pounds or fraction thereof when intended for local delivery and five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound or fraction thereof when intended for delivery at other offices within the first and second zones. No changes in rates outside of the second zones.

"The rate for local delivery shall apply to all parcels mailed to a postoffice from which a rural route starts for delivery on such route, or mailed at any point on such route for delivery at any other point thereof, or at the office from which the route starts, or on any rural route starting therefrom, and all matters mailed at a city carrier office or at any point within its delivery limits, for delivery by carriers from that office, at any office for local delivery.

"There is no change in the regulation governing the size of packages, their preparation or the place of mailing, all pieces weighing more than four ounces being mailed at the postoffice or some one of its branches or stations."

President Gets Peaches

Postmaster General Burleson yesterday inaugurated the new regulations changing the parcel post rates and weight limit, by mailing President Wilson a box of fine Georgia peaches. The box, which weighed 17 pounds, with a postage charge of 13 cents, was delivered at the White House early in the day. With it came a note in which the postmaster general said:

To Promote Commerce

"This is an illustration of the opportunity which has been opened to the farmer, the horticulturist, the manufacturer and to every citizen of the country who will avail himself of this valuable adjunct of the postal service in the promotion of the commerce and happiness of our people."

ANOTHER STEP ON CARS

Women Tired of Climb and Handicap

Forced to take action by the combined result of the new styles in clothing, bold, bold men who persist in making up the curbstone audiences which devote time to watching them board the trolley cars, and the merchants who fill their arms with parcels, through the medium of bargain sales, the women of this city and the suburbs plan to start an agitation for an additional step on the trolley cars. If the statements of some individual women are taken at face value there will be a well-organized campaign soon under way through the medium of the innumerable women's organization, and a petition that the street railway company cannot well ignore will be presented to it. Be it known in advance then, that the women think the present steps are too high. And perhaps the movement will be supported by even the wives and daughters of some of the self-same street railway officials who preside over the departments that finally determine where the nickel contributions shall be spent.

"It certainly is horrid the way that men gather on the street corners and watch us board the trolley cars," said one of the foremost agitators yesterday, "the steps are altogether too high and there should be another step. Of course the tight skirts have something to do with it, but if women choose to wear them that is their business. It is the business of the street railway company to provide for the comfort of its patrons under conditions as they are. Women with small children are given unnecessary work because of the high step, and for those with bundles it is almost an impossibility to board a trolley car. And as often as not the conductors calmly remain at the rear end of the car watching, but rarely offering assistance.

Iroquois Won First Prize

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 16.—Eight of the New York Yacht club's one-design class of 50-footers took part in the special race given for them by the Eastern Yacht club yesterday, in a light southeast breeze with a smooth sea.

The Iroquois II., owned by Ralph N. Ellis, was the winner, taking the pieces of silver offered by S. Reed Anthony for first prize.

IDAHO PRESENTED TARGET PRACTICE PENNANT

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16.—Secretary Daniels presented the target practice pennant to the battleship Idaho, the crack ship of the navy here today, and read her officers and crew a lesson in preparedness.

"There never is time to 'make ready' in any truly great crisis in life," said the secretary, commending the crack gunners for their skill. "What is a growing navy worth to us unless manned by men who live in a state of preparedness?

"You may not know it, but it will add to your appreciation when I tell you that as a boy, it was the highest ambition of Woodrow Wilson to enter the naval academy and become a naval officer. If his father had not led him into other lines the probability is that today he would be with us, a captain or an admiral—commanding the New Jersey, let us say—rejoicing with the officers and sailors of the Idaho instead of wrestling with the big problems that have kept him in Washington all summer while you have had the good fortune to be refreshed by the breezes from old ocean."

At Leather Workers' Hall—New Local Has 630 Members

Leader of Machinists' Strike at Gov. Foss' Plant is in Lowell

The mass meeting of machinists held in Leather Workers' hall last night was the largest meeting of machinists ever held in this city. Over 500 men interested in the labor movement were present and at the last moment it was found that the hall depended upon to take care of the overflow from the Leather Workers' hall was engaged. In order that this condition will not be repeated a committee was appointed to engage a hall for next Tuesday night that will be sufficiently large to accommodate everybody.

It was stated at last night's meeting that the new machinists' local, formed only a few days ago, has 630 members and unusual enthusiasm is being manifested in the work begun by Organizer Young who came to Lowell for the purpose of organizing the machinists about a week ago.

The new lodge is a branch of the International Association of Machinists and when all machinists who have signified their intention to join have done so the local branch will be one of the largest in the state.

Willard Ireland presided at the meeting in Leather Workers' hall last night and the speakers included William E. Sproule, Charles E. Anderson, Timothy F. O'Rourke, Harry W. Kingsman, president of the New England district of the machinists and H. G. Grages of Lawrence and Roscoe L. Hall, who has charge of the machinists' end of the strike at Gov. Foss' plant in Hyde Park.

Strike at Governor's Plant

To The Sun man who asked Mr. Hall as to the status of affairs at Gov. Foss' plant at Hyde Park, Mr. Hall said: "Well, we're out, and we are going to stay out until some understanding is arrived at. I represent the machinists in the strike and I want to say that the machinists and others who joined in the strike, about 1500 in all, have used only honorable means before and since the strike.

"Gov. Foss says that politics is at bottom of the Hyde Park trouble and that isn't so. We have appealed to the state board of conciliation and arbitration, but the governor says there's nothing to arbitrate. He is absolutely unfair in the matter.

"We have called his attention to the fact that he believed in arbitration at the time of the Lawrence strike and insisted upon the appointment of a committee of five to do the arbitrating. He acknowledges that is so, but in his case, he says, there is nothing to arbitrate. We have presented him propositions endorsed by the state board of conciliation and arbitration and he ignored them. He has said to us that he and not the state board of conciliation and arbitration is the last court of appeal. In the Lawrence strike he insisted that the strikers return pending a settlement, but now that the shoe is on the other foot he doesn't believe in arbitration."

Organizing Lasters

Mr. Walter H. Emonds of Haverhill is in this city for the purpose of organizing the lasters who formerly were employed at the Federal Shoe company and at the present time are out on strike. Mr. Emonds stated that the lasters at this plant never belonged to the union, but he believes that before he returns he will have all the shoe workers in the city organized.

It is stated that there are 30 lasters out on strike from the Federal Shoe company plant and that all have signified their intention of joining the union. Several meetings have been held in the union rooms in the Runels building during the past week and Organizer Emonds has addressed the men on the question of joining the organization.

Big Shops to Close

It has been announced that the Saco-Lowell machine shops will close their doors for the annual vacation during the week beginning Labor day. All departments of the big shop, including the foundry, will be closed, but the work at the Kitson plant will continue. The shops will open in full on Sept. 8.

An Innovation

Two fast elevators always running and the other up-to-date features of the new Sun building are an innovation for Lowell and the patrons of the building.

TEN ARRESTED FOR RIOTING

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 16.—Ten men, two of whom are said to be private detectives, are under arrest in connection with the rioting here last night in which three men were shot. None of the injured is seriously hurt. George E. Hall and Kenneth Lapsley, the detectives, and Alexander Oreweski, a strikebreaker, are held on charges of shooting with intent to kill. Hall was released today on $10,000 and the others are confined in the county jail. The rioting was the first serious development of the moulders' strike which has been in effect ten months, and which involves 100 men.

No outward signs of trouble were visible today but an under current of unrest prevails to such an extent that the advisability of calling out the state constabulary was under consideration by the sheriff and the mayor.

One of the rioters under arrest is Joseph Nowak, who was released two days ago from the penitentiary where he had served a long sentence for a similar offence. He is said to have been the leader of the demonstration.

Friday, Aug. 22—A modern built block of 16 tenements, No. 183 Perkins street, at 2 p. m. All in Lowell, Mass., and pledgen to the highest bidder, if the conditions of sale are lived up to.

This extraordinary lot of real estate will be sold without limit on the respective premises at the time stated.

Lots Nos. 1 and 2, so called, will be sold Wednesday, Aug. 20, No. 113 Adams street, at 2 p. m. and consist of a substantially built piece of tenement property of six tenements of three rooms each and 2325 square feet of land, more or less. The building sets on the lot so that there is a broad yard in front. The tenements are very conveniently arranged, front and back doors, city water and gas, each tenement has separate toilet and cellar and is always rented to good tenants and has a yearly revenue of $533.00. This is a good renting property on a stone paved street, but a step from Liberty square, near many work shops.

Terms of sale: $200 in cash must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as sold. Other terms at sale.

No. 2—Wednesday, Aug. 20, at 4 p. m. at Nos. 493 and 495 Wilder street. A modern built new two-tenement house that has never been occupied and 7250 square feet of land, more or less. This piece of home property has just been finished and has every modern convenience. Down stairs tenement has front hall, parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, pantry, bath room and chamber with two good chambers upstairs. The rooms are so laid out that you can virtually have all the living rooms in one if you see fit. The second floor is laid out in the same style with the exception that there is a sewing room over the lower hall. There are hard wood floors, soap stone wash trays in the kitchens, soap stone sinks in the pantries, with plenty of closet room and drawers. There is a china closet built in each dining room, has steam heat, separate boiler for each tenement, has electric and gas fixtures, has open plumbing, has hot and cold water. Extra large clothes closets, front and back doors, cemented cellar. The house is two-and-a-half stories, slate roof, handsome design, piazzas, and bay windows, in fact everything to make this an ideal home for some one, near two lines of cars, in a good neighborhood. I feel that you will never find a better location or a more up-to-date two-tenement house than this is.

Terms of sale: $500 in cash must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as sold. Other terms at sale.

Lots Nos. 3 and 4, Thursday, Aug. 21, at 2 p. m., at Nos. 543 and 547 Moody street and 449 Moody street, at 4 p. m.

The first parcel, Lot No. 3, consists of two four-story tenement blocks, Nos. 543 and 547 Moody street, will be sold in one lot with 9600 square feet of land, more or less. The block No. 543, is modern built, sets on a solid granite wall and has 24 tenements, each has separate toilets, separate cellars, city water and gas, are each separate to themselves. They are always rented to good tenants. The other block, which is No. 547, has nine tenements all separate, separate toilet, separate cellars, conveniently arranged. These two blocks are situated on the upper end of Moody street, on high land, has granite curbing, concrete all around the building and has a yearly revenue of $3590.00. This parcel ought to attract your attention for it is a money maker for some one.

Terms of sale: $1000 in cash must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as sold. Other terms at sale.

Lot 4. Also Thursday, Aug. 21, at 4 p. m., at No. 449 Moody street, consists of a modern built block of handsome architecture, built but a few years, that has 16 tenements of 5 rooms each, and 6750 sq. feet of land, more or less, that are very conveniently arranged, has separate toilet, separate cellars, city water and gas, set on solid granite wall, concrete all around the building. This block has a yearly income of $2356 and it is never idle. This is a good investment piece of property.

Terms of sale: $1000 must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as it is sold. Other terms at sale.

Lot No. 5, Friday, Aug. 22, 1913, at 2 p. m., at No. 183 Perkins street. This property consists of a four-story, 16 tenement block and 5665 square feet of land, more or less. The tenements have separate toilets, separate cellars, city water and gas, are in good repair inside and out, are always rented to good tenants and has a yearly income of $1417.00. There is a concrete sidewalk, the yards are all concreted. This property has always paid a large revenue.

Terms of sale: $500 in cash must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as sold. Other terms at sale.

This extraordinary real estate offers an opportunity to any person to invest their money where a large return is sure to be had, as it has always been to the estate, and has been ever since the death of Mr. Bibeault, and while Mr. Bibeault lived he refused to sell this class of property, as it paid him a larger per cent. on his money than could be received in anything else. The returns from the estate have been very substantial and can pay for themselves in a few years from their own revenue, but the heirs want the property sold and the money divided, so we will sell without limit to the highest bdider that complies with the conditions of sale. A substantial mortgage can remain and a full description an ddetails will be given at the sale.

Make all inquiries of Gedeon Rochette, Eugene H. Cantin, administrators of the estate of Alphonse Bibeault, or J. M. Farrell, auctioneer.

WILLIAM J. DALTON HAD HARD JOURNEY

Lowell Boy Arrested by Toronto Police—Left Home With 70 Cents in His Pocket

William Joseph Dalton, of 26 Lagrange street, this city, was arrested in Toronto, Ont., yesterday for vagrancy. He said he was on the road five days and had but 70 cents in his possession when he left Lowell.

William Joseph, who is now being detained by the Toronto police, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dalton of 26 Lagrange street and, according to the mother, he left home a week ago last Monday night, and has not been seen or heard from since.

The little chap, who is 16 years of age, and who is about four feet in height, was apprehended by Sergt. Petrie and Inspector Walsh a week ago last Monday afternoon in Moody street, this city, riding a bicycle which it was alleged was stolen from opposite the Peavey lunch room in Central street. When questioned at the police station by Supt. Welch, the boy said he found the bicycle in the bottom of the canal near the Pawtucket bridge.

The Submarine Bicycle

The boy in the course of his story told the chief he was enjoying a swim with several companions, and it was a case of who would do a feat the others could not do, and in order to beat his comrades, he said he dived to the bottom and it was there he located the bicycle. He said he went back to the surface, got a rope and tied the wheel and pulled it to the surface.

Inasmuch as the saddle of the bicycle was rather wet when the boy was taken to the station, the chief believed the story to some extent and released the boy. According to Mrs. Dalton her son returned home that evening and told of his adventure with the police. She advised him to return to his work at the Bigelow Carpet Co. the following day, but he made no reply, but instead walked out of the house, and that was the last she saw of him.

Went With Other Boys

She learned later he left Lowell with two other boys, one named Thos. Mack and the other McGrady. These two boys returned to Lowell a week ago last Thursday and reported leaving Dalton at White River Junction. They said they had been jumping freight cars from Lowell to the Vermont city, and that Dalton was on his way to Toronto.

Mrs. Dalton said this is the second time her boy left home without the slightest reason, and only a short time ago the parents were forced to go after him to Worcester, where he was stranded. Mrs. Dalton was grieved to learn of the arrest of her son, and she told the writer she would wire to the chief of police of Toronto immediately in an endeavor to have her boy released and sent home.

SULZER AND GLYNN STILL CLAIM OFFICE

"WOMEN-IN-THE CASE" IN SULZER IMPEACHMENT

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—All negotiations toward having the courts decide who is the governor of New York were declared off today. For the third consecutive day William Sulzer, the impeached governor, and Martin H. Glynn, who was elected lieutenant governor, occupied offices in the capitol, each claiming to be the chief executive.

Indications were that the deadlock would last till the meeting of the legislature next Tuesday, if not longer.

Neither claimant endeavored to interfere in any way with the other.

Each seemed to be marking time, waiting for the other to take the offensive.

A reply from Governor Sulzer to Lieutenant Governor Glynn's letter of last night refusing to arbitrate in the courts, was expected this afternoon.

INCREASES IN PRICE OF BEEF

Expected to Follow the Drouth that is Scorching Western States

Cattle Growing States Suffer from Hot Wave Still Unbroken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Sharp increases in the prices of beef, are expected to follow the drouth that is scorching the cattle growing states of Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Oklahoma and officials of the department of agriculture are not concealing their anxiety over their outlook. Their apprehension is increased by unfavorable reports said to have been received from agents now in South America concerning the condition of the cattle there.

In anticipation of the increased meat imports that would follow the passage of the new tariff measure, Dr. A. B. Melvin was sent by the department to South America to observe the manner in which cattle were slaughtered and meat packed in those countries. He is said to have reported that a serious hoof and mouth epidemic is raging in Argentina, the principal meat-growing country of South America and this necessarily would bar the entrance of such meat to the United States. Australia in the event of serious shortage is expected to furnish much of the meat consumed by Americans in the immediate future. This supply may be limited, however, because of Great Britain's demands if Argentina fails her market.

SEARCHING FOR 2 MURDERERS

Crimes Within 24 Hours Have Aroused Residents of Pittsburgh

Girl Assaulted and Thrown Into River—Man Shot to Death

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 16.—County detectives and the police of Pittsburgh are searching for two murderers whose crimes within the past 24 hours have aroused the community.

The first came to light when the body of Miss Pauline Loos, a young school teacher of Crafton, Pa., was found floating in the Alleghany river near Verona. An autopsy revealed that she had been assaulted and thrown into the river while unconscious.

The other crime was the shooting to death of Nicholas Ritorti, who was talking with a party of friends in Washington street not far from a busy business district. Persons who were taken to headquarters, declared a man ran into the crowd, fired four shots into Ritorti's body and escaped.

LOWELL HAD EASY TIME IN 1ST GAME

Defeated Fall River 10 to 5—Miller and DeGroff Injured—Umpire Quinn Attacked

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Lowell	0	0	0	0	4	1	0	5	x	10	12	5
F. R.	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	2	1	5	6	1

Two games were played at Spaulding park this afternoon between Lowell and Fall River. The weather was excellent for baseball and about 2000 fans were present. A double win today for Lowell would mean a stronger hold on second place with a possible chance of landing at the top of the league. Zeiser opened the game for Lowell and appeared to be in fine form. Southern started the twirling for the opposing team. Daly and Weeden did the backstop work. Umpires Duffy and Quinn acted as decision makers, the latter taking the place of White who is ill.

The lineup for the first game was as follows:

Lowell	Fall River
Clemens, cf	ss, Cargo
Miller, 2b	2b, Campbell
DeGroff, rf	1b McGovern
Magee, lf	rf, Catterson
Halstein, 1b	cf, Howard
Daly, c	3b, Hennessy
Aubrey, ss	lf, Robinson
Dee, 3b	c, Weeden
Zeiser, p	p, Southern

Cargo opened the game by drawing a pass. Zeiser struck out. McGovern flied out to Miller in short right and Cargo was thrown out in attempting to make third.

Clemens fanned. Miller singled to right and was thrown out at second on an attempt to stead after DeGroff had fanned.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Catterson opened the second with a grounder to Zeiser and went out at first. Howard hit to Miller who fumbled his grounder and threw wild to Halstein. Hennessy struck out. Robinson walked. Weeden closed the inning by going out to Clemens.

Magee grounded out to Cargo. Halstein singled to right but was left on first when Daly popped one to McGovern and Aubrey flied out to Catterson.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Southern singled to left in the third. Cargo pushed him to second with a sacrifice but the side was retired when Zeiser made Campbell and McGovern fly out to Aubrey.

With three balls and no strikes on him Dee flied out to Howard. Zeiser fell a victim to Campbell and McGovern on his slow grounder and Clemens foul flied to Hennessy.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

There was no scoring in the fourth. Halstein made a nice catch of Catterson's high fly back of first base. Howard was called out on strikes. Zeiser hit Hennessy. Robinson sent the latter to third with a single to centre. Robinson went to second on the throw in to nail Hennessy at third. Weeden flied to Miller.

Miller went out, Campbell to McGovern. DeGroff struck out. Southern passed Magee. Halstein singled to right sending Magee to third. Daly was walked intentionally and with three men on Aubrey flied out to Catterson.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Southern started the fifth with his second single. Cargo attempted to sacrifice but received a life on Dee's miserable throw to Halstein. Campbell bunted to Halstein but Quinn called Southern safe at third on Halstein's throw to Dee, and there were three men on. At this point of the proceeding a heated objection arose over Quinn's decision on the last play. Aubrey was banished from the game, Flannery taking his place at short. With three men on McGovern hit to Zeiser, the latter throwing the ball to Daly, forcing Southern out. Daly snapped the ball to Halstein ahead of McGovern, completing a double play. Catterson put a grounder between Miller's legs and two men scored when the ball rolled into centre field. Howard flied to Clemens.

At the beginning of Lowell's half of the fifth when Umpire Quinn took his place back of first base, the first base bleacherites poured tonic bottles and stones at him until suppressed by the police. Dee grounded out to McGovern. Zeiser walked. Clemens singled to left, sending Zeiser to second. Miller struck out. DeGroff singled to left scoring Zeiser and putting Clemens on third. DeGroff went to second on the throw in to the plate. Magee beat out a hard grounder to Cargo, scoring Clemens and DeGroff. During an argument that arose Magee went to third. Southern was warned by Umpire Duffy to take less time with his delivery. Halstein then made his third single into right field, scoring Magee. Daly closed the inning with a fly to Howard.

Score: Lowell 4, Fall River 2.

In the sixth Flannery threw out Hennessy at first on a close decision. He also threw out Robinson. The Lowell short-stop made a third assist of the inning when he threw out Weeden at first.

Flannery bunted and was thrown out at first. Dee hit the ball over the left field fence for a circuit of the bases. Zeiser grounded out to Campbell. Clemens flied out to Robinson.

Lowell 5, Fall River 2.

In the seventh Southern flied to Clemens. Cargo singled to left. Campbell foul-flied to Daly. McGovern forced Cargo at second on his grounder to Miller.

Miller flied out to McGovern. DeGroff put up a high fly to Howard. Magee singled to left centre. Halstein was safe when Cargo failed to handle his savage grounder. Magee stole third and when Weeden dropped the ball Halstein went to second. Daly walked. Weeden made a circus catch of Flannery's high fly.

Score: Lowell 5, Fall River 2.

Catterson doubled to left-centre at the opening of the eighth. Zeiser walked Howard. Hennessy flied out to DeGroff. Flannery ran into short left and took Robinson's fly. Weeden singled to centre scoring Catterson. When Clemens failed to field the ball properly Howard went to third. Southern singled over Miller's head scoring Howard but was caught between first and second and tagged out by Flannery.

Dee was out on his grounder, Hennessy to McGovern. Finneran batting for Zeiser was caught out by Hennessy. Clemens singled along the left field foul line and later stole second. Southern hit Miller in the eye and the injured player was taken to the dressing room for medical attendance. Reiger took his place and went to first base. Southern then hit DeGroff on the head, filling the bases. It was apparent that Southern had lost his nerve after hitting Miller. Magee singled to centre scoring Clemens and Reiger. Halstein drove in DeGroff and Magee ahead of him with a home run smash to deep right centre. Daly flied out to Robinson.

Score: Lowell 10, Fall River 4.

The ninth opened with Finneran in the box and Reiger in Miller's place at second. Cargo was safe on Dee's boot of his grounder. Cargo moved to second on Campbell's infield out. The base-runner moved to third when Flannery threw out McGovern and scored on Catterson's infield hit. Howard struck out.

Score: Lowell 10, Fall River 5.

HEAVY SHOWERS BRING RELIEF

In Drouth—Stricken Regions of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma —Crops May be Total Loss

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 16.—Heavy showers last night and early today, relieved conditions in the drouth-stricken regions of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, but the rains were far from general and in most instances inadequate.

Temperatures, that for 12 days have hovered above the 100 mark, fell today in southern Kansas and northern Oklahoma because of showers and clouds, but according t the United States weather bureau here there were evidences of a 13th day of extreme heat generally over Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. Hutchinson, Kans., reported rain amounting to nearly an inch.

In northern Oklahoma showers began yesterday afternoon and continued today. Light showers fell in this city yesterday.

Drouth in northern and eastern Kansas and most of Missouri continued unabated. Springfield, Mo., which has had less than half its normal rainfall since April 1, faced a possibility of a failure of its water supply. In practically all the Springfield churches prayers for rain will be offered late this afternoon.

In southeastern Kansas and southwestern Missouri many mining towns are suffering from want of water.

St. Joseph, Mo., reported increasing damage from drouths. Fruit growers of that district who had expected a heavy crop of apples, say the fruit is dropping from the trees immature and that the late crop may be a total loss.

Topeka is sending a trainload of water daily to supply the railway shops in Horton, Kansas. Rain was reported in Kingham and Harper counties, Kansas, last night. An inch of rain fell at Wellington; half an inch at Sedgwick and a shower in Butler county.

Hand-picked catfish are being enjoyed by persons in eastern Jackson county, as a by-product of the drouth. Most of the streams have shrunk to standing pools and the fish have been driven into clusters.

TWO REVOLVERS

Stolen by Burglar Who Entered House in Highlands—Snatch Thieves Take Woman's Purse

It was the house of George A. Scribner at 158 Westford street that was entered by a burglar on Thursday evening, while the proprietor and his family were at the beach. The place was ransacked from top to bottom, and despite the fact that there were numerous articles of value in the house, only two revolvers were reported as missing. The police are working hard to bring the culprit to justice, but so far their efforts have failed.

The residents of the Highlands are somewhat alarmed with the recent doings of thieves in that district, for one of the most daring holdups was reported a few days ago, when the police were told of a highway robbery committed at a well lighted spot, the corner of Ware and Chelmsford streets. It is stated that an elderly woman was returning to her home in the evening, when two young men stopped her at the above place, and snatching her purse away from her, made good their escape. The police were notified of this theft, but the thieves are still at large.

Continued

mittee intends to follow the lead.

McDermott's attorney had opportunity to cross examine McMichael when the committee met today.

$7500 to Defeat Bill

McMichael testified today that the pawnbrokers raised $7500 to defeat the bill and McDermott was to get $6000. He swore that the conference at which that was arranged took place in April, 1911. Attorney Smith for McDermott brought out that the loan shark bill was not introduced until May and at that time did not include pawnbrokers.

"When did McDermott tell you about getting money for the loan shark bill?" asked Smith.

"Shortly after it became a law. I said to him 'Mac, on the level, what did you get out of the loan shark bill?' He said 'I got mine—well, it was about $7500.'"

Pressed to fix a date for that conversation, McMichael declined to be more specific. He testified he knew McDermott had invested $6000 in an airship company.

The attorney wanted details about the money McMichael swore he was getting from Mulhall and dividing with McDermott, but the witness insisted there had been so many checks he was not clear about any particular transaction.

"McDermott went to Col. Mulhall one day and said 'Colonel, you ought to have Mac's salary raised to $100 a month, then I could get $50 of it,'" said McMichael.

Attorney Smith led McMichael back to certain dinners in Washington and asked him about McDermott's share in them.

"He seldom blew 'hisn'n' " said McMichael. "He bought drinks, yes sir, but I think the gentleman himself will admit he didn't pay for them."

Continued

demned an old wooden building located at 89 Hampshire street, and ordered the same to be torn down and removed at once. The owner of the property, Mrs. Emily A. Emond, appealed the decision and according to the building ordinance, she appointed an arbitrator, who with the city's arbitrator appointed a third one. The three men inspected the said building, and their report is as follows:

The Committee's Report

Lowell, Aug. 15, 1913.

We, the undersigned members of a committee appointed in the manner provided by ordinance to arbitrate the question of safety of the building located at number 89 Hampshire street and owned by Emily Emond, report as follows:

We find the inspector of buildings justified in condemning the building, but, as the owner proposes to make thorough repairs to the structure by building new floor on the first story, studding up side walls where needed, putting in new sills and repairing, clapboarding and painting the entire building, we would therefore recommend, that, if she agrees in writing to make the repairs as above described, that, permission be given to repair the structure, otherwise we feel that it should be removed at once. Respectfully submitted,

Arthur F. Rabeour,
John J. O'Connor,
James Whittet.

Right to Appeal

Commissioner Cummings, who is in charge of the public building department in conversation with the writer said this is the second appeal taken from the inspector's decision since he had been in office, and he wants every citizen to understand that he has a right to appeal to the decision of the inspector of public buildings at any time, and accordingly he quoted the following which is section 15 of the building ordinance:

In cases where power to estimate the damage to buildings and their roofs is given to the inspector, as also in question relating to the security or insecurity of buildings or parts thereof, and in all cases where powers are by this ordinance given to the inspector, an appeal to arbitration shall be allowed to parties believing themselves to be injured or wronged by the decisions of the inspector, as follows, to wit:

The person wishing to make such appeal shall do so within forty-eight hours after written notice of the decision or order of the inspector has been given them. An appeal made later than forty-eight hours after serving of the notice of the inspector shall not entitle the appellant to arbitration.

The request for arbitration shall be in writing and shall state the name of persons who are to represent the appellant in said arbitration. The inspectr shall thereupon state to the appellant the probable cost of such arbitration, and such appellant shall, within twenty-four hours from the time of filing the original request for arbitration, deposit with the inspector a proper bond, or sum of money, sufficient for the payment of costs of such arbitration.

As soon as such bond or sum of money shall have been deposited, the inspector shall appoint the arbitrator to represent the city, and the two arbitrators thus appointed shall select a third, and these three arbitrators shall, after investigating the matter in question, make a decision with regard to the same, which shall be final and binding upon the appellant as well as upon the city.

The arbitrators shall be themselves placed under oath to the effect that they will faithfully discharge the duties of their position.

They shall have power to call witnesses and place them under oath, and their decision or award shall be rendered in writing, both to the inspector and the appellant.

The amount to be allowed to each arbitrator is not exceed $2.00 per hour. The costs of such arbitration are to be paid by the city if the appeal is sustained, by the appellant if it is not sustained.

Persons desiring to introduce materials, appliances and processes of building, the use of which is not recognized in this ordinance, or improvements in the use of materials and processes or appliances mentioned herein, shall also have the right to cause their demands to be referred to arbitration under the same terms as those hereinbefore provided.

FRANCIS A. CONNOR

Permit for Alterations

Mrs. Emond agreed to do as suggested by the board of arbitrators, and the building which has been jacked up will be repaired in accordance with the recommendations of the board, and a permit was granted this morning for the following alterations: New floor on first story, studding up side walls where needed, new sills, repair clapboard and entire building to be painted, the approximate cost to be $125.

Where's That Report?

Commissioner Brown of the finance department is patiently awaiting the report of Chief Gettemy of the state bureau of labor and statistics, on the city's financial condition, but the report seems to have been sidetracked. According to Mr. Brown the report should have been received at his office sometime ago, but for some reason or other there is a delay. Mr. Brown wrote a letter to the chief asking about the said report, but as yet no reply has been received.

Those Sewer Outlets

The city engineers are very busy preparing plans for the extension of the Alder street sewer outlet just below the mouth of the Concord river near Stackpole street. People in that vicinity have complained of the condition at this outlet and the department will endeavor to remedy the defect as soon as the plans are completed at which time work will be started on the extension of the outlet to the middle stream, and rushed along.

Tomorrow evening, it is expected the extension of the West street sewer outlet will be finished, and that will mean a considerable improvement in the vicinity of Front street, as already the outlets of the Fulton and Coburn streets sewers have been remedied, and a change in conditions is already noticeable.

The Street Department

Plans have been made by the Bay State St. Ry. company to lay new and heavier rails across the Moody street river bridge, and work was to be started Monday morning, but on account of the fair at Rockingham park next week, the officials of the company have deemed it advisable to postpone the work a week, on account of the heavy traffic expected on that car line. The street department was also ready to start repairing and repaving the bridge, but these plans have also been changed.

Work on the Bowers street macadamizing job was started Thursday and is being rushed along. The Rogers street job is also progressing, although the heavy shower last Thursday afternoon interfered some with the workmen. On the Gorham street job the men are making good headway and Commissioner Donnelly stated this morning that the entrance to the Edson cemetery on the Gorham street side will be open tomorrow.

Bids For Roofing

The bids for roofing the new stable at the Chelmsford street hospital with slate, were opened at 11 o'clock this morning in the office of the commissioner of public buildings, but the contract will not be awarded until Monday morning. The bids as received were as follows:

Thomas F. Burns, No. 1, Monson, Me., $600; No. 1, Virginia, $500; J. L. Douglas & Co., No. 1 Monson, Me., $123; James Mooney, No. 1 Monson, Me., $549.

Called on the Mayor

Dennis Sullivan, a former Lowell boy, and now a resident of Manchester, N. H. was a caller at the mayor's office this morning, and the young man who is in the employ of Colonel Marcotte, proprietor of a large clothing and shoe store, related important facts concerning the Queen city. He said there is no civil service commission in the state of New Hampshire, and most of the jobs in Manchester are obtained through political influence. He said the chief of police has full swing over the entire department and it is up to him whether this or that patrolman will work tomorrow, or be laid off indefinitely. "A pretty funny sight," said Mr. Sullivan, "is to see the police officers patrolling their beats with their lunch baskets under their arm for there are only two shifts of patrolmen, and the night men carry their supper with them, and when they want to make an arrest, they tenderly lay their lunch basket in a hallway and proceed to enforce the law."

However Mr. Sullivan avers Manchester is a great place to live and says the merchants are wise enough to think of some schemes with the members of the chamber of commerce to get the trade of the suburban towns as far as Laconia, several miles away. He also says a good portion of the Nashua people do their shopping in Manchester.

The Weekly Payroll

The weekly payroll at city hall this week is $20,728.93.

TO NAME ADDITIONAL RECEIVER

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—The matter of appointing an additional receiver for the Walpole Tire and Rubber company, of Walpole, was put over for one week by Judge Dodge in the federal court today. Robert C. Fischer of New York is now in charge of the property as receiver, but the minority creditors have suggested that a second man, preferably one living in Boston, be named.

In delaying action Judge Dodge said that he would name another receiver provided the stockholders and the minority creditors could agree on a man.

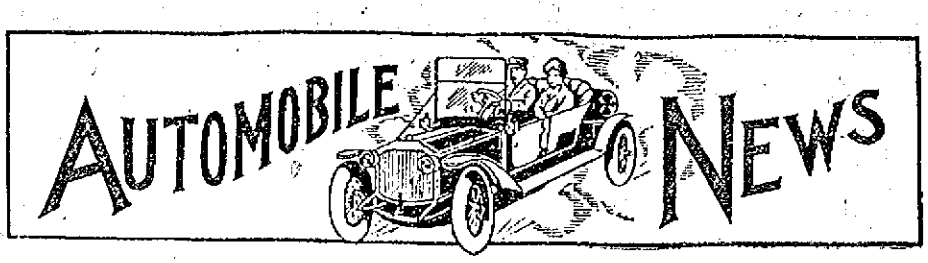
AUTOMOBILE NEWS



Crowned Fenders

An advanced feature of automobile construction sure to manifest itself in 1914 models is the crowned fender. Three or four manufacturers have already announced this feature. Others admit that they are now negotiating with manufacturers of pressed steel specialties with a view to installing crowned fenders if they can be assured of deliveries.

The crowned fender is a characteristic American adaptation of a foreign idea. It presents a gracefully curved concave section, following the round of the tire. Its shape permits it to be mounted much closer to the wheel than was the case with the conventional flat type. Both shape and position greatly add to the efficiency of the crowned fender, protecting the body of the car and its occupants from splashing water and mud.

The European body-builders hammered their crowned fenders into shape by hand. This method was out of the question for standardized American cars. But a domestic builder declared a year ago that dies could be devised which would make the work possible in big presses. The task was entrusted to the executive staff of the corporation's plant. For more than a year the original set of dies, then designed, has been turning flat sheets of cold steel into crowned fenders for the company's 1914 models.

In the time that a gang of European workmen would hammer out one set of fenders, this press will turn out 100. And the fenders are absolutely identical and true to design, requiring no supplementary fitting. Even the riveting which fastens the fender to its supports is now concealed by the latest process, the result being an unbroken surface of glossy enamel.

The Truck's Efficiency

Volumes have been written, tending to show the desirability, from the viewpoints of efficiency and economy, of the motor truck over horse-and-wagon systems of delivery. Truck manufacturers have spent small fortunes in having traffic and delivery experts investigate the economic features of both systems. Long tables of figures have been prepared, dealing with such items as horse cost, feed, maintenance and depreciation as against the same items in motor truck upkeep. These investigations have proved that, under nearly every condition of service, the truck is much more economical than the horse. There is one phase of the question, however, which had not been touched on until, in a recent discussion when a prominent manufacturer pointed out an important saving in the time of drivers.

He makes the statement that the driver of a light motor truck can do from three to four times as much work in a given time as the driver of a horse-and-wagon outfit, declaring that the time saved triples and sometimes quadruples his capacity.

"This interesting discovery was made," he says, "in a recent investigation we conducted as to the practicability of our truck. Most of our findings contained nothing that we did not know before; namely, that in the matter of maintenance and operation costs and economy of time, the truck was vastly superior to the horse. We did learn that this saving in time was largely due to the increased efficiency of the operator of the power vehicle, a point that we had not before taken into consideration.

"Day after day, during our tests, our drivers did from three to four times as much work as could be done by the men in charge of horse-and-wagon outfits, solely because they could save time both in travel and in making deliveries. The saving in time through the elimination of the necessity for tying the horses while the driver carried a package to a home or business place furnished some interesting figures. We found that the truck operator could stop his vehicle, select the parcel, make the delivery and return to the car in just about the time it required for the horse driver to assure himself that his vehicle would be where he left it on his return.

"In other words, where the truck driver could shut off his power, select his parcel and dismount almost before the truck had come to a full stop, the horse driver wasted precious minutes stopping his team, dismounting with the hitching weight or to loop a tie-strap about a hitching post and returning again to the wagon to reach for the parcel. Often, too, unless he had made the selection before dismounting, the horse driver had to climb into his wagon again to get the package he was after. With 50 or 60 stops per day, the loss of time charged against the horse driver reached a large total. All of this is saved by the truck."

The Ideal Car

"I have," said Mrs. Malaprop, "a beautiful car, with cymbeline body, dispatchible denounceable rims, epileptic springs, electic starter, infernal expending brakes, autocratic wind-shield, black untrammeled headlights, interval power plant, flash jubilation, three-point indention; three speeds, horrid and one perverse, amateur on the dashboard, aggravated ebony rim on the steering-wheel, copellerator, throttle peddler, sanitary transition, jump-spark, intuition, jimpson bearings, a set of lean gas-primers, and all other excessories."—Sacred Heart Review.

FIND TWO BODIES IN WATER

NORTH LIMINGTON, Maine, Aug. 16.—Lying close together in about four feet of water in Webster's Mill Pond, the bodies of Willie Taylor, aged 13, son of Walter Taylor of Steep Falls, and Harry Miller, 10, son of Maynard Miller of Limington, were found early today. The boys were last seen alive at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and at that time were going toward the pond. When they did not return home in the evening a search was begun and the only boat used on the pond was found to have been unfastened and drifted to the other side. The Miller boy was a cripple and judging from the position of the bodies his companion had tried to save him when the boat was upset. It is thought that the two had rowed out to gather pond lilies.

CUSTOM OFFICERS HOLD UP DAVIS CUP

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Through some technicality the custom authorities have impounded the Davis international tennis cup, brought over recently after the victory of the American team in England. The cup was originally taken from this country and is not dutiable returning, but for some reason unexplained the customs house refused to permit its entrance until an inquiry had been made.

Robert D. Wrenn, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association, has taken the matter up with Collector Mitchell and it is believed the cup will be released on Monday. From here it will be taken to Newport for exhibition during the all-comers national tournament.

OUT OF THE FAR NORTHWEST

Comes a Wail for Wives—Popular Song About Beautiful Girls on Old Saskatchewan a Delusion

Out of the far Canadian northwest comes the plaintive wail—"Wives Wanted." Away up in Saskatchewan, which lies on the edge of the wilderness that stretches off over thousands of miles to the gold fields of Alaska, there is a town with only three marriageable young women and they are all engaged. And there are hundreds of bachelors eager to win mates to share with them their frontier homes.

According to a statement by an editor in that land of the golden wheat, the bachelors eager to marry have a predilection for Boston girls and if that is true, then it is because they have never met and perhaps never heard of our charming, winsome gracious, true-blue Lowell girls, whose word is their bond and whose "yes" to a proposal means to live happy ever after.

One might be pardoned, too, for suggesting to the suffragets that the cry from the west offers them wonderful opportunity. From advices at hand, if a small band of young women who feel that they have not sufficient recognition of their rights at home chooses to emigrate to Saskatchewan, they can run things as they wish. They can take their pick of husbands among several hundred candidates, and their husbands will give them all the privileges they ask for.

Boston Girls Have Call

The need of wives is so great in that town that the young men have gotten together and formed an organization for matrimonial purposes. They have chipped in some of their earnings from their wheat fields and ranches and are writing east for girls who will come out and share their life. What a chance for girls to go west and grow up with the country! And perhaps in a few years return home the wives of Canadian millionaires.

Boston girls, as already mentioned, seem to be favored. Perhaps there are former Boston men in Saskatchewan; possibly the men of Saskatchewan have been reading so-called humorous papers and have formed the idea that the cold Boston girl will best become acclimated to the northern latitude of their province, where in winter the mercury goes down almost out of sight in the thermometers that have longer tubes than those around here. Writes the editor of the Viceroy Citizen, who appears to have been appointed matrimonial agent of the bachelor population of Viceroy, Saskatchewan: "Imagine if you can a town of 400 with only three marriageable young women in town, and them all engaged. Such is the sad state of affairs in Viceroy, Sask. The serious condition has caused the young men to form an organization for matrimonial purposes." They want to reach "young women willing to share the frontier life with these young men, and help them to build up happy homes in the growing western Canada country."

Want An Editor?

The girls who will take advantage of this opportunity for a man and a home and to grow up with the country can have the editor of the local paper if she wants him, for he is on the list of marriageable young men that has been forwarded to tempt Boston young women. He writes a good legible hand and is perfectly frank in the need of a wife to look after his home while he is influencing the thought of Viceroy through his editorials, and booming the country in his news columns. That he's a good newspaper man is evident from the fact that he believes in advertising—even for a wife.

The girl who works in a shop or a store, lives in a hall bedroom and pines for a life in the open can have all outdoors to live in if she will go to Saskatchewan. For there are ranchers who are anxious to install wives in their home to keep things tidy and cook for them. They can have horses to ride and perhaps automobiles—for motors are by no means unknown in the far northwest. Then there are engineers who may become great men in the new country. A lumberman who operates in the big woods wants a wife, so does a local hardware merchant.

Hotel Life—Yes?

If a young woman wants to be in the midst of affairs in Viceroy, what better place could she pick out than the town hotel. The proprietor feels the need of a wife to help him conduct his hostelry. It may not be a Touraine or a Copley-Plaza, but it's surely the centre of life in the Saskatchewan community. The choice of husbands also includes a salesmen, secretaries and a carpenter, and probably others who are not enumerated in the specimen list that has been forwarded to tempt girls.

A popular song tells about girls on the Saskatchewan. But it's evident that the writer of the words liked the mouthful of Saskatchewan and didn't look up the facts, for the editor of the Viceroy Citizen tells a pathetic tale of the lack of girls on the Saskatchewan.

SEVEN CASES OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

HARDWICH, Vt., Aug. 16.—Seven cases of infantile paralysis with several other suspected cases have caused considerable alarm in this town. Two new cases of the disease were reported today. The other five patients are recovering.

The town also faces a serious water shortage. There is practically no water in the reservoir and to conserve the supply the water is turned off every night and on again in the morning.

17 SETS OF FALSE TEETH

Found in Camp—Bills for Blue and Gray Reunion

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 16.—Accounts for the transportation of veterans to and from the Gettysburg reunion of the "Blue" and the "Gray" in July are rapidly being audited and paid by Col. Lewis E. Beitler, the secretary of the Pennsylvania commission, and some odd things are turning up. In all the state had contracts for transportation of veterans with 17 railroads. Two of these companies rendered bills for 40 cents each, that being all the business they had of that character, while another rendered a bill for 80 cents, another for 90 cents and one for $1.20. The bills of 10 other railroads aggregated $16,000, and 28 others $2600. The Pennsylvania, Reading and other companies have not yet filed their accounts. Every ticket is accounted for and the checks are drawn up on presentation of the vouchers.

The commission has secured from the railroads redemption of a number of railroad tickets found on the battlefield. These tickets turned up at the "lost and found" place, along with one wooden leg, several dozen keys, a revolver, numerous articles of apparel and 17 sets of false teeth.

FELL IN FRONT OF CAR

Everett Boy Was Stealing a Ride

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—While stealing a ride on an outbound Broadway-Ferry street electric car in Everett yesterday, Walter Edmunds, 6 years old, of 118 Florence street, Everett, hopped off and fell directly in the path of an inbound semi-convertible car. The boy was picked up by the fender and cast to the side of the track, badly bruised, but otherwise unhurt.

The accident happened at the corner of Chestnut street and Broadway, Everett. There is a small decline, and the cars proceeded fairly fast. The boy had been stealing rides all the forenoon with several older companions. Edmunds had secured a grip on the back of the car, which started to make the hill at a good clip. When he attempted to hop off he was hurled from his feet.

FOR WILSON AND FOSS CUPS

Winners Will Meet the German Racers—First Trial Today

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 16.—Nine aspirants for the three places on the American Sonder yacht team, which next month will meet the German racers for the President Wilson and Governor Foss cups, sailed out of this harbor today for the first of the series of trial races held by the Eastern Yacht club.

The yachts, their owners and designers are as follows:

Badger; B. B. Crowninshield, Burgess.
Cima; Guy Lowell, Mower.
Dorina; G. L. Batchelder, Boardman.
Ellen; C. P. Curtis; Burgess.
Harpoon; C. F. Adams, 2nd, Purden.
Otter, C. H. W. Foster and J. Crane, Boardman.
Sprig; J. L. Saltonstall, Boardman.
Tern; H. M. Sears, Burgess.

The three German challengers, Angela, Serum and Wittlesbach, were in the harbor, all rigged, as the American left for the start.

In order to give the committee on selection plenty of opportunity to judge of the relative merits of the yachts as well as to enable the yachts plenty of room to show off such merits, the fleet was divided into two divisions, the first starting five minutes in advance of the second.

Originated In Germany

The Sonder yacht is a type of small boat, originated in Germany where it has become very popular, and is supposed to bring out the best qualities in yacht design under certain or special restrictions, Sonder meaning special in German.

A Sonder yacht is limited to 550 square feet on sail area, must not weigh less than 4,170 pounds nor carry more than three men, while the total of its water line length, breadth and draught must not exceed 32 feet. The cost of the boat in this country is also limited to $2400, while there are other important rules governing the materials used in construction.

The American Sonder yachtsmen engaged in six international contests, four with the Germans in 1906 and 1909 at Marblehead and 1907 and 1911 at Kiel, and two with the Spaniards in 1907 at San Sebastian and in 1910 at Marblehead. The American yachts won three out of the four races with the Germans and split even with the Spaniards.

In the trial races today, the courses were only six miles, alternating between windward and leeward, and triangular, the former being three miles out and back, and the latter two miles on a side.

The committee planned to sail at least two and possibly three races each day, and to begin the eliminations after the fourth race.

The trials will continue next week, and it is expected that the American team will be selected by Wednesday.

The first race will be held on Labor day.

BRIDGE KILLS FIREMAN

Body Found on the Coal Tender of Engine

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Leslie Baxter, 24, of 54 Monument street, Charlestown, a fireman on the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad was struck and instantly killed yesterday afternoon as his train passed under some bridge between the North station and Union square, Somerville.

Suddenly realizing that he had not seen his fireman for several minutes, F. R. Temple, engineer of the 4 o'clock western express train, No. 3, brought his train to a sudden stop at Cambridge yesterday afternoon and notified Conductor Arthur Cannier.

S. E. Whitland of 23 Linden avenue, Somerville, who happened to be on the street level when the train stopped in the cut by the Cambridge station saw the body of Baxter lying in a crumpled heap behind the pile of coal and near the water tank.

Baxter had been a fireman for the B. & M. since February, 1912.

Griffith Goes to Braves

LAWRENCE, Aug. 16.—Outfielder Griffith of the New Bedford New England league team was sold to the Boston Nationals yesterday. The price was not announced.

Griffith was formerly a pitcher but was shifted to the outfield when his arm failed him. He will report to the Braves immediately.

REPORT GREAT ENGINEERING FEAT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—An engineering feat that has called for special commendation from Chief Forester Graves was reported today to the forest service from the Sitgreaves National Forest in Arizona. A lookout tower, built entirely of logs and thrusting its bulk 115 feet into the air, was constructed by forest rangers without the aid of hoisting apparatus. The work was accomplished entirely by unassisted man-muscle and pure strength.

"Talk of the wonders worked by the ancient Egyptians in their pyramid construction," said a forest service official, "Pharaoh's artisans didn't have very much not possessed by the forest riders of your Uncle Sam."

The timber for the construction of the tower was procured on the spot. The tower will be used in watching for the outbreak of forest fires.

Next Saturday Will Be Another Premium Red Letter Day

WITH BUT SIXTEEN DAYS REMAINING, CONTESTANTS ARE STRAINING ALONG EVERY POINT

Next Saturday will be another premium red letter day, when voters are entitled to one thousand votes with a dollar, ten thousand votes with a ten dollar purchase, or the equivalent number of votes for a purchase larger or smaller. You have plenty of time to plan your purchases for this day and who knows but it may seal the fate of some contestant. The time grows short and strenuous work will be necessary if you entertain hopes of winning.

There are about 16 working days remaining in the library contest, today being the 16th of August, and the contest closes the 4th of September. Workers seem to be fully conscious of this judging from the campaign that is on for the merchant vote and the Sun coupons. Voters should take warning that the balance of power lurks with certainty in this special coupon feature and if you could see the perfect stacks of these which have come in in other cities and if you realized that this coupon vote numerous times has represented the winners' majority, you would get busy right away.

You simply cannot afford to evade the ponderous weight of the vote to be obtained by trading in the contest stores. The hundreds of thousands so easily obtained through labels and Sun coupons are equally important, and at the 11th hour hundreds are fully conscious of the fact that they must spare no efforts in either direction, judging from the way they came rolling into the office of the contest man last week.

The large reports that come regularly from Macartney's Apparel shop demonstrates this special medium of advertising for the up to date clothing house. Men anxious to vote for the numerous contestants, conscious of the fact that no better values are to be obtained or better to be found, have resorted to this big store. Still there is even more that can be accomplished in this direction and Maccartney's Apparel shop is the place to go.

It is impossible to stand in front of the customary window exhibit of fine merchandise at A. E. O'Heir & Co.'s without being impressed with the general excellence of this store.

The St. Patrick's and St. Michael's schools reveal a strong hand in the final moments. Heavy returns are coming for the above contestants from every source the past two weeks, and with a little "ginger" added to the recent efforts, who knows but that the last in the list among these will prove to be the unexpected.

Plan well, for Saturday next—Premium Red Letter Day—as the time grows short.

I.W.W. MEMBERS LEAVE

The Police Raid Strikers Camps at Minot, N. D.

MINOT, N. D., Aug. 16.—A general exodus of Industrial Workers of the World has begun and officials today believe there will be no further serious trouble in connection with the activities of the workers whose attempts to hold street meetings have resulted in serious rioting and 115 arrests.

Several hundred members of the organization are said to have left town during the last 36 hours. Police continue to raid the so-called "jungle camps" and order the occupants out of town. Only one attempt was made last night to hold a street meeting. Six arrests resulted.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

The Kasino

The charming young woman of your choice will surely appreciate a couple of hours up on Kasino hill, where tuneful music and ideal scenic conditions contribute to the pleasures of the terpsichore. Situated on an elevation, the Kasino is also in a wealth of greenery, and all of the advantages of the country are thus to be had. Every night and on Saturday afternoon, the Kasino is open.

Merrimack Square Theatre Players

Although the first week of the Merrimack Square Theatre Players will not be rounded out until tonight's performance, the fact that Manager Carroll had brought together a company which bids fair to be the most popular Lowell ever had is now apparent.

The bill presented this week has attracted some of the largest crowds attending this theatre for some time. It was powerful and proved most popular, but in Bronson Howard's famous play of society, "Aristocracy," to be given next week, patrons will find an attraction entirely out of the ordinary. Few plays possess such unusually charming features as this one which is remarkable for its fine character delineation and for the intrinsic beauty of the story itself. It was first produced at Palmer's theatre, New York city, and there scored a pronounced hit. In it Blanche Walsh, Wilton Lackaye, Viola Allan, William Faversham and other artists, now stars, portrayed the roles in which Miss Grace Young, Walter Scott Weeks, John Charles, Margaret Moore and other popular favorites of the company will be seen. The title derives its name from the action of the piece, which has to do with the difference and feeling felt by the three factions of the aristocracy, the new rich, the snobs and the real rich. The situations also contain an interesting combination of comedy and dramatic element that cannot fail to win the approbation of all.

Naturally in a play of this kind the scenic embellishments and costuming will be elaborate. Miss Grace Young, famous for her wonderful gowns has selected six of her handsomest which she will wear, while the other members of the company will be seen to a like advantage. A complete new set of motion pictures is also shown which are changed every Sunday, Monday and Thursday.

For the Sunday concerts to be given tomorrow an entire new vaudeville and photo-play program has been arranged.

Owing to a persistent rumor concerning the week prices special attention is again called to them. Reserved seats for the evening performances (except Saturdays) at 10, 15 and Balcony, 10, 15 and 25 cents. Patrons wishing to order seats may do so at any of the above prices. The matinee admission is 10 cents, reserved seats 20 cents, box seats 35c. Reserved seats for the matinee performances also may be phoned for. Seats on sale one week in advance.

TANNING FIRM ASSIGNS

Big Lynn Company Files Papers

LYNN, Aug. 16.—After a struggle of more than two years to overcome embarrassing financial troubles, Thomas A. Kelley & Co., one of the largest tanning concerns in the country, yesterday admitted inability to meet financial obligations, when an assignment to Judge James H. Sisk was filed at the office of City Clerk Attwill. No statement of the approximate liabilities of the firm could be obtained last night.

Persons who presumed to know stated last night that they will be greatly surprised if the liabilities exceed $400,000 and a man who has been closely connected with Mr. Kelley placed the extent of the failure at $250,000. The factories employ more than 800 persons.

The direct cause of the failure is the action of the big Boston banking institutions which withdrew credit from the firm last October. At that time, the outstanding notes held by the Boston banks amounted to $500,000. Those obligations were met and immediately notice was served upon the firm that no further credit would be extended. Running the big plant at 627-647 Summer street, greatly below its capacity, with tremendous overhead charges having to be met, is assigned as one of the contributory causes of the failure.

DIGGS IN MORE TROUBLE

Free for All Fight Outside of Court House

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—After court had adjourned yesterday with the government resting in the case of Maury I. Diggs, charged with F. Drew Caminetti with violation of the Mann act, in transporting Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris from Sacramento to Reno for immoral purposes unlawfully, Diggs got into fresh trouble. Leaving the federal building by a side entrance to shield his wife, his mother and his father from public curiosity, he was ambushed by a squad of newspaper photographers. The women tried to run, but the photographers kept pace with them, snapping their cameras as they gave chase.

Soomebody snatched at a camera, somebody punched a photographer in the face, bystanders joined in, and in an instant there was a free for all fight at the centre of a swirling crowd. Drew Caminetti was swept into the vortex, and began to struggle with the rest. It became so complicated that the squad of police who came running to the spot bundled the whole party of principals into a patrol wagon and took them to the nearest station.

There it developed that one photographer had been hammered on the head with something hard, what or by whom he could not be sure. A reporter said that the photographer had been smashed in the face with his own camera. As the upshot of the affair, Diggs was released and a friend of his, a law clerk, was charged with assault and battery.

MESSAGE TO HUERTA

May be Presented by Lind Monday

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16.—President Wilson's message to President Huerta is now in the possession of the government, which may be expected to reject it or to return some answer shortly. Foreign Minister Gamboa, in the two conferences he has had with John Lind, President Wilson's special representative in Mexico, came to the conclusion, with the consent of President uerta, that the simplest way in the end was to accept the document for President uerta and his cabinet and study it.

It would appear now that as the message has been in the possession of the government since Thursday night, and no action concerning it has yet been announced, the government is not disposed summarily to reject it.

Mr. Lind yesterday afternoon, with the consent of Senor Gamboa, admitted for the first time to the American newspaper correspondents that he had held conferences with the Mexican minister for foreign affairs, adding that they had been cordial in character. While neither of the principals will admit the fact, information has been obtained that the object of Mr. Lind's visit to Senor Gamboa was to deliver President Wilson's note.

The formal communication Mr. Lind bears, however, will not be handed to Mexico before Monday, at least, when it will be transmitted to diplomatic representatives of foreign powers in Washington.

FATHER EXONERATED

Killed Man Acquitted of Attacking Girl

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—An enraged father who took the law in his own hands and killed the man the courts had acquitted of the charge of attacking his 13-year-old daughter was exonerated yesterday by a coroner's jury. The verdict said that Edward J. Duprey was "laboring under a great mental strain on account of injury believed done to his daughters by the deceased," when he shot and killed Herny Gronimus, a photographer.

Duprey was released from custody. His two daughters, one 11, the other 13, were the only witnesses before the coroner's jury. They testified that they had been attacked by Gronimus in his studio. Duprey, a tailor, killed Gronimus in front of his home just after the latter had been freed on the charge of assaulting the elder daughter, Stella. After the shooting Duprey disappeared, but gave himself up to the police yesterday.

"I knew they couldn't do anything to you, papa," exclaimed the elder girl as she embraced her father after announcement of the verdict.

IN OLD MADRID

Beautiful Daughter of Bank Defaulter Still to be Rescued—Ancient Swindle Lives

In spite of the fact that the police of Madrid, Spain, asserted last February that they had broken up the gang of swindlers responsible for the "Spanish prisoner letters, and had taken possession of the gang's headquarters, the letters still continue to arrive in this country and it was only a few days ago that a man turned over a missive to the local police which he had just received from Madrid.

In the old familiar tone it coaxed him to cable Pedro Ramos at 22 Ababa street, Madrid, that he was willing to rescue the beautiful daughter of a bank defaulter and pay the cost of the bank defaulter's trial in return for large sums of money to be lifted later from a secret cache.

The raid of the Madrid police upon the gang disclosed the manner in which the swindle was operated. It was found that the cable address given was invariably a fraud, but that the messenger boys of the telegraph company were in the pay of the swindlers and received rewards for delivering the messages at addresses privately agreed upon between the swindlers and the messenger boys.

The version of the gang's capture cabled to this country was to the effect that Madrid policemen trailed the messenger boys to the home of Eusebio Rico at 18 Lucrano street, Madrid, where they found hundreds of cablegrams from all parts of the world and several large rooms given up to the the work of mailing out answers to the cables. Besides Rico, the chief swindler, the police arrested Rico's father-in-law and his secretary. It was then announced authoritatively that the world had nothing more to fear from the Spanish prisoner swindler, as eight years of searching for the headquarters of the gang had resulted in its location and destruction.

LOWELL WOMAN WAS STABBED

Husband, it is Alleged, Attacked Wife With a Jackknife

Couple Were Living in Manchester and Quarrelled Over Money

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 16.—Patrick McCue, 65 years old, of Franklin, N. H., last night, it is alleged, stabbed his wife, Mrs. Mary McCue, 55 years old, of this city, in the neck with his jackknife, and then, having vainly tried to escape, severed the arteries of his own throat.

Mrs. McCue, who, before her marriage to McCue at Pittsfield, N. H., in 1881, was Miss Mary Prentiss of Lowell, Mass., left McCue two years ago because of his habits. She took lodgings in the Cilley building, corner of Congress and Elm streets.

It is understood that McCue came to Manchester early in the week and visited his wife. They agreed to live together again, it is said. Last night he called at the Cilley building for Mrs. McCue. He met her in the hallway and asked her for 10 cents. She replied that she had no change and that all she had was a $5 and a $10 bill.

McCue, enraged, pulled his jackknife from his pocket and, it is charged, stabbed her in the neck. Thinking that he had killed her, McCue rushed down the hallway. He met Dr. Frank J. Frerson, and asked him the way out. The doctor directed him to the closed end of the hall and summoned the janitor.

McCue, realizing that he was about to be caught, brought his knife, into use again, this time on himself. He cut two arteries in his throat, barely missing the jugular vein.

At the Sacred Heart hospital it is reported Mrs. McCue will recover. McCue is on the dangerous list. From a letter found in his pocket after being taken to the hospital, it is thought that he came to Manchester bent on murdering his wife.

JUSTICE GERARD HOME

Ambassador to Germany in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Supreme Justice James W. Gerard, who has been in Berlin getting a rest preliminary to resuming his post as ambassador to Germany, returned today on the steamship Amerika. Mrs. Gerard accompanied him. Another passenger on the Amerika was Heinhard Drewitz, constructor and skipper of the sonderklasse yacht Wittlesbach, owned by Christof Alt of Berlin. The yacht will take part in the races off Marblehead, Mass., in September.

NEEDS ATTENTION

Paige Street Playground and Surroundings Should Be Looked After By the Proper Authorities

The Paige street playgrounds, where between 50 and 75 children gather daily for recreation and play, are in a very unpleasant condition at the present time and there is a good opportunity for both the park department and the board of health to relieve these conditions.

The grounds, which are situated near a congested tenement district of the city, are partly covered with papers and garbage nearly all the time and it is impossible for the supervisor to keep the grounds in good condition. Several kitchen doors open into the grounds and the sweepings from these are often piled up in the centre of the grounds when the supervisor arrives in the morning. A stable is located but a few feet from the spot and all kinds of debris is often found on the grounds.

The park department does not look after the grounds and it is necessary for the supervisor and her assistants to pick up papers and refuse every morning and sometimes after the noon hour. Several donations have been sent into the park department to be used on these grounds and it seems that they should be put in proper condition at least each morning so that the supervisor could begin her work of teaching the children immediately upon reaching the grounds.

MRS. PANKHURST LEAVES ENGLAND

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst left England for France last night, traveling across the channel by way of Southampton and Havre. She had been out on "license" under the "cat and mouse act" for some time and it was reported that the police authorities at the various channel ports had recently received from headquarters orders not to arrest her if she were seen going on board a steamer for the purpose of leaving England.

Mrs. Pankhurst was sentenced to a term of three years penal servitude on a charge of conspiracy at the London sessions on April 3 this year. In a speech in the court she declared she would fight to the end and since her condemnation she has compelled the authorities to release her on a number of occasions owing to fear that she would die from the effects of "hunger and thirst strikes."

Christabel Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, and chief organizer of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffragette organization, has been living in Paris for some months. She directs from there the campaign of the militant women in England.

HEAVY SELLING

DURING TODAY'S EARLY MARKET DEALINGS

Declines of a Point by Speculative Issues—Increasing fear of Crop Damage Affected Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Extensive selling of stocks, based on continued unfavorable crop conditions, was resumed in today's early market dealings. Declines averaging a point were made by the more speculative issues, only the grain carriers, such as St. Paul, Atchison, Union Pacific, Rock Island preferred and Erie, while Steel and Can were similarly weak. The downward movement was active and bore the marks of bearish aggressiveness. Supporting orders soon brought about a general readjustment after which the market became relatively dull.

The market closed strong. Increasing fear of crop damage caused heavy selling today for both accounts, which sent prices down in the early operations. Misgivings over the effect on general business by the reduced corn output and elimination of the short interest by the recent sustained advance made the market unusually sensitive. Losses of a point were recorded in some instances before the list responded to concentrated buying, which ultimately wiped out the previous losses. Union Pacific, Reading, Canadian Pacific and Amalgamated manifested unusual strength, rising from half a point to a point over yesterday's closing. Westinghouse rose 3 points.

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—The German government today decided not to participate in the Panama Pacific Exposition in 1915.

WOMEN JURORS MORE DELIBERATE THAN MEN

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Women as jurors are more deliberate than men, County Judge Owen announced today, in explaining a change in the hearing of insanity cases. For two successive weeks Judge Owen has named women on a jury to consider the cases of women and children and several complaints that the women have been too slow have reached him. The men jurors, who decide all other cases, assert they were kept waiting too long.

Judge Owen altered the system, permitting the women to sit last and insisted that the change must not be construed as a reflection upon woman's competency as a juror.

"It is just the reverse," asserted the court. "It demonstrates that women are giving the thought needed in judging insane cases. The change will expedite the business of the court."

FIND LOST TREASURER

R. E. Smith of Failed Bank Located

NEWARK, N. J., Aug 16.—Raymond E. Smith, the missing treasurer of the failed Roseville Trust company has been found in the vicinity of New York according to detectives employed by a surety company which furnished Smith's bond. They declined today to reveal his hiding place but said he could be "apprehended at any time." Their information was said to have been obtained from a woman.

Bank examiners engaged in investigating the $300,000 shortage in the accounts of the institution had not completed their work today and until the exact manner in which the funds were appropriated is determined no arrests are expected.

The directors today announced that they hoped to issue after the bank examiners had reported, a statement which they "had every reason to believe will be reassuring."

SUITS OF $1,000,000

Filed Against Heinze, Copper Magnate

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Edwin Gould and William Nelson Cromwell started separate suits in the supreme court today against F. Augustue Heinze, the copper magnate for sums aggregating more than one million dollars. Each suit is based on promissory notes alleged by the plaintiffs to have been given by Heinze.

WORK ALL NIGHT

Moonlight Threshing Was the Rule at Big Farms About La Crosse, Wis., on Account of Intense Heat

LA CROSSE, Wis., Aug. 16.—Moonlight threshing was the rule on the big farms about La Crosse both on the Wisconsin and Minnesota sides of the river last night. Threshing crews were unable to work in the daytime since Wednesday on account of the intense heat, and so men and teams slept during the day and early last evening when the moon came out and a cooling breeze swept the farms, the forces resumed work and continued throughout the night.

MURDERED IN CELLAR

Authorities Investigate Mysterious Death

WOODSTOCK, Conn., Aug. 16.—Circumstances which led to the belief that Jonas Lawson, who was found dead in his barn yesterday, was murdered, were discovered by State Coroner J. W. Bill and Medical Examiner J. D. Spaulding today.

A visit to the cellar of the Lawson house disclosed a pool of blood, nearby which was a large club stained with blood. A trail of blood led from the cellar to the barn and a blood-stained handkerchief was picked up in the yard. The authorities believe that Lawson was attacked by persons whom he surprised in his cellar and that the body was dragged to the barn and a horse released to give the impression that the man had been kicked to death by the animal. Fifty dollars which Mrs. Lawson says her husband had in his clothes when he went to the cellar, was missing.

Coroner Bill and Dr. Spaulding said that two persons were under suspicion. Mrs. Lawson stated that her husband was in the habit of going to the cellar just before retiring each evening to see that everything was secure.

COMFORT STATION

In Paige Street Was Opened This Morning—It is One of the Best Sanitary Stations in the Country

The comfort station in Paige street was thrown open to the public this morning at 8 o'clock. Mayor O'Donnell, who is in charge of the station said it would take a few days before all the small details are looked after, but nevertheless the place as it is is in good condition, and those who have had charge of the construction are to be complimented for their fine work.

Joseph M. Hunt, 125 Stackpole street, who was appointed from the civil service list by Mayor O'Donnell, as one of the caretakers of the station, declined the job, and this morning the mayor appointed from the same list, Frank J. Flanagan of 22 Westford street, subject to confirmation by the civil service commission. The place will be kept open day and night and those employed there are to receive $2 a day for their services.

BIG PIAZZA COLLAPSED

Under Weight of 150 Persons

LYNNFIELD, Mass., Aug. 16—A piazza of the Sauntaug inn collapsed today under the weight of 150 persons who were attending the picnic of the Essex County Republican club. The drop was only three feet and no one was seriously injured, although several lost pieces of their clothing, and all were somewhat jarred. Col. Everett C. Benton, candidate for the republican nomination for governor, was one of those who were on the piazza.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF WOMAN

NORWOOD, Mass., Aug. 16.—District Attorney Barker of Plymouth county today instituted a personal inquiry into the death of Mrs. Marie B. Lemaire, the manicurist, whose body was found in her apartments yesterday under circumstances which indicated that she did not die of natural causes.

The matter had not been called to Mr. Barker's attention but after reading the newspaper reports he stated that he was going to "dig into the case and see what there is to it."

The viscera of the woman is in the hands of Prof. Whitney of the Harvard medical school for examination and a report is expected next week. The police continued their investigation.

HYDRO-AEROPLANE TOUR

For Prize of $25,000 Started Today

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 16.—A hydro-aeroplane tour round the coasts of England and Scotland for a prize of $25,000 was started this afternoon from Southampton water with only one participant, Harry G. Hawker, the winner of the Michelin prize in 1912, accompanied by a passenger.

The shore was black with spectators, who gave Hawker a great send off, on his 1600 mile flight, which must be completed within 72 hours. Descents may be made upon the waters only at the control stations at Ramsgate, Yarmouth South, Scarboro, Aberdeen, Cromarty, Oban, Dublin, Falmouth and the finishing point at Netley.

The fact that there is only a single competitor for the big prize, open to all British machines, is commented on by the newspapers, which say it seems to prove the contention that Great Britain is still dependent on foreign engineers for flying motive power.

TAX LIMIT QUESTION

To be Discussed at Hearing Before Council

A public hearing as prescribed for under the new legislative act authorizing and directing municipalities to fix their own tax limit, will be held at city hall some time next week. Mayor O'Donnell said today that he is going over the matter at the present time with the city clerk. It is believed that the tax limit will be allowed to remain at $12 the same as it has existed in past years.

The law regarding municipal finances was changed at the last session of the legislature.

For a long period what is known as the $12 tax limit has been the law as applied to cities. Under the law municipalities were allowed to raise $12 on each $1000 property valuation of on the previous year for ordinary expenses such as the state and county tax, interest and the redemption of bonds. The law was changed this year whereby municipalities were authorized and directed to fix their own limit with the additional provisions that the limit must be based upon the average valuation for the three years previous rather than upon the one preceding year. The law further provides that the limit must be fixed only after a public hearing has been afforded and it cannot be changed within the year or thereafter only upon condition that a public hearing has been held.

$90,000 IN INSURANCE

Body of Man Found With Bullet in Head

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 16.—Ninety thousand dollars accident insurance money is involved in the death of John McAlpine, Duluth millionaire lumber man, whose body was found yesterday in the basement of his home here with a bullet wound in the head.

Chief of Police Troyer leans strongly to the theory of murder, as does a private detective, while the family declare that Mr. McAlpine was accidentally shot when he fell over a pipe with an automatic pistol in his hand, and if not that, that a burglar did the killing. A window in the basement, open enough to permit a human body to squeeze through, lends strength to the latter supposition. An inquest will be held late today.

Clothier Defeated Touchard

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 16.—William J. Clothier, former national tennis champion, defeated Gustave F. Touchard, middle states champion, in the cup final of the singles on the courts of the Meadow club here today. The score was 6-2; 6-1; 6-3.

The Pacific coast doubles champions, John S. Strachan and Clarence Griffin, won their places in the final round of the doubles by defeating Thomas C. Bundy, the partner of McLoughlin, in the national doubles, and William M. Johnston, also of California, 6-3, 6-4.

Allen Tobey, former Princeton player, won the consolation final, beating Dr. Ewing Taylor, 8-6; 5-7; 6-2; 6-3.

Mortality of Lowell

For the week ending Aug. 16, 1913: Population, 106,294; total deaths, 33; deaths under five, 19; infectious diseases, 1; acute lung diseases, 1; diphtheria, 1; tuberculosis, 2; infantile paralysis, 1.

Infectious diseases reported for the week ending Aug. 16, 1913: typhoid fever, 1; scarlet fever, 1; diphtheria, 2; measules, 7; infantile paralysis, 1.

FUNERAL OF GEN. JONES

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Extreme simplicity characterized the private services of General Edward F. Jones, at the home here today, preceding the military funeral to be held at the state armory at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Francis Yarnall, assisted by Rev. A. R. B. Hegeman, conducted the service at the house. The Scottish rite funeral service was read from the Masonic ritual by H. C. Walker in the presence of only the assembled Masons of the 33rd degree.

Hundreds of people viewed the body as it lay in state at the armory between noon and 4 o'clock, the time of the public funeral.

WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Dunstable Man Thrown From Wagon

Harold Clark, 35 years of age, narrowly escaped death this noon, when the wagon he was driving was struck by a shifter of the Boston & Maine railroad in the lumber yard of William P. Proctor & Co. in North Chelmsford. The man is now confined to the Lowell hospital, where the attending physicians fear he may not recover.

The accident occurred shortly before noon. Clark who was employed by W. P. Proctor & Co., lumber dealers, as a teamster, was driving his horse in the yard of the company in North Chelmsford, when suddenly the shifter struck the rear of the wagon, throwing the driver on the tracks. Clark received a compound fracture of the left leg, and a fracture of the right leg. The upper bone of this leg was also fractured, and the man received severe bruises about the body. Dr. Varney and Dr. F. L. Gage were summoned in haste, and after giving first aid, had their patient removed to the Lowell hospital.

The wagon was badly damaged and the horse narrowly escaped injury. Clark resides in Dunstable.

Lowell Beaten 3-2—Dee's Error Was Largely Responsible—Daly Makes a Home Run

Lowell lost yesterday's game to Fall River in a very unsatisfactory manner in the ninth inning when Dee's wild heave to Halstein started the visitors on a streak which netted them three runs and the game 3 to 2. Reiger also relaxed in this inning although the error undoubtedly was responsible for the defeat. Barron, a Lowell outcast, pitched good ball for Fall River.

Cargo started the first inning by grounding out to Dee. Campbell flied out to Clemens. Devine was the victim of Miller and Halstein.

Clemens walked and stole second, but Miller hit into a double play when he lined to Devine, Clemens going out, Devine to Cargo. DeGroff struck out.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Magee made a long running catch of Patterson's fly to left in the second. Howard and McGovern both fell before Reiger's spitter.

Two hits were made in Lowell's half of the second. Magee opened with a single to centre, but was forced out at second when Halstein hit to Barron. Halstein was caught off first base, Barron to McGovern. Daly singled to centre, but Aubrey was thrown out at first by Barron.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Robinson opened the third with a single to right. Weeden sent him to second with a sacrifice. Baron struck out and Cargo went out, Reiger to Halstein.

Barron had two strikeouts in Lowell's half. Dee lined to Campbell and Reiger and Clemens fanned.

Score: Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Fall River got a man on in the fourth but could not bring him home. Campbell was out on his grounder to Dee. Devine singled to left but was forced out at second when Catterson hit to Aubrey. Howard flied out to Clemens.

Miller doubled to the left field fence. DeGroff sacrificed him to third. On a squeeze play Magee sacrificed Miller home. Halstein flied out to Campbell in short right.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

Reiger pulled down McGovern's bounding grounder in the fifth and threw him out at first. Robinson was easy for Miller and Halstein. Halstein made a put-out of Weeden's grounder unassisted.

Daly grounded out. Aubrey flied out at Catterson. Dee singled to centre, but was forced at second when Reiger grounded to Cargo.

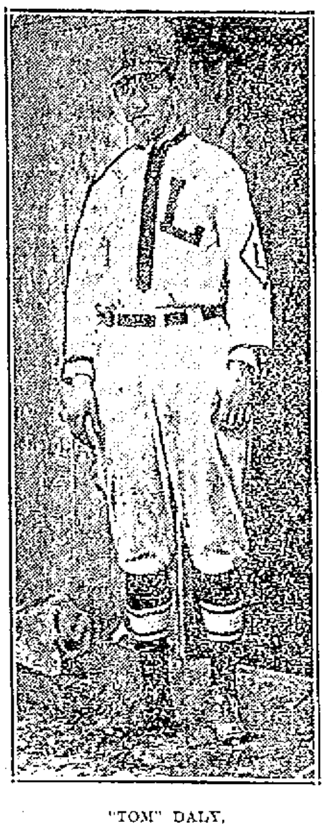
Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

Barron started the sixth with a grounder to Reiger and was out at first. Dee made a nice one-handed stop of Cargo's hard grounder and "Chic" was out at first. Campbell flied out to DeGroff.

Clemens grounded to McGovern and beat the ball to first. Clemens moved to second on Miller's sacrifice. DeGroff hit a hard one to Cargo and was safe at first, Clemens going to third. DeGroff went to second on the first ball pitched. Magee lined one to Cargo and Clemens was doubled at third.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

After Devine had grounded out to Aubrey and Miller had snapped up Catterson's creeper in the seventh, Howard smashed the ball to the left field fence for two bases. Reiger passed McGovern on four pitched balls and Robinson went out, Aubrey to Halstein.



"TOM" DALY,
Whose Home Run Featured

Halstein banged a hot one to Barron which the latter knocked down and threw him out at first. Daly singled but was forced out at second, after Aubrey popped out to McGovern, when Dee grounded to Devine.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

Fall River was a cinch in the eighth. Weeden fell a victim to Reiger's "spitter," Barron flied out to Clemens and Cargo was thrown out by Aubrey.

Reiger was safe when Barron booted his grounder. Clemens fanned. Reiger was forced out at second when Miller hit to Cargo. Miller went to third when Barron threw the ball into center field in an attempt to catch him going to second. DeGroff closed the session by flying out to Howard.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 0.

Fall River had a great inning in the ninth. Campbell struck out. Then came the turning point. Dee made a miserable attempt to stifle Devine's grounder and then threw over Halstein's head while the runner went to second. Catterson singled and Devine came across. Catterson took third when Clemens allowed the ball to go by him. Howard punched the ball over the fence for a homer scoring Catterson ahead of him. McGovern then singled but was forced at second by Robinson. Clemens dropped Weeden's fly and McGovern went to third on the misplay but Barron obligingly grounded out to Aubrey.

Magee, after fouling for five minutes, flied to Catterson. Halstein was easy for Campbell and McGovern. Daly slammed one to left which dropped just before reaching Robinson. Robinson, however, could not get his hands on the ball and Daly had completed the circuit before the ball was reutrned to the plate. Aubrey flied out to Robinson. The score:

DIAMOND DAZZLES

It's pretty tough lines to lose a game on errors at this stage of the race. Dee started the whole upheaval with his miserable work on Devine's grounder. No matter how brilliant an infielder may be on certain occasions the player who plays the steady consistent game is the man to be depended upon by his manager. There is never any certainty about what will happen when a ball is knocked down the third base lines. Dee will nail some of the hardest hit ball and will also throw the easiest brand of grounders over Halstein's head.

The band from the Middlesex school was a treat to the fans yesterday. The youngsters were royally entertained by the Lowell management during the game and gave three rousing cheers for Jimmy Gray and his players after the contest.

Lowell will journey to Portland next week and play on the Maine diamond the first three days. This series will have a very strong bearing on the league pennant winners for if Lowell goes out to the front at this stage of the race the other clubs will have a hard job pulling the lead away. The Brockton game scheduled to be played in Brockton next Friday has been transfered here and the double header with New Bedford will also take place at Spaulding park.

Those two double plays yesterday were a salvation for the visitors. The liners that Devine and Cargo stabbed at and made surprised themselves as much as the crowd.

Lowell's first run came as the result of as pretty a squeeze play as was ever pulled off. With Miller racing in from third Magee laid down a beautiful bunt which went as a sacrifice when he was thrown out at first by Barran.

Woodbury, the Portland pitcher who replaced Mayberry, won the game for Duffy in the eighth inning of yesterday's game with his clout for two bases which drove in Meehan. Duffy has several pitchers who are liable to break up games in a pinch.

IS TY COBB WORTH $100,000 AS A PLAYER?

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 16.—Well, well, well! Talk about your high cost of baseball! What do you know about this? They're going to buy the famous Ty Cobb for $100,000! Or is it $1,000,000? Manager Clark Griffith of the Washingtons has got the dough salted away in a private gold mine, and he's going to make President Navin come to time and sell Tyrus the Great or bust in the attempt. Griff is going to make Frank Chance and other baseball money changers look like a sun baked jelly fish. Marty O'Toole a $22,500 beauty? Pshaw! Of course Navin says the $100,000 offer which Griff has up his sleeve is all "bunk," but you never can tell. Baseball bric-a-brac comes high nowadays. At any rate, with all nonsense aside, the Griffith story serves to hammer home the point that Cobb still remains the most valuable player in the world today.

ALL COMERS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16.—Many aspirants for national lawn tennis championship honors in singles arrived in this city today for the all-comers tournament which begins on the Casino courts on Monday. The tournament will be the 33rd in the history of the United States National Lawn Tennis association and it is expected that Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco, the present title holder, will be one of the contenders. Under the recent rules of the association former champions are compelled to play through the tournament, there being no challenge match.

Mr. McLoughlin will make his first appearance since the Davis cup matches on the Casino courts on Monday when with T. C. Bundy, also of California, a defence of the national doubles championship title will be made against John Strachan and Clarence Griffin, two more Pacific coast players, and the winners in the preliminary tournament at Chicago last week.

This match will be the only doubles event played at Newport and will be fought out on the new championship court in the Casino enclosure. The drawings for the all-comers tournament will be held this afternoon.

SEEK N. E. RELATIVES

No Claimants for Estate of $15,000

BEAUMONT, Calif., Aug. 16.—Mystery surrounds the identity of Edgar Allen Sloane, a man of wealth, killed in this city by a Southern Pacific train last Thursday night.

No trace has been found of any relatives or friends, although there was found in his effects securities to the value of about $15,000 and this is believed to be only a small part of the property he possessed.

A will made by Sloane was also discovered. It named a sister and two cousins in the New England states as beneficiaries. Telegrams were sent to these persons, but no reply was received, nor can any trace be found of them.

The will, made in June, 1905, asks that his body be buried at Lisbon, N. D. Messages received from the Odd Fellows and Masonic lodges, as well as from the postmaster at Lisbon, state that Sloane is not known there.

Lodge receipts show Sloane was a member of a Masonic lodge in Nashua, N. H.; of the Knights Templar in Brockville, Ont.; of the Shrine in Montreal, and of the Odd Fellows in Burlington, Vt.

Name On Nashua Rolls

NASHUA, Aug. 16.—George E. Danforth, a past master of Rising Sun Lodge of Masons says there is on the rolls an Edgar A. Sloane, who joined in 1886 and whose last known address was Mt. Clemens, Mich. He knows nothing further of Mr. Sloane.

SWIM TO BOSTON LIGHT

Maloney Will Attempt to Break Record

Tim Maloney, Lowell's champion long distance swimmer, and Frank Murphy, the man responsible for the former taking up the sport, will leave here on the 7.21 train tomorrow for Boston where both will again tackle the swim to the Boston light. Maloney has accomplished the feat, but Murphy has yet to reach the goal. The latter is confident that this time he will be successful.

Maloney will also attempt to beat the record held by Sam Richards, who reached the light and swam back to the spindle, remaining in the water 8 hours and 13 minutes.

The Lowell swimmers will be accompanied by John W. Daly, Dr. McCann, Henry Garrity and many others, who will cover the course in boats and coach the local "fins" on to victory.

The start will be made from the Charlestown bridge at 10 o'clock.

BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

The Blue Ribbon Meeting Closes at Detroit

DETROIT, Aug. 16.—The blue ribbon meeting came to a close yesterday afternoon with a new world's record, Dudie Archdale beat Anvil in the free-for-all trot.

The stallion had won the first heat, but after that the little black mare had it on him. The old record for three divided heats was made when Billy Burk beat Spanish Queen, after the latter had won the first heat in Syracuse, in 2.04 1-4, 2.04 1-4 and 2.04 3-4. yesterday's improvement is a quarter of a second in the third heat.

The outcome of the free-for-all race was a surprise, as Anvil was picked by the talent. However, F. G. Jones had bet about 100 hats that he would beat "Pop" and now he has a fair start for a hat store.

The summary:

TRIED TO SAVE BOY

SALISBURY, N. H., Aug. 16.—Although not a good swimmer, Ernest Lindsey, aged 23 years, made a plucky effort to pull Linus Elliott, aged 19, out of an old swimming hole in Black Water river yesterday and lost his life in the death clutch of his friend, who could not swim.

Edward Elliott, a frail boy of 15, and a brother of Linus, swam out to the aid of the larger boys, but did not have the strength to save them. He helped to recover both bodies later. Lindsey was the only child of a widowed mother.

WHERE LIES THE BLAME?

It has been said that $19.40 is an extortionate tax rate for the citizens of Lowell to pay considering what they get in return, and the blame is generally laid at the door of the city council. The exact degree of their collective responsibility is problematical, but in the last analysis of the question, the blame can be laid directly where it rightfully belongs—not so much on the government as on the electorate. The people get what they vote for and they vote for what they want and the majority does not want either economy or efficiency in the city departments. Commissioner Cummings once said, and he was not contradicted, that in his opinion, the municipal council was not elected because of any especial brilliancy in its individual members. Yet we presume they were elected because the people wanted them, and the more they tap the city treasury for the benefit of bums, heelers and loafers, the more popular will they be with the gang that has the votes or can control the votes. This leads us naturally to ask: "Do the people want a good, economical and efficient government?" We are forced to admit reluctantly that the majority wants nothing of the kind.

At the present time, the public official in Lowell who caters to the dominant element of loafers, grafters, incompetents and other undesirables at the highest possible wages is the most popular man. He cannot hope for election unless aided by their shady and insidious influence; if elected, he cannot hope to stay long in office unless his official actions are on the verge of dishonesty or incipient robbery. From this statement we do not wish it to be inferred that we believe all the members of the present city council to be either incompetent or dishonest. With some notable exceptions they are capable and public spirited and they desire to give the city of their best. But they are confronted with the disheartening conviction that they were supported by many who had unworthy and selfish motives in voting for them. It does not conduce to an efficient and economical government when the men responsible for that government are convinced that their popularity depends on the degree to which they are willing to soak the city and indirectly rob all its citizens. Is it strange that we sometimes hear from city hall: "Is it worth while?"

While this condition of things continues it is difficult, nay almost impossible, to get capable, honest and efficient men to administer municipal affairs on the lines of strict economy and, for the sole benefit of the taxpayers. Those whom we do elect cannot always do what their best judgment tells them is for the best interests of the city. The responsibility and finally the liability is with the voter. No matter how freely the money of the city flows or how joyful is the heart of the grafter, every taxpayer pays the bill eventually. Last year we paid some of it; we are now about to pay some more. But it is not primarily a question of $16.40 or $19.40. Are we getting our money's worth? At the risk of repetition we say emphatically: We are not, and we believe the majority of our voters are determined that we shall not.

The business of the city is the business of every taxpayer, the business of every voter. It is all important that this business be conducted economically and efficiently. If it was so conducted we would be immeasurably the gainers. With a highly efficient government we would have all the privileges we now enjoy but we would have far more. We would have good service in all municipal departments—good streets, roads and bridges, good police, fire, and water departments, beautiful parks, public baths, and all the advantages and privileges of a first class municipality. We might possibly lose some of the spectacular features of our present political vaudeville, but we could reconcile ourselves to that loss considering the gain in service.

How are we to get this economical and efficient city government? To what shall we look for relief? We shall get it by education. We shall get it by elevating the standard of civic pride and civic interest. The average voter must be brought to a sense of responsibility, a realization of the nobility of his electoral duty and the ultimate gravity of a misuse of it. The entire city must be plainly shown that after a period of extravagance, waste, graft and incompetence, the people will have to pay the bills. All who are actuated by a desire for genuine public service must aid in this campaign of education, that our present political standard may be raised and that the city governments of the future may be as remarkable for ability, honesty, economy and efficiency as they are at present notable for an absence of some of these rare and necessary qualities. When a majority of our voters show that they want efficiency and economy at city hall, and that they will back up the commissioners in doing their full duty, we will have a city government that will give us our money's worth regardless of what the tax rate may be, and not before.

AMBASSADOR WILSON CENSURED

Every time that Henry Lane Wilson rushes into print, he convinces the people of this country more and more that his resignation was the wisest of his official acts. He is absolutely devoid of a proper sense of the responsibility of his position, and he seems to be ignorant of the fact that as ambassador he was, and still is, a representative of this government in the delicate ways of diplomacy. His personal views on international subjects, whether good or bad in themselves, should never have been aired when they were liable to be taken as the views of the administration, and the more his Mexican record is examined the greater will be the sense of relief that he did not get this country into an awkward place. He is not without admirers and apologists, but all people whose patriotism is not of the rabid party brand will admit that he did very wrong when, as American ambassador, he made statements recently for which the president afterwards apologized to the English government.

Under the circumstances the administration acted with rare toleration in not accepting his resignation, to take effect immediately. He should have learned prudence from former indiscretions of speech but evidently he is of the type which does not or will not learn readily. He ought now, however, reserve his vitriolic criticisms on this and other governments until a certain date in October removes the sting from his speech. He has humiliated the chief executive and ought to feel satisfied with his achievement. Incidentally he has vindicated the administration still more for its action in ignoring him. That part of the press which is not condemning him is giving him the charity of its silence.

MEDICAL INSPECTION

"No educational movement in modern times has had more vital relations to the children, to the homes they represent, and to the nation, than medical supervision of school children and the general hygienic movement it typifies," says Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, in a bulletin on medical inspection just issued for free distribution by the bureau.

The bulletin is an "annotated bibliography" of medical inspection literature during the past four years. It was compiled in the division of school hygiene and sanitation. It shows health conditions among school children in a number of different localities, thus making it possible for one community to find out readily what another community similarly situated has accomplished in solving health problems in the schools. The most significant reports that have been presented for various typical localities are summarized for reference.

MISUNDERSTOOD

When the government recently sent inspectors to study meat conditions in South America and Australia, it was quite generally reported in the press that the object of their mission was to encourage the importation of foreign meat under the provisions of the pending tariff bill. This inducing of competition was not the primary object of the investigation. The government wished to get data for the purpose of keeping out of the country all meats produced from diseased cattle, slaughtered in unsanitary establishments or improperly refrigerated. Since 1906, the total production of cattle has been 30 per cent. less than the demand, so that tariff or no tariff, the demand here will cause foreign producers to seek a market in the United States. The department of agriculture therefore wishes to be ready so that the people may be protected from the importation of unwholesome and undesirable meat.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Hits Home

Lawrence Eagle: Aside from the general interest in Lowell affairs as above stated there is also the very important consideration of the extent to which similar conditions prevail in Lawrence. We are frank to say that we think Lawrence is better governed than Lowell. From the financial side it is to be noted that the tax rate although high is considerably lower than in the up-river city. The only question that arises is whether Lawrence is today receiving the return for the money expended that it should. In the past the answer was unquestionably in the negative. Conditions under the commission form of government have been better. Has the maximum efficiency been reached even yet? We think not. It is some gain, however, to be able to note a slight progress. Probably by keeping everlastingly at it and insisting that only competent men be elected to municipal office still better results can be obtained.

New Movies

Christian Science Monitor: A number of American municipalities are talking of making use of motion pictures for the purpose of enlightening the public with regard to public improvements, etc. The idea is a good one, and it will be all the better if the pictures are shown in the open air as a summer evening playground attraction.

Sulzer's Impeachment

Nashua Telegraph: Governor Sulzer may be well content to submit his defences to this tribunal, for the opinions of the associate judges will carry great weight with the members of the senate and assure an impartiality of reasoning and determination which did not exist in the assembly. It is further certain that the offense must indeed be grave and the misconduct proven beyond a reasonable doubt before a two-thirds vote can be obtained for the crushing condemnation of removal and disqualification for public office.

Monroe Doctrine

Brockton Times: A contemporary finds that a great many men who talk glibly about the Monroe doctrine would be in trouble if called upon to explain it. This probably is meant to apply to members of congress, where much of the glib talking is being done lately, but why not apply it to everybody. The Monroe doctrine's possibilities are still subject of dispute among very wise men.

False Alarm

Newport News: It is announced from London that there is no foundation whatever for the story that Great Britain is to build a "big" naval base at Bermuda, or that the re-construction of the British West Atlantic squadron is in any way prejudicial to American interests. On the contrary, it is said, if what is about to be done by Great Britain be regarded without bias, it will be realized that the intention is conceived in a spirit entirely friendly to the United States.

The Burden

Boston Post: In a statement expressing his very natural chagrin at the late entrance of Augustus P. Gardner as a contestant for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Col. Benton says: "I became a candidate for this office at a time when no one else showed any willingness to undertake the burden."

Big Crops

Boston Herald: It is going to be another great year in the big staple crops of the west and south, the crops that figure most prominently in the exports of the country, in the prosperity of its many and varied industries, and in its transportation and its banking interests. The earlier forecasts of the government experts are sustained by the judgment of those who study the situation now that the summer is drawing to a close.

Ambassador Wilson

Lewiston Sun: President Wilson cannot be blamed if he removes Ambassador Wilson at once. He has long ago talked too much. Whatever is to be said in favor of his official conduct before his return, he has talked so too much since he landed in New York that his removal would have been warranted at any time.

Juvenile Hoodlums

Salem News: It is time for mollycoddling with juvenile hoodlums to cease. Our police and district courts are encouraging hoodlumism by their namby-pamby treatment of these cases. Worse than that, they are breeding in the communities professional criminals. Again and again has the fact been demonstrated in our superior courts that the lack of a salutary parental check or a want of some punishment by the lower courts has led young men on to a criminal life.

MISSIONARY MURDERED

Slain by Brigands in Asiatic Turkey

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—The Rev. Charles H. Holbrook of Lynn, a missionary to Asiatic Turkey, was shot and killed by brigands, according to a cablegram received last night by the Rev. Dr. James L. Barton, secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

The cablegram corroborated a despatch received earlier in the night from Constantinople.

While the details of the shooting have not been fully learned, it was stated that the missionary was shot down without the slightest provocation. The brigands escaped to the mountains.

DENIES HE KILLED WIFE

Charlton Says He's Innocent of Crime

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—"I did not kill my wife. I will come back a free man."

This is the last statement of Porter D. Charlton, self-confessed wife murderer, made to a reporter yesterday before he left for Italy to be tried for killing his wife.

This assertion on the part of Charlton came as a startling revelation. The Italian government has full stenographic reports of his confession made on June 23, 1910, while under arrest in New York.

Charlton confessed that he killed his wife and gave the full details. Charlton said in his confession that he and his wife had been having supper together at their villa on Lake Como, and that they had engaged in a violent quarrel. Charlton said that his wife, who was one of the best women in the world, but had an ungovernable temper, called him some vile names and that finally when he could stand it no longer he had struck her on the head with a wooden mallet.

CURTIS GUILD SIGNALLY HONORED BY CZAR NICHOLAS OF RUSSIA

FORMER GOVERNOR CURTIS GUILD

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—Former Ambassador of the United States to Russia Curtis Guild, has been signally honored by Czar Nicholas.

The decoration of St. Alexander, the second highest honor within the gift of the Russian emperor, has been conferred upon Mr. Guild, an honor which not only brings glory to the recipient, but to the country which he so ably represented on many occasions.

The order of St. Alexander is second only to that of St. Peter, and the conferring of the great honor by Czar Nicholas on Mr. Guild indicates the high esteem in which he was held by the emperor.

The announcement of the conferring of the honor was made last night at the Russian embassy at Newport, R. I., by Russian Ambassador to the United States George Bakhmeteff. It followed the receipt of a cable from the Russian department of state.

Ambassador Bakhmeteff said that the former ambassador to his country from the United States had received notification of the honor several days ago, and that he had complimented him upon it during a visit with Mrs. Bakhmeteff to the Guild summer home at Nahant.

Former Ambassador Guild was at the Hotel Touraine late last night, but had tired when a reporter called.

WOMAN COULD NOT WALK

She Was So Ill—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pentwater, Mich.—"A year ago I was very weak and the doctor said I had a serious displacement. I had backache and bearing down pains so bad that I could not sit in a chair or walk across the floor and I was in severe pain all the time. I felt discouraged as I had taken everything I could think of and was no better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am strong and healthy."—Mrs. ALICE DARLING, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 77, Pentwater, Mich.

Read What Another Woman says:

Peoria, Ill.—"I had such backaches that I could hardly stand on my feet. I would feel like crying out lots of times, and had such a heavy feeling in my right side. I had such terrible dull headaches every day and they would make me feel so drowsy and sleepy all the time, yet I could not sleep at night.

"After I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a week I began to improve. My backache was less and that heavy feeling in my side went away. I continued to take the Compound and am cured.

"You may publish this if you wish."—Miss CLARA L. GAUWITZ, R.R. No. 4, Box 62, Peoria, Ill.

Development of County Life Great Problem

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Development of country life in the United States is the greatest problem facing the nation today in the opinion of Walter H. Page, American ambassador to Great Britain. The ambassador's views are set forth in a bulletin on "Education in the South" issued today by the United States Bureau of Education.

"We have just passed through a period of organization of the machinery of the modern world," he declared, "making the city and the railroad, but the country has been left out. Now we must build it up. We all know that in the coming centuries as in the past, the character and virtues of American life will come from the soil."

The ambassador refers enthusiastically to the effects of the educational propaganda in the southern states and to the influence of the conference for education in the south.

"We began with the school and the child and we end with them, of course" he set forth, in alluding to the educational campaign in Dixie land, "but every step has been toward a widening democratic ideal, to see how we could help one another and we have come to have a broadening sense of all that cooperation means."

Decisions Rendered

Judge Enright rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff for $165 and costs in the case of Joseph J. Rayball vs. Charles L. Marren in yesterday's civil session of the local police court. It was alleged that the plantiff was injured while on the defendant's premises. William H. Bent appeared for the plaintiff and Edward I. Taylor for the defendant.

In the case of Whoseesk Jonokski vs. Deputy Sheriff Edward W. Clark, Judge Enright found for the defendant. This case was also an action of tort in which the plaintiff alleged that the defendant had sold certain goods upon which he, the plaintiff carried a mortgage.

TWO CHAPEL STREET GIRLS MISSING

Two little girls, Gertrude Kane of 107 Chapel street and Molly Harrington also of Chapel street, mysteriously disappeared yesterday afternoon and have not been heard of since. The last time either of them was seen was about three o'clock in the afternoon. The children are aged seven and ten years, respectively. The police have been notified and are on the watch for the two missing girls. The children live directly opposite each other and are playmates, so that in all probability they are together.

CAVANAGH NOT IN IT

Is Not a Candidate for Lieutenant Governor

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Two contests for positions on the republican state ticket were eliminated yesterday when James F. Cavanagh of Everett withdrew as candidate for lieutenant governor, and A. P. Langtry of Springfield announced that he would not run for the nomination for secretary of state.

This leaves second place clear for Col. August A. Goetting of Springfield and William S. Kinney of Boston is unopposed for the secretary of state nomination.

Cavanagh in his statement said he withdrew because of the belief that his candidacy will handicap Col. Benton. He was Benton's campaign manager before the primaries last year.

Mr. Langtry announced that he has accepted the tender by Gov. Foss of the position of chairman of the state house extension commission, and will devote his entire time to the work of enlarging the state house.

A statement by Congressman Gardner was given out last night telling his plans for the immediate future. He expects to begin his speaking campaign in earnest Sept. 7.

This afternoon Gardner, Gov. Foss and Col. Benton will meet at the Essex County Republican club's outing at Lynnfield. The governor said last evening that he had not prepared any speech.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A meeting of the Passaconaway tribe, 32, Red Men was held in their wigwam in Odd Fellows building last night with Sachem Daniel E. Starkey on the stump. It was reported that a number of applications for membership had been received and a large initiation is planned. A communication was received from G. C. of R. Alexander Gilmore of Boston, giving a good account of the great council's affairs for the past six months. Remarks on the progress of the tribe were made by the sachem and Brothers G. A. Frost, William H. Martin, E. Crompton and Degree Master J. H. Hickey.

Stationary Firemen

At the meeting of local 14, International Brotherhood of Statinary Firemen, held in Cotton Spinners hall, the matter of taking part in the Labor day parade was taken up and it was voted to turn out in full force. It was also voted to wear a large badge while parading. A committee was appointed to serve refreshments after the parade. Joseph Spillane was elected to act as chief marshal.

HOTEL WIPED OUT BY FIRE

BRAVERY OF HELLO GIRL SAVES MANY BUILDINGS

Woman an Invalid, Owes Her Escape From Hotel to the Work of Two Young Men

HAMPTON, N. H., Aug. 16.—A fire, starting in a defective flue in the northeast corner of the Hotel Echo, yesterday afternoon reduced the hotel to ashes, destroyed the parsonage of the First Baptist church, considerably damaged the Hampton telephone exchange, and threatened to wipe out the entire section of the town.

One woman, an invalid, owes her escape from the hotel to the work of two Hampton young men. The damage done is estimated at $30,000 and before the blaze finally was extinguished the entire local fire department and a number of pieces of apparatus from Portsmouth and Exeter were at work.

That the assistance of the out of town apparatus was gained, was due much to the daring of Miss Alzita Hanson, an operaor in the telephone exchange, who despite the fact that the exchange was aflame stuck to her post and observing the spreading of the fire sent in calls to the fire headquarters of all the neighboring towns and cities.

Forty guests were at the hotel when the fire first was noticed. Several of the more daring rushed to their rooms and secured their clothing and valuables. However, much personal property was consumed, including $3000 worth of jewels, the property of Mrs. Eliza Hubbard of St. Louis.

Dry as tinder, the wooden hotel was devoured by the flames within half an hour. Flames were shooting from the three floors when it became known that Miss Maria Gardner still was within the building. Fred Therreault and Albert W. Weeks were among the first to learn of this. They rushed to the woman's room through smoke-filled and blazing corridors, finally succeeding in locating her and at desperate risk carried her to the street below.

Scarcely had the blaze spread through the hotel when flying sparks set fire to the adjoining parsonage, occupied by the Rev. C. M. Phillips and his family. Prior to the catching fire of his home the preacher had gathered together his family and taken them to the home of a neighbor.

He then returned and with the assistance of firemen and bystanders succeeded in rescuing the greater part of his valuables and several costly pieces of furniture.

In the meantime, the flames had spread to the telephone exchange. The operator, Miss Hanson, was besought to leave the building, but she bravely refused and her work in summoning assistance from Portsmouth and Exeter largely was responsible for the early checking of the flames.

CLOSING EXERCISES

Greek Summer School in Market Street Closed Yesterday—Day and Evening Classes Well Attended

The pupils of the Greek summer school held their closing exercises yesterday at the school, 307 Market street. The affair was public and largely attended, and the exercises which were under the direction of the principal, Miss Vasilike Vaitses, assisted by Misses Florence Pitcher and Reba Eaton, teachers, were very pleasing.

The program consisted of prayers, songs and a calisthenic drill, this being followed by an exhibition of the different work performed by the little ones during their class term. At the close of the exercises the principal addressed the gathering, thanking the public in general for the support of the school, and she told several interesting facts concerning the school.

The number of registered pupils at the evening class was 100, while during the day the young women had between 35 and 40 boys and girls in their care.

BATTLE WITH ARMED ROBBER

Boston Merchant Keeps Fighting in Spite of Revolver

Pretended Customer Attacks Proprietor But Forced to Flee

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Morris Segal beat off a robber who seized him by the throat and threatened him with a revolver in his store at 398 Tremont street yesterday afternoon, and fought until the intruder, driven toward the door was glad to seek safety in flight.

Though stinging from a farewell blow, Segal dashed out of the door in pursuit, but the robber ran too swiftly for him.

When the young man entered the store and asked to see some shirts Segal noticed nothing particular about him. The proprietor led the young man to the rear and took down several boxes of shirts. As he turned the pretended customer seized him by the throat.

Unable to make any outcry, Segal nevertheless, put up a game fight. They struggled all around the rear of the store. The young man got Segal down and held him while he drew a revolver from his hip pocket.

He pointed the weapon at the proprietor and commanded him to stand up, shut up and lead the way to the cash drawer. Segal stood up, but instead of following the young man's instructions he gave a shout and made a lunge at the stranger.

The man put his hand over Segal's mouth, but the latter kept fighting. The struggle brought them close to the door and the robber gave Segal a parting blow and fled. Segal saw him running quickly through Castle square and down Castle street.

The storekeeper told the police his assailant is about 22 years old and of light complexion, and wore a blue serge suit and soft collar and shirt. The only other clew to his identity is his cap, which he left where it fell during the fight.

STATES PRAY FOR RAIN

Kansas and Missouri Drouth Unbroken

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 16.—Prayers for rain were asked in Kansas and Missouri yesterday by citizens and clergymen, who believe sporadic prayers are not sufficient to end the drouth that has beset the southwest for more than three weeks.

In Kansas hundreds of persons wrote to Gov. Hodges asking him to issue a proclamation calling for a day of public prayer. The governor declined.

"I believe in the efficacy of prayer," said the governor, "but not in the case of flood or drouths."

Bishop J. J. Hennessy of the Roman Catholic diocese of Wichita, Kan. issued an order that on next Sunday an hour should be given in each church in the diocese for special devotions and "fervent prayer to Our Blessed Lord to terminate the present unusually protracted dry spell."

At Springfield, Mo., Rev. J. F. McDonald, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, announced public services would be held tomorrow to offer prayers for rain. The region around Springfield is experiencing one of the most serious drouths ever known.

The letters to Gov. Hodges were from all parts of the state. Some urged the governor to ask that every resident attend church Sunday morning and that everyone make a prayer of his own. Others urged that the proclamation simply ask each citizen to offer a prayer at his home or at church.

Heat continued unabated yesterday throughout Kansas. There was no precipitation to speak of and last night the situation was the worst since the dry period began.

In Kansas City yesterday two persons died of heat and a dozen prostrations were reported.

PRESIDENT FIRES CANNON

Wilson Touches Button to Open Celebration

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—By touching an electric button in the White House, President Wilson will fire a cannon here this afternoon which is to announce the beginning of the centennial celebration of Perry's victory on Lake Erie and of Chicago's second annual water carnival.

Shortly afterward the Niagara, Commodore Perry's restored flagship, will sail into the harbor off Grant park with a consort of the eight vessels which compose the federal government's Great Lakes fleet. Following the exchange of official courtesies nine wooden war vessels—four bearing the American colors and five flying the Union Jack—replicas of the ships with which the Battle of Lake Erie was fought, took their positions and began a historical reproduction of this fight. The nine ships were built in Chicago and equipped with trick masts and riggings. They were manned by 400 actors, 30 negroes and Indians and 45 sailors, who rehearsed their parts for two weeks.

The battle will be a part of the program every day next week.

MAN WHO BROUGHT OUT CORBETT DEAD

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 16.— P. A. "Bud" Renaud, aged 60, well known in sporting circles for many years, died here last night of cirrhosis of the liver. Renaud was one of the backers of the Sullivan-Kilrain bare knuckle fight in Mississippi in 1889. He also backed James J. Corbett in a fight with Kilrain here in 1891 and is credited with having much to do with bringing out Corbett.

INQUIRY INTO DEATH

Body of Woman Was Found in Room

NORWOOD, Aug. 16.—Town and country officers are investigating the death of Mrs. Marie Lemaire, whose body was found on a couch in her apartment early yesterday morning. While it is commonly believed the woman took poison, nothing definite will be known until a chemical examination is completed.

The body was not found until about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, although it is said last night that remarks were made on the streets Thursday evening that the woman was dead. This was several hours before the police entered the room of the manicure and found her body.

This fact may be explained by the interest taken in the dead woman by her physician, Dr. Thomas F. Carroll. The latter was instrumental in finding the body, reporting to the police that he feared something had happened to her because of her absence from business since early Wednesday morning. He had repeatedly telephoned to her house and had called there and received no response to his knocks on the door.

LAWRENCE TAX LIMIT

Remains at $12 Per Thousand

LAWRENCE, Aug. 16.—The city council yesterday voted not to change the tax rate of $12 per $1000 for current expenses after a hearing in accordance with the recent legislation by which municipalities are permitted to establish their own rates. Hon. Frederick N. Chandler, John F. Hogan, Dr. M. F. Sullivan and others opposed any increase.

Counsel appeared before the board in behalf of Acting City Marshal Sullivan and Patrolmen James A. Sullivan and Nicholas Fortune against whom a verdict had been rendered for alleged false arrest of Harvey Brisson of Haverhill. The policemen desired that the city should pay the verdict of $783. Action was deferred until the next meeting.

Mayor Scanlon said relative to his proposed plan of an evening industrial school that the state board of education would not meet to pass upon it until Sept. 12.

PIMPLES COVERED ENTIRE BODY

Spread to Head and Formed Thick Crust. Burning Itching As If On Fire. Scratched Day and Night. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Two Months

20 Grace St., Springfield, Mass.—"When my little boy was born he had a clean and clear skin, but at the end of a month I perceived that he was breaking out on the forehead and left arm with a quantity of red pimples which discharged and spread until they covered his entire body. It spread rapidly to his head and formed a thick crust which discharged. The trouble caused him a burning itching as if he were on fire. He began to scratch until the blood flowed in abundance; he scratched day and night without being able to sleep. I kept his hands, arms and legs bandaged for a year. You can imagine what a grieved mother I was.

"I tried three treatments which did not afford him any relief. He scratched himself until he was three years old. It was then I commenced to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. At the first application I perceived that the itching was not so intense so I continued with assurance. At the end of two months my child was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Ulderic Auclair, Mar. 31, 1913.

Keeping Up With Oriental Modes On $12 a Week—Where a Dollar Does the Work of Two—Extreme Styles Must Be Passed By—Special Sales vs. Bargain Counters.

ONLY the woman who has tried it, realizes the disheartening features of endeavoring to be modish on what is left from board and keep. The balance between the necessities of living and the desirabilities of adornment is so distressingly uneven; one eats so much; yet good, nourishing food is imperative if satisfactory work is to be turned out each day. Distances are so far, if one lives in a locality where rents are reasonable; yet carfares must be paid twice daily. Bed and board, carfare and laundry—the eternal must-haves of daily existence—on even a minimum basis cost quite as much whether one is earning ten dollars a week or twenty; the difference has to be made in one's clothes, and as every business woman knows well, a ten-dollar-a-week difference in dress is immeasurable as far as outward appearance and inward satisfaction are concerned.

It is a wise business girl who looks conditions squarely in the face, sets her soul sternly against the enticements of longed-for-pretty things in dress, and with pen and paper in hand, decides just what shall be spent for needed wearables—and just what wearables may be afforded. This list should be planned on the basis of the year's salary; the total amount apportioned for dress being divided into weekly sums; these sums to be set aside religiously—even if one has to race home on Saturday afternoons in order to resist the temptations of small bargains in the shops. All the department stores make a specialty of "bargains" that will appeal to low wage-earners on the half holiday; and aisle-counters teem with "special values" in neckwear, shirtwaists, near-silk stockings, embroidery, petticoats, imitation shell pins for the hair, trinkets and jewelry.

Keep Away From Bargain Counters.

All of these things, desirable as they seem when the eye—hungry for pretty things—lights on them in the shop, could be very easily done without, as one usually discovers when the packages come home; and several dollars may have been frittered away when new boots or warm underwear are really needed, and when an imminent change of seasons demands the closest economy because of necessary new raiment soon to be purchased.

There is a vast difference between the Special Sale and the Bargain Counter. The former is the business woman's best friend while the latter is her Waterloo. At the Special Sale really excellent merchandise is advertised, and sold, at lower prices than it is worth to attract custom, and very often rare values are to be picked up at such sales, especially in the mid-season weeks when exclusive models have been marked down for quick dispersal. The bargain counter, on the other hand, is the merchant's device for getting rid of unsaleable goods. Out of date blouses, misfits, failures and other hopeless items of his stock are thus shuffled off at attractively marked prices before it is too late for him to dispose of them at all. And, if one stops to think, the marked down price is really not so far below the ordinary, reasonable price of an article of the same class, sold in the ordinary way.

The Wisdom Of Buying At Special Sales.

On the other hand, the special sale advertisements should be religiously conned in the Sunday newspapers and their opportunities compared with the twin lists which the canny business girl keeps on hand. One of these lists contains the must-haves and the other the may-haves-if-they-are-cheap-enough. The must-haves of course come up for first consideration. They include, also of course, all the uninteresting items of dress, like winter underwear, rubber overshoes, hairpins and bodice-shields. These must be provided, willy-nilly and if the offerings of the special sale will help, so much the better. The may-haves include the dear desirable things that make other women look so attractive and that are really not so very expensive—only just beyond one's reach.

It is exactly here that the inestimable aid of the special sale comes in. Against the shirtwaist tabulated in the must-have list, the maximum possibility of cost—say $2—has been set down, this cost coming within the apportioned allowance for dress. Now if a perfectly good shirtwaist of the sort needed is obtainable through the special sale, for $1.50, there is the amount of fifty cents which may be turned into the may-have account with celerity. Thus does the able little financier on ten or twelve dollars a week, juggle her accounts quite pardonably and achieve by means of shrewdness and the beneficent special sale, an appearance that would be absolutely impossible if on the half-holiday afternoons she meandered aimlessly through the shopping district, squandering on alluring bargains of Saturday leftovers, the pennies that might go so much farther if well spent.

What The Business Woman Should Wear.

There is no hard and fast rule for business dressing—with the exception of the two adamantine requirements: neatness and inconspicuousness. As a business woman's salary increases she finds that her requirements in dress increase in proportion. So long as the little stenographer at eight dollars a week is exquisitely neat, no one will criticize her simple ten dollar suit or her ninety-eight cent shirtwaist—and she may do her fluffy hair as becomingly and pretty as she chooses, to distract attention from her humdrum raiment.

But more is expected of the high-salaried woman behind a roll top desk. The cheap suit and shirtwaist can do her real harm and she must—so to speak—"dress up to her job"; that is, her clothes must be, while quiet in tone and unostentatious in style, well made, and of handsome materials. Good taste will always preclude the wearing of satins, velvets and ostrich plumes in a business office, and extreme fashions will also be sedulously avoided; but the high-salaried business woman is fastidiously particular about the cut of her tailored wear, the trimness of her blouses, the smartness of hat, boots and gloves, and the exquisite grooming of coiffure and hands.

One-Piece Frocks For Business Wear.

The walking coat accompanies a trotteur frock of dark blue serge, the ideal wool fabric for office wear since it sheds dust so easily, and is easy to keep clean. Mohair fulfills the same conditions and is excellent for cool, lightweight trotteur—or rather office—frocks. It must seem rather ironical to the business girl, to call the costume in which she sits tied to a desk all day, her "trotabout frock!" Drapery is not for a dusty office and such a frock should be simply made with flat braid trimmings, folds or pipings on the skirt and a long sleeved bodice brightened with a little Oriental embroidery, buttons and the pipings so high in favor now. A plain, dark colored frock of this character, relieved by white collar and cuffs is in the best taste for office wear; but the collar and cuffs should not be of lace. Fine linen lawn, hemstitched and edged with a little machine embroidery makes dainty belongings of this sort; or one may buy machine embroidered sets of this kind which have real distinction, at very modest prices.

The useful walking coat may also be worn over the occasional festive frock which must travel to the half-holiday festivity by way of the office through the morning hours. Every business woman requires such a frock—indubitably lifted above the humdrum raiment of "every day," yet not so gay or conspicuous in its style that it will be distinctly out of place in the office. This frock, for the summer season, may be a simple, draped model of silk, eponge, ratine or other thin, fine cotton material, with not too elaborate trimmings in the way of machine embroidery and cluny or filet lace. The typical lingerie frock of semi-transparent character should not be worn in the busy downtown office atmosphere but charming frocks of cotton voile or crepe trimmed with embroidered banding or allover embroidery may be picked up—if one is the happy possessor of a stock figure—that is, so proportioned that one can step into a No. 36 or 38 model without the necessity of a great deal of alteration. Summer frocks are marked down for quick dispersal soon after the middle of June and by July fifteenth rare bargains are often obtainable. The admirable little frock pictured, is of cream white silk poplin with a smart bolero bodice opening over a blouse of creamy batiste allover. The waistcoat of pale blue moire silk trimmed with pearl buttons and the sleeve frills of shadow lace add smartness to the frock. The hat of white straw with a band of white satin and a pink rose, is also simple while charmingly pretty.

The Tailored Suit Should Be Modish But Not Extremely So.

Now is the time to be on the lookout for a smart coat and skirt suit which will answer for wear all through the autumn until the heavy winter coat is donned. Dozens of such models are being offered at special sales every day, and more will be aded to the list as the weather grows warmer. The wise business woman, in selecting a tailored suit, makes sure that the color is a safe one, that the material and workmanship are good and that the style of the garment is not too pronounced to endure through two seasons. The coat and skirt suit pictured has the hall marks of newness—the gathered, belted back, the cutaway line and the draped skirt, yet none of these features are extreme.

The blouse pictured is a new Bulgarian model of tucked white crepe with pipings of Nell rose and a Bulgarian printed cotton collar in tones of rose and green.

The business woman's evening gown is most serviceable when the skirt, at least, is made of dark or medium-dark material that may appear in the street under the walking coat, along with buttoned walking boots; for opera wraps and satin slippers, are not for the ordinary business woman. In this day when the light bodice and dark skirt make a fashionable combination, the problem is easily solved. The theatre and evening gown pictured is an excellent model. The skirt, with its oriental drapery and slight train, is of black lansdowne, a silk and worsted fabric that drapes most gracefully. Over a bodice of shirred lace pass shoulder straps of embroidered white chiffon. The wide sleeve is lined with pink silk and the sash and bow are of pink velvet. Various bodices of lace and net, some high-necked, some decollete in style, would make this costume suitable for many different occasions.

New Neckwear Riots in Color

ONE grows almost as weary of the term "Bulgarian" applied to collar-wear, as one did of the overworked "Robespierre" of last winter. Everything that owns to a blush or a gleam of color is now called Bulgarian by the enterprising but unimaginative shop-keeper who hangs on to a profitable idea as does a cat to a mouse—and worries it to death, too.

Color is undoubtedly the keynote of new neckwear and it is interesting to note the many original and clever ways the designers have found for introducing color. Most exclusive of course are the Oriental embroideries and many a woman who has cherished for years some rare bit of Chinese altar cloth or mandarin robe, centuries old and richly gorgeous in even its faded coloring, is now ruthlessly slashing it up to make a modish set of collar and cuffs. After a while she will regret the vandalism but now the color craze has become an obsession and everybody has fallen into line.

Several imitation Chinese embroidered effects are illustrated. These imitations are wonderfully clever, and produce with surprising fidelity the motifs and colors of the Chinese handwork but they are only distant cousins of the genuine Chinese embroideries whose beauty must be seen to be appreciated. The collar at the upper left hand corner of the illustration is in shades of dull, stone blue, pale yellow and apricot, with dashes of terra cotta in the T-shaped devices scattered here and there. To the right of this collar is one in shaded blues—the wonderful deep blues of Chinese embroidery combined with cloudy whites. Below this blue collar is a dainty model in shades of blue and shrimp pink. There three collars fit closely around the neck and are intended for wear with trotteur frocks of dark serge, or mohair, or summer frocks of linen in tailored style. The handsome collar with cuffs to match, shown at the lower left hand corner, are designed for coat wear, the collar being shaped so that it opens at either side of a coat front. If desired the cuffs may be used as a little vest with a fastening effected by small buttons and cord loops at the center. This collar and cuff set is not Chinese, but Persian, in design and a jewel motif is incorporated into the intricate floral and leaf pattern. The colors include Persian blues, soft, dull pinks, brown and citron green. A set of this sort was used with charming effect on a citron green lansdowne gown, made up recently for an April wedding. Lansdowne is a silky worsted and silk weave which drapes to perfection and the gown boasted one of the most distinguished draped skirts of the spring season. The bodice was extremely plain and had the loose, graceful lines that Mme. Nazimova affects—and the wearer of the gown, incidentally, had the long, graceful, sinuous lines which, only, would make a Nazimova type of costume possible. To go back to the lansdowne bodice; it fastens down one side of the front with big buttons of dull gold in an Oriental filagree effect and is girdled at the padded waistline by a wide, soft sash of satin in the citron shade of the gown. What is a padded waistline? The very latest caprice of fashion for achieving the natural, peasant which is just now the ideal. Paris and New York dressmakers are now laying a thin layer of cotton wadding over the dress lining just at the waistline, to prevent anything like an inward curve at this point, for the straighter the figure from shoulder to hip, the happier the result—from fashion's standpoint.

New Shoulder-Point Collars with Bulgarian Embroideries.

To return again to the citron colored lansdowne gown, the rich, subdued color effect and exaggerated simplicity of line was offset brilliantly by the deep collar and cuffs of blue and dull pink Persian embroidery, and the hat—a small model of olive green milan had a sweeping plume in the dull blue shade, a pink rose nestling at the front of the brim. This enchanting costume was completed by gloves in the faintest tint of buff and buttoned boots with tops of citron green suede.

Much simpler in type, but fashionably Bulgarian in character, are the collars shown in the smaller illustration. Both of these collars are in the new shoulder-point effect, with long points extending out toward the side while the depth at the back is scarcely anything at all. This is a collar-shape of great popularity and even lace and machine embroidery collars made from wide bandings, are mitred and seamed to produce the shoulder-point effect. Seams in a collar, by the way, are no disgrace now and are apt to appear anywhere—up the centre back, obliquely, from tip of points to neck, or slanting across the collar in any other direction that seems to have come handy to scissors or needle. A year ago the seam in a collar would have been avoided at any price—even if one had to purchase a whole half yard extra of expensive material; now the seam is quite the usual thing and, if anything, adds to the smartness of the collar.

The collar and cuff set at the top of the illustration shows Bulgarian embroidery—or what by courtesy is dubbed Bulgarian embroidery—on a ground of pale blue ratine. The colors of the embroidery are terra cotta, brick red, orange and dull green. The second collar is of white linen with embroidery in two-tone effect in shades of blue. Bulgarian bows set against a background of looped velvet in vivid color contrast, are shown for wear with these colored collars and also with pure white collars in Appenzelle embroidered effects. The close imitations of hand embroidery is one of the triumphs of the St. Gall mills this season. Most extraordinary effects have been produced in machine embroideries and the dainty pieces of neck and cuff wear are no small part of these effects.

Some of the gay Bulgarian patterns have been produced by stencilling linen in color and putting an outline of embroidery floss around the stencilled design. An interesting development along this line is the Cubist neckwear, made of string colored linen with stencilled and embroidered designs showing almost grotesque, angular shapes and motifs in most charming color combinations. Nobody can tell what the motifs are intended to represent, which is of course quite in line with the Cubist idea and one may contend that one's shirtwaist collar typifies an elephant descending a scenic railway or a group of infant alligators at play, with perfect propriety.

Deputy Sheriff.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Middlesex, ss.

Whereas, at a meeting of the County Commissioners for said County, at Cambridge, on the first Tuesday of June, A.D. 1913.

On the petition of the Inhabitants of Dunstable for the relocation of High street from its junction with Main street, near the Town Hall, northerly, about 1800 feet to land of Byron H. Brown, and also, a certain public way, beginning at Main street, a short distance easterly of the Town Hall, and running northerly about 480 feet to its intersection with High street; and for the relocation of Main street from its junction with the east side of High street (near the Town Hall) westerly about thirty-four (3400) feet to a stone about one hundred (100) feet east of where Salmon Brook crosses said street, and Pleasant street from its junction with Main street for a distance of one hundred (100) feet southerly of said Main street, it was adjudged that said relocations are of common convenience and necessity:

Said Commissioners therefore give notice that they will meet at the Town Hall, in said Dunstable, on the twelfth day of September next, at 10.15 of the clock in the forenoon, to locate accordingly.

WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.
A true copy, attest,
ALBERT A. FILLEBROWN,
Deputy Sheriff.

Report That Views of U. S. are Being Considered by Huerta Government

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—Administration officials here expect the next move in the Mexican situation to come from the Huerta government. Official advices that the views of the United States as set forth in a formal note had been delivered to the Mexican government and were under consideration by Provisional President Huerta and his cabinet were received here today, with the additional information that the views of the United States had been transmitted at the same time to diplomatic representatives of foreign governments in Mexico City, according to President Wilson's original plan.

Secretary Bryan preserved silence today, even declining to say whether the note had been presented. President Wilson, after going over the situation, left for the golf links. The Mexican embassy here had no advices whatever of Mr. Lind's note; it had not been advised of its contents by the state department here and embassy officials expected to receive it, if at all, from Minister Gamboa in Mexico City.

Publication of this government's views as set out in the note is being withheld for the present at the request of the Huerta government, that it be first permitted to go over the communication. Secretary Bryan's plan is to publish the contents simultaneously in Washington and Mexico City later and probably with the acquiescence of Huerta.

The senate foreign relations committee again today discussed phases of the Mexican situation and the scope of the report by the special investigating committee of which Senator Smith of Michigan was chairman.

The committee directed that this report and an individual report by Senator Fall should be laid before the entire foreign relations committee, probably next week, for decision whether they shall be submitted to the senate. None of the pending resolutions on Mexican affairs was acted upon.

THREE SQUARE MILES OF TIMBER ON FIRE

LEWISTON, Maine, Aug. 16.—Three square miles of timber land are in the grasp of a forest fire today on the Bradbury road in the outskirts of this city.

Starting yesterday at noon, the fire has raged continuously since, destroying more than 500,000 feet of standing lumber owned by the Webster woolen mills of Sabattus. A shift in the wind would threaten several farm houses.

GOVERNOR SULZER OF NEW YORK—AND WREATH PRESENTED BY FRIENDS.

shortly before 11 o'clock. He declined to comment on the situation beyond saying that he expected to see Mr. Herrick during the day.

Mr. Glynn reached the capitol shortly after Mr. Sulzer and went directly to the lieutenant governor's office.

"The conference between my lawyers and Judge Herrick yesterday afternoon was mainly a courtesy toward Judge Herrick," he said. "I did not entirely approve of it and my counsel acted on their own initiative. They did not feel disposed to turn down any proposals without knowing what those proposals were. When we learned what they were we found it would be impossible to agree to them."

Mr Glynn declined to say whether he would send a message or communication to the legislature when it meets next Tuesday.

Prepare Case for Trial

The breach between Sulzer and Glynn is complete and there will be no further conferences between their counsel, so far as now known, on the question of submitting the controversy to the courts. D-Cady Herrick, Sulzer's chief counsel, in so announcing today, said that he did not expect to make public any plans of lawyers for the impeached executive.

"We are preparing our case for trial," Mr. Herrick said. "I do not expect to see Gov. Sulzer today, but will close my office at noon and do not expect to come back to it until Monday."

"Do you expect to confer further with Mr. Glynn's lawyers?" he was asked.

"How can we?" he replied. "Negotiations have been refused. The only thing now is to prepare for trial, and that we are doing. And, of course, we don't intend to confide our plans to the newspapers."

WORDS "PHYSICAL FORCE" WERE BROUGHT INTO CONTROVERSY FOR GOVERNOR

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—New York's two governors, after the epistolary clash of yesterday, continued today with increased bitterness their contest for possession of the chief executive's chair and functions.

The proposal of William Sulzer, the impeached governor that he and his rival lay their respective claims before the courts for speedy settlement came to grief last night. Lieutenant Governor Glynn, who claims that he is acting governor by virtue of Sulzer's impeachment, notified Mr. Sulzer that he had no intention of asking any court save he court for the trial of impeachment to decide the question.

Glynn Attacks Sulzer

"It is beyond my power to barter away any of the functions attached to the office in which I am placed by your impeachment," reads Mr. Glynn's reply to Mr. Sulzer's suggestion. "Any attempt on my part to do so or to stipulate a method by which it might be done would properly place me in the position you now occupy—that of being impeached for malfeasance in office. I cannot and will not attempt to do it.

"I hold myself in readiness to perform and shall perform every function of the office of governor except insofar as I am restrained by your illegal action or by physical force."

No one was willing to forecast this morning what the day would bring forth. Among the reports current was one that Mr. Glynn expected to go in person to the executive chamber and attempt to perform the duties of the governor. Mr. Sulzer asserted that he had no intention to relinquish any of the rights of the governorship.

The words "physical force" were brought into the controversy for the first time by Mr. Glynn's letter.

LAST NIGHT WORST PASSED BY MRS. SULZER SINCE BECOMING ILL—BETTER TODAY

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Last night was the worst passed by Mrs. Sulzer since she became ill of a nervous disorder several days ago, but her condition this morning was not alarming, according to bulletins issued by Dr. Robert Abrahams, who was summoned by telephone to return to Albany from New York when Mrs. Sulzer took a turn for the worse yesterday.

"Mrs. Sulzer's condition is not alarming but requires quiet" reads the bulletin issued at 8 o'clock this morning. "The suggestion that she leave town for a few days has been abandoned, as rest in bed is preferable."

During the night Mrs. Sulzer complained of headache and mental depression and had two fainting spells. She slept restlessly, with the aid of sedatives.

WILLIAM WALMSLEY

Severs His Connection With Merrimack Mill and His Employes Present Him a Purse

William E. Walmsley, for a number of years second hand in weave room No. 3 of the Merrimack mill, severed his connection with that department this noon, and his many employes did not want to let the occasion go by without showing him their esteem, and accordingly, presented him a substantial purse.

The young man, although taken entirely by surprise responded in a fitting manner and assured his friends he would always remember them. Mr. Walmsley has accepted a position of overseer at the Massachusetts mill, and will enter upon his new duties Monday.

DRACUT MILK DEALERS

Arraigned in Judge Enright's Court Today

In police court today Bert A. Cluff of Dracut was found not guilty of keeping milk for sale which was below the standard prescribed by law. Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the defendant and racked the milk inspector and his assistant with a merciless cross-examination. At the conclusion of the government's case Judge Enright allowed the attorney's motion that the case be dismissed on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

John J. Fox of the same town did not escape so lightly when his case for the same offence came to trial. The prosecution here showed that the milk had been taken from a team and not from the barn, as in the case of Cluff. The court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $50. He appealed and was held in the sum of $200 for the superior court.

The Drunken Offenders

George E. Scully only made a short stay in the court room this morning as he was in a very unsanitary condition. He was sent to jail for the next ten days for drunkenness. Philip Nevin was fined $5 for drunkenness. Authur G. Coram, whom Officer Garland of Dracut brought into court, received a fine of $15 upon his promise to leave liquor alone in the future.

For Stealing Apples

A boy was arraigned and fined $10 for entering the orchard adjoining the rectory of St. Anne's church and stealing therefrom, or rather attempting to steal, several apples. Superintendent Welch, in his arraignment of the defendant, informed the court that the police department is trying to stop this nefarious practice and asked that a sufficient penalty be inflicted to deter others from stealing fruit. The boy was very penitent and said he would never do so again.

PARCEL POST RATES IN EFFECT

Weight Limit Increased From Eleven to Twenty Pounds

Box of Georgia Peaches For President Woodrow Wilson

The increased weight limit and reduced rates at which parcel post packages may be sent within the second zone went into effect yesterday. Any distance within 150 miles of a given place is known as within the second zone.

Previous to yesterday the limit of weight did not exceed 11 pounds. Beginning yesterday they have increased the weight within the second zone from 15 to 20 pounds. That is, a package weighing 20 pounds or less may be sent at the regular parcel post rates to any point within 150 miles of the postoffice from which it is sent. The rates are five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional or fraction of a pound up to 20 pounds. The rate for local delivery is five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional two pounds. A small fraction will be charged as if a full pound.

The order as sent out is as follows:

"On and after August 15, 1913, the limit of weight of parcels of fourth-class mail for delivery within the first and second zone shall be increased from 11 pounds to 20 pounds.

"The rate of postage on parcels exceeding four ounces in weight shall be five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional two pounds or fraction thereof when intended for local delivery and five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound or fraction thereof when intended for delivery at other offices within the first and second zones. No changes in rates outside of the second zones.

"The rate for local delivery shall apply to all parcels mailed to a postoffice from which a rural route starts for delivery on such route, or mailed at any point on such route for delivery at any other point thereof, or at the office from which the route starts, or on any rural route starting therefrom, and all matters mailed at a city carrier office or at any point within its delivery limits, for delivery by carriers from that office, at any office for local delivery.

"There is no change in the regulation governing the size of packages, their preparation or the place of mailing, all pieces weighing more than four ounces being mailed at the postoffice or some one of its branches or stations."

President Gets Peaches

Postmaster General Burleson yesterday inaugurated the new regulations changing the parcel post rates and weight limit, by mailing President Wilson a box of fine Georgia peaches. The box, which weighed 17 pounds, with a postage charge of 13 cents, was delivered at the White House early in the day. With it came a note in which the postmaster general said:

To Promote Commerce

"This is an illustration of the opportunity which has been opened to the farmer, the horticulturist, the manufacturer and to every citizen of the country who will avail himself of this valuable adjunct of the postal service in the promotion of the commerce and happiness of our people."

ANOTHER STEP ON CARS

Women Tired of Climb and Handicap

Forced to take action by the combined result of the new styles in clothing, bold, bold men who persist in making up the curbstone audiences which devote time to watching them board the trolley cars, and the merchants who fill their arms with parcels, through the medium of bargain sales, the women of this city and the suburbs plan to start an agitation for an additional step on the trolley cars. If the statements of some individual women are taken at face value there will be a well-organized campaign soon under way through the medium of the innumerable women's organization, and a petition that the street railway company cannot well ignore will be presented to it. Be it known in advance then, that the women think the present steps are too high. And perhaps the movement will be supported by even the wives and daughters of some of the self-same street railway officials who preside over the departments that finally determine where the nickel contributions shall be spent.

"It certainly is horrid the way that men gather on the street corners and watch us board the trolley cars," said one of the foremost agitators yesterday, "the steps are altogether too high and there should be another step. Of course the tight skirts have something to do with it, but if women choose to wear them that is their business. It is the business of the street railway company to provide for the comfort of its patrons under conditions as they are. Women with small children are given unnecessary work because of the high step, and for those with bundles it is almost an impossibility to board a trolley car. And as often as not the conductors calmly remain at the rear end of the car watching, but rarely offering assistance.

Iroquois Won First Prize

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 16.—Eight of the New York Yacht club's one-design class of 50-footers took part in the special race given for them by the Eastern Yacht club yesterday, in a light southeast breeze with a smooth sea.

The Iroquois II., owned by Ralph N. Ellis, was the winner, taking the pieces of silver offered by S. Reed Anthony for first prize.

IDAHO PRESENTED TARGET PRACTICE PENNANT

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16.—Secretary Daniels presented the target practice pennant to the battleship Idaho, the crack ship of the navy here today, and read her officers and crew a lesson in preparedness.

"There never is time to 'make ready' in any truly great crisis in life," said the secretary, commending the crack gunners for their skill. "What is a growing navy worth to us unless manned by men who live in a state of preparedness?

"You may not know it, but it will add to your appreciation when I tell you that as a boy, it was the highest ambition of Woodrow Wilson to enter the naval academy and become a naval officer. If his father had not led him into other lines the probability is that today he would be with us, a captain or an admiral—commanding the New Jersey, let us say—rejoicing with the officers and sailors of the Idaho instead of wrestling with the big problems that have kept him in Washington all summer while you have had the good fortune to be refreshed by the breezes from old ocean."

LARGE MEETING OF MACHINISTS

At Leather Workers' Hall—New Local Has 630 Members

Leader of Machinists' Strike at Gov. Foss' Plant is in Lowell

The mass meeting of machinists held in Leather Workers' hall last night was the largest meeting of machinists ever held in this city. Over 500 men interested in the labor movement were present and at the last moment it was found that the hall depended upon to take care of the overflow from the Leather Workers' hall was engaged. In order that this condition will not be repeated a committee was appointed to engage a hall for next Tuesday night that will be sufficiently large to accommodate everybody.

It was stated at last night's meeting that the new machinists' local, formed only a few days ago, has 630 members and unusual enthusiasm is being manifested in the work begun by Organizer Young who came to Lowell for the purpose of organizing the machinists about a week ago.

The new lodge is a branch of the International Association of Machinists and when all machinists who have signified their intention to join have done so the local branch will be one of the largest in the state.

Willard Ireland presided at the meeting in Leather Workers' hall last night and the speakers included William E. Sproule, Charles E. Anderson, Timothy F. O'Rourke, Harry W. Kingsman, president of the New England district of the machinists and H. G. Grages of Lawrence and Roscoe L. Hall, who has charge of the machinists' end of the strike at Gov. Foss' plant in Hyde Park.

Strike at Governor's Plant

To The Sun man who asked Mr. Hall as to the status of affairs at Gov. Foss' plant at Hyde Park, Mr. Hall said: "Well, we're out, and we are going to stay out until some understanding is arrived at. I represent the machinists in the strike and I want to say that the machinists and others who joined in the strike, about 1500 in all, have used only honorable means before and since the strike.

"Gov. Foss says that politics is at bottom of the Hyde Park trouble and that isn't so. We have appealed to the state board of conciliation and arbitration, but the governor says there's nothing to arbitrate. He is absolutely unfair in the matter.

"We have called his attention to the fact that he believed in arbitration at the time of the Lawrence strike and insisted upon the appointment of a committee of five to do the arbitrating. He acknowledges that is so, but in his case, he says, there is nothing to arbitrate. We have presented him propositions endorsed by the state board of conciliation and arbitration and he ignored them. He has said to us that he and not the state board of conciliation and arbitration is the last court of appeal. In the Lawrence strike he insisted that the strikers return pending a settlement, but now that the shoe is on the other foot he doesn't believe in arbitration."

Organizing Lasters

Mr. Walter H. Emonds of Haverhill is in this city for the purpose of organizing the lasters who formerly were employed at the Federal Shoe company and at the present time are out on strike. Mr. Emonds stated that the lasters at this plant never belonged to the union, but he believes that before he returns he will have all the shoe workers in the city organized.

It is stated that there are 30 lasters out on strike from the Federal Shoe company plant and that all have signified their intention of joining the union. Several meetings have been held in the union rooms in the Runels building during the past week and Organizer Emonds has addressed the men on the question of joining the organization.

Big Shops to Close

It has been announced that the Saco-Lowell machine shops will close their doors for the annual vacation during the week beginning Labor day. All departments of the big shop, including the foundry, will be closed, but the work at the Kitson plant will continue. The shops will open in full on Sept. 8.

An Innovation

Two fast elevators always running and the other up-to-date features of the new Sun building are an innovation for Lowell and the patrons of the building.

TEN ARRESTED FOR RIOTING

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 16.—Ten men, two of whom are said to be private detectives, are under arrest in connection with the rioting here last night in which three men were shot. None of the injured is seriously hurt. George E. Hall and Kenneth Lapsley, the detectives, and Alexander Oreweski, a strikebreaker, are held on charges of shooting with intent to kill. Hall was released today on $10,000 and the others are confined in the county jail. The rioting was the first serious development of the moulders' strike which has been in effect ten months, and which involves 100 men.

No outward signs of trouble were visible today but an under current of unrest prevails to such an extent that the advisability of calling out the state constabulary was under consideration by the sheriff and the mayor.

One of the rioters under arrest is Joseph Nowak, who was released two days ago from the penitentiary where he had served a long sentence for a similar offence. He is said to have been the leader of the demonstration.

Friday, Aug. 22—A modern built block of 16 tenements, No. 183 Perkins street, at 2 p. m. All in Lowell, Mass., and pledged to the highest bidder, if the conditions of sale are lived up to.

This extraordinary lot of real estate will be sold without limit on the respective premises at the time stated.

Lots Nos. 1 and 2, so called, will be sold Wednesday, Aug. 20, No. 113 Adams street, at 2 p. m. and consist of a substantially built piece of tenement property of six tenements of three rooms each and 2325 square feet of land, more or less. The building sets on the lot so that there is a broad yard in front. The tenements are very conveniently arranged, front and back doors, city water and gas, each tenement has separate toilet and cellar and is always rented to good tenants and has a yearly revenue of $533.00. This is a good renting property on a stone paved street, but a step from Liberty square, near many work shops.

Terms of sale: $200 in cash must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as sold. Other terms at sale.

No. 2—Wednesday, Aug. 20, at 4 p. m. at Nos. 493 and 495 Wilder street. A modern built new two-tenement house that has never been occupied and 7250 square feet of land, more or less. This piece of home property has just been finished and has every modern convenience. Down stairs tenement has front hall, parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, pantry, bath room and chamber with two good chambers upstairs. The rooms are so laid out that you can virtually have all the living rooms in one if you see fit. The second floor is laid out in the same style with the exception that there is a sewing room over the lower hall. There are hard wood floors, soap stone wash trays in the kitchens, soap stone sinks in the pantries, with plenty of closet room and drawers. There is a china closet built in each dining room, has steam heat, separate boiler for each tenement, has electric and gas fixtures, has open plumbing, has hot and cold water. Extra large clothes closets, front and back doors, cemented cellar. The house is two-and-a-half stories, slate roof, handsome design, piazzas, and bay windows, in fact everything to make this an ideal home for some one, near two lines of cars, in a good neighborhood. I feel that you will never find a better location or a more up-to-date two-tenement house than this is.

Terms of sale: $500 in cash must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as sold. Other terms at sale.

Lots Nos. 3 and 4, Thursday, Aug. 21, at 2 p. m., at Nos. 543 and 547 Moody street and 449 Moody street, at 4 p. m.

The first parcel, Lot No. 3, consists of two four-story tenement blocks, Nos. 543 and 547 Moody street, will be sold in one lot with 9600 square feet of land, more or less. The block No. 543, is modern built, sets on a solid granite wall and has 24 tenements, each has separate toilets, separate cellars, city water and gas, are each separate to themselves. They are always rented to good tenants. The other block, which is No. 547, has nine tenements all separate, separate toilet, separate cellars, conveniently arranged. These two blocks are situated on the upper end of Moody street, on high land, has granite curbing, concrete all around the building and has a yearly revenue of $3590.00. This parcel ought to attract your attention for it is a money maker for some one.

Terms of sale: $1000 in cash must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as sold. Other terms at sale.

Lot 4. Also Thursday, Aug. 21, at 4 p. m., at No. 449 Moody street, consists of a modern built block of handsome architecture, built but a few years, that has 16 tenements of 5 rooms each, and 6750 sq. feet of land, more or less, that are very conveniently arranged, has separate toilet, separate cellars, city water and gas, set on solid granite wall, concrete all around the building. This block has a yearly income of $2356 and it is never idle. This is a good investment piece of property

Terms of sale: $1000 must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as it is sold. Other terms at sale.

Lot No. 5, Friday, Aug. 22, 1913, at 2 p. m., at No. 183 Perkins street. This property consists of a four-story, 16 tenement block and 5665 square feet of land, more or less. The tenements have separate toilets, separate cellars, city water and gas, are in good repair inside and out, are always rented to good tenants and has a yearly income of $1417.00. There is a concrete sidewalk, the yards are all concreted. This property has always paid a large revenue.

Terms of sale: $500 in cash must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as sold. Other terms at sale.

This extraordinary real estate offers an opportunity to any person to invest their money where a large return is sure to be had, as it has always been to the estate, and has been ever since the death of Mr. Bibeault, and while Mr. Bibeault lived he refused to sell this class of property, as it paid him a larger per cent. on his money than could be received in anything else. The returns from the estate have been very substantial and can pay for themselves in a few years from their own revenue, but the heirs want the property sold and the money divided, so we will sell without limit to the highest bdider that complies with the conditions of sale. A substantial mortgage can remain and a full description an ddetails will be given at the sale.

Make all inquiries of Gedeon Rochette, Eugene H. Cantin, administrators of the estate of Alphonse Bibeault, or J. M. Farrell, auctioneer.
